'Peachy' Hawks will march on Atlanta

Thanksgiving comes early for Hawkeyes

By Jay Christensen
Sports Editor

Hayden Fry made the weekend resemble an early Thanksgiving for his Iowa football team — and in a way, it was.

The fourth-year coach said he was "thankful" that Iowa finished with an unexpected 7-4 record and thought the team was "blessed" because it was invited to play in the Dec. 31 Peach Bowl in Atlanta, Ga.

And to start the holiday early, Fry gave the team this week off and probably the following week. But you know our players," he said. "They will be running and lifting weights on their own."

The time off is a reward for a 7-4 season, which concluded with a 24-18 victory over Michigan State Saturday in East Lansing.

"Certainly we've never claimed to be great or perfect in regards to this football team...but the bottom line is that we won and we did it seven times this year," Fry said. "And I think we'll make a very fine representative team of the Big Ten against Tennessee in the Peach Bowl."

Early signs show promise of bowl sellout

By naming Iowa and Tennessee as principals for the 1982 Peach Bowl, the Atlanta-based classic may be looking at its first sellout in the game's 15-year history.

Both schools will be allotted 15,000 tickets at $15 apiece for the Dec. 31 game in Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium, which has a capacity of 60,179. Bowl officials were optimistic of a sellout when reached Sunday morning.

"You wouldn't believe the response of Iowa fans," said Peach Bowl secretary Patty Young. "We've had several calls from Iowa fans and we should be able to have a sellout for this year's game because Tennessee fans have started to call in this morning, and they have great football fans up there in Knoxville."

GREAT FANS MAY be putting it mildly. The Volunteers play their home games in Neyland Stadium, which has a capacity of 93,000. It is the second largest on-campus football stadium in the country, behind Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor. Combine that with Iowa fans — more than 30,000 made the trip to the Rose Bowl last season — and it is easy to see the optimism of Peach Bowl officials.

"They have never sold the Peach Bowl out," said UI Assistant Athletic Director Larry Bruner. "They've been close a couple times, but they've never

Rusty Martin scored a temporary legal victory in federal district court Friday, but a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals will be asked to overturn the ruling in the case of the draft registration resister.

The 22-year-old president of the University of Northern Iowa Student Senate Association was scheduled to be prosecuted in Cedar Rapids at noon today, but the trial was postponed indefinitely after the government filed a notice of appeal.

The government is appealing Friday's ruling by U.S. District Judge Edward McManus that would place a heavier burden of proof on the prosecution in cases against non-registrants, according to local anti-draft organizers.

The judge's ruling in Martin's case came hours after the UI Student Senate approved a hotly debated resolution Friday supporting Martin and his stand against draft registration.

A GROUP OF UI students had planned to attend a protest in Cedar Rapids prior to today's scheduled trial.

Mark Bennett, one of Martin's attorneys, did not acknowledge messages left with a secretary in his Des Moines law office Sunday. McManus' Cedar Rapids phone number is unlisted.

Local anti-draft organizers said if McManus' ruling is upheld, the government would have to prove Martin knew he was required to register for the draft and that he was in the court's jurisdiction at the time he was to have registered.

They said the ruling had no relationship to a federal judge's dismissal of a case against a non-registrant in Los Angeles last week.

"Things aren't over by any means," said Joe Iosbaker, a member of the UI Student Coalition Against Registration and the Draft. But he is optimistic because the delay provides "that much longer" for Martin to prepare his defense.

"I think the whole thing (organization of draft registration) was put

Council faces tough decisions on allocations

By Mark Leonard
Staff Writer

The hunt for a slice of Community Development Block Grant monies continues today when two city projects — one for disabled adults and the other aimed at fixing storm sewers — will be closely scrutinized by the Iowa City Council.

Although the Committee on Community Needs recommended funding for both projects, the Independent Living Center and drainage improvements in the Creekside neighborhood will battle for survival at the council's informal meeting.

The city's Housing Commission added a dimension to the funding clash earlier this month when it condemned the CCN for failing to recommend CDBG money for Systems Unlimited, an organization that wants to build housing for handicapped youths.

The money shortage became even more critical this week when a city engineer reported that the Creekside flooding cannot be solved unless the project receives twice as much money as the CCN has recommended be allocated.

"I'll have a few questions ... there's no doubt about that," Mayor Mary Neuhouser said Sunday. She said the CCN's recommendation to allocate $100,000 to the Creekside neighborhood for storm drainage improvements is one thing she will look at closely.

THE CREEKSIDE PROJECT is one that received strong support from area residents during neighborhood hearings conducted by the CCN.

At a public hearing on the CCN's proposals last week, Neuhouser asked that City Engineer Frank Farmer look at the project to see if the $100,000 grant would solve the flooding problems at the intersection of Dearborn Street and Center Avenue.

Farmer's report released Friday said more than $200,000 is needed to solve the drainage problems by replacing pipes. However, much of that cost stems from a lift station the city engineer feels should also be built.

Neuhouser said: "As far as Creekside goes, the council will have to look and see if there is some more money available for the project. It doesn't seem to me to accomplish a great deal if you're only going to go halfway."

Councilor John McDonald said council members "really have a responsibility to those people ... We should find that extra money somewhere."

ANOTHER PROJECT that will be evaluated is a CCN recommendation to allocate $73,000 to the Independent Living Program for buying a home to serve as a headquarters. The program serves developmentally disabled adults and strives to enhance their ability to live independently.

A report completed by the city's Human Services Coordinator Cheryl Mintel confirms the program's "need for more accessible and increased space."

"However, there does not seem to be documentation for why this program cannot rent or make other arrangements for improved space ... short of owning a home."

The program's financial base is another concern. In the past, it has relied on state funding, but that has dried up and now "they are functioning on very limited funds," Mintel said.

Her conclusion states, "In terms of program priorities, strengthening the long-term funding financial base would seem to be essential prior to taking on the additional burden of an owned facility."

IN A LETTER to the council, CCN Chairwoman Margaret Bonney defended the committee's recommendation. "... CCN believes that there is a real need for this program, and that it is functioning well."

One program that stands to benefit from any change in the council's priorities is Systems Unlimited, which has asked for $100,000 to help house severely physically and mentally handicapped children. But a question has been raised as to whether the proposal complies with CDBG requirements.

CDBG Program Coordinator Jim Hencin said in a city memo that according to regulations, "new housing structures are listed as an ineligible CDBG activity unless Systems Unlimited is listed as a 'subrecipient' of the money."

it is over," he said.

Ellis did sign the letter to the health department. "I know Mr. Tvedt has had extensive problems, but that's for him to comment on."

TVEDT CLAIMS in his letter that on Nov. 6, water poured through the ceiling into his bar, onto equipment and inventory.

Ellis said he has not been contacted by Tvedt about the incident.

Downtown establishments in leaky situation

By Doug Herold

A seemingly endless battle involving two of Iowa City's downtown bars and a drug store has erupted with renewed fervor.

Douglas Tvedt, owner of The Airliner bar at 22 S. Clinton St., two weeks ago sought to enlist the Johnson County Health Department to stop the fall of water into his establishment. He contends the source of the downpour is the Starport bar, located directly above.

"I cannot continue to accept this problem. Please help close this place," he wrote.

Tvedt refused comment on the situation.

Health Department Sanitarian Jerry Bartachek said the feud between The Airliner, Starport, Starport predecessors and Needs drugstore located next door has been going on for seven years.

He said current Starport management appears to be acting in good faith.

ACCORDING TO Bartachek, the second-story unit that now holds the Starport once had structural problems, resulting in leaks, but those problems were corrected. More recent leaking has stemmed from restroom vandalism at the upstairs bar.

"People have done things like setting a cherry bomb on the toilet ... If there's a big enough leak it always goes down (to the Airliner)," Bartachek said.

Benjamin Chait, who holds a management contract to run the Starport, contends any current leaking must be rain water. In August, $15,000 of plumbing reconstruction was conducted and monetary compensation was paid for damage at Needs, he said.

Dennis Ellis, owner of Needs, said no water has fallen into his drugstore since August. "It was a deplorable situation and we just hope that phase of

Tennessee opponent for Iowa in bowl

By Thomas W. Jargo
Staff Writer

When Hayden Fry took the head coaching job at North Texas State in 1972, he wanted to build an outstanding independent team. He did that by scheduling national powerhouses to play the Mean Green.

One of those national powerhouses was Tennessee and on Oct. 25, 1972, Fry's Mean Green traveled to Knoxville, Tenn., and defeated the Volunteers. The victory was something few coaches have succeeded in doing.

Fry will attempt to go two up on Tennessee, when the Hawkeyes face the Volunteers at the Peach Bowl in Atlanta, Ga., on Dec. 31.

It will be the first time Iowa has ever played a SEC team, but it will be the third consecutive bowl match-up for Tennessee against Big Ten opponents. Tennessee lost to Purdue in the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1979, but defeated Wisconsin last year in the now-defunct Garden State Bowl.

TENNESSEE COACH Johnny Majors says playing a Big Ten school in a bowl game for the third consecutive year is a "very interesting situation. We had never played a Big Ten school before... and now we're playing our third Big Ten team in consecutive bowls."

"We're very excited to play Iowa in the Peach Bowl," Majors said. "Iowa was in the Rose Bowl last year and Hayden Fry is a very fine coach."

Bob Woodruff, athletic director at Tennessee, formerly coached Fry during his college playing days at Baylor. "Fry was my quarterback, and a great play caller," he said.

Majors admits to knowing nothing about Iowa, and wishes it to remain that way until at least next Saturday night. "We have a game next week against a very fine Vanderbilt team," he said. "I'm concentrating on them right now. After next week, I'll find out more on Iowa."

WITH IOWA'S season over, Fry will be able to get a head start on scouting Tennessee. Two of the Volunteer's major assets are team speed and the kicking game.

The Vols kicking game consists of a sophomore Faud Reveiz (placekicker) and Jimmy Colquitt (punter). Reveiz holds a list of school, conference and national records.

Reveiz has hit on eight-of-nine field goals from 50 yards and beyond, which is an NCAA record. The old record of 50-yard-plus field goals was set by Texas' Russell Erxleben in 1977. Reveiz' longest kick the year was 60 yards, an Southeast Conference record.

He kicked five field goals last Saturday in Tennessee's 28-7 victory over Kentucky and two of his boots were beyond the 50. A third was from 47 yards out. Reveiz has 27 field goals on the year, which leaves him one short of the single-season record — which was also set last weekend.

PAUL WOODSIDE of West Virginia booted four field goals in the Moun-

Iowa running back Owen Gill breaks free with the aid of a block by Hawkeye tight end Mike Hufford (86) on Michigan State's James Neely. Gill rushed for 102 yards on 29 carries and three touchdowns on the way to a 24-18 win over the Spartans which earned them a trip to the Peach Bowl.

taineers 26-0 victory over Syracuse Saturday to set the single-season record of 28. However, Tennessee has one more game to play, giving Reveiz the opportunity to break the record.

Reveiz has hit on 14 straight field goals, a Tennessee record, and two short of the NCAA record of 16.

Majors calls Reveiz an very fine kicker, and says there is a tendency for the offense to depend too much on a kicker of his ability. "Sometimes I think we rely on Reveiz too much and we don't get the ball across the goal line," Majors said. "If we don't start scoring some points, I'm going to kick some rears."

COLQUITT IS the nephew of Pittsburgh Steeler's punter Craig Colquitt. He is second in the nation in punting behind Iowa's Reggie Roby, with a season average of 47.4 yards. He owns the Tennessee single game punting average record, established against Louisiana State with a 53-yard average.

Senior Speedster Willie Gault is a deep threat at wide receiver, as well as a game breaker on punt and kickoff returns, according to Assistant Sports Information Director Ed Archer.

Gault is a world-class sprinter and was a member of the 1980 Olympic Team. He returned a punt 96 yards for a touchdown against LSU earlier this year. He also has four receptions for touchdowns on the season.

Joining Gault in the receiving corp are speedsters Mike Miller and Darryl Wilson. Miller has four touchdown receptions, and Wilson one.

Tennessee and Iowa have only one common opponent — Iowa State. Cyclone Coach Donnie Duncan calls the Vols' offense is "very explosive" with a "very accurate" quarterback in Alan Cockrell.

Duncan says Iowa will have to put on a good pass rush to counteract the Vols' explosive team speed.

NFL back with five teams still unbeaten

United Press International

Five NFL teams remain undefeated in late November — an accomplishment tainted by the fact that only three weeks of games have been played in this strike-torn season.

Pittsburgh, Miami, Green Bay and Washington all brought their records to 3-0 Sunday when the regular season resumed after a 57-day players' strike. The Los Angeles Raiders go for their third straight tonight against San Diego.

At Houston, Terry Bradshaw threw three TD passes to carry Pittsburgh to a 24-10 victory over the Oilers. Bradshaw had scoring passes of 17 yards to Greg Hawthorne, 17 yards to Bennie Cunningham and 27 yards to Jim Smith.

At Buffalo, Uwe von Schamann kicked three field goals and Miami capitalized on seven turnovers — including six interceptions — to defeat the Bills 9-7. Buffalo fell to 2-1.

AT GREEN BAY, Wis., Eddie Lee Ivery scored two TDs, including one on a deflected pass, and Green Bay ripped Minnesota 26-7. Ivery, who entered the game as the NFC's leading rusher, gave the Packers a 13-7 halftime lead when he made a diving catch of a pass that had skipped off the hands of teammate Gerry Ellis. He added a one-yard TD run in the third quarter.

At East Rutherford, N.J., Joe Theismann continued his sensational start by throwing two first-half touchdowns passes to lead the Redskins to a 27-17 triumph over the winless New York Giants. The NFC's No. 1 quarterback, who has thrown 93 passes without an interception, helped the Redskins to a 21-3 halftime lead with scoring passes of one yard to Otis Wonsley and 39 yards to Charlie Brown. John Riggins added a three-yard TD run and Mark Moseley hit field goals of 37 and 29 yards in the second half as Washington improved to 3-0.

IN OTHER games, it was the New York Jets 37, Baltimore 0; Atlanta 34, the Los Angeles Rams 17; Dallas 14, Tampa Bay 9; Cincinnati 18, Philadelphia 14; New Orleans 27, Kansas City 17; Cleveland 10, New England 7; Chicago 20, Detroit 17; San Francisco 31, St. Louis 20 and Seattle 17, Denver 10.

At New York, Freeman McNeil rushed for 124 yards, including a 34 yard TD run, and caught one of two scoring passes from Richard Todd and the Jets scored on all five of their first half possessions in routing Baltimore.

At Atlanta, William Andrews rushed for 119 yards — including a 19-yard touchdown run — and caught seven passes for 88 yards to lead Atlanta over the Rams. The Falcons' Steve Bartkowski completed 19-of-24 passes for 213 yards, including a 43-yard TD pass to Alfred Jenkins, to drop the Rams to 0-3.

At Irving, Texas, player rep Robert Newhouse, in his only offensive appearance of the day, scored on a three-yard run late in the third period to help the Cowboys' defeat Tampa Bay. Bucs quarterback Doug Williams completed 23-of-43 passes Sunday for 258 yards but had to settle for field goals of 26, 27 and 26 yards by Bill Capece.

AT PHILADELPHIA, Jim Breech kicked three field goals and Ken Anderson threw a short TD pass to Dan Ross to carry Cincinnati over Philadelphia. Breech kicked field goals of 19, 38 and 49 yards in the first half and the Bengals, 2-1, added a safety on their way to an 11-0 halftime lead. Anderson hit Ross with a two-yard TD pass in the third period.

At New Orleans, Ken Stabler hit 13-

A potential sellout crowd in Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium is expected to help Peach Bowl officials near their goal of becoming the fifth most lucrative post-season contest in America, but they still have a long way to go to catch the more established and prestigious games.

In its 15-year history, Peach Bowl payoffs to each team have increased. Tennessee and Iowa are expected to split $880,000 this year and that, in turn, will be divided among the Southeast and the Big Ten conferences. So the actual share paid to each competing team will be considerably less.

The Rose Bowl, which Iowa played in last year, is still the richest of the 16 bowl games. Its payoff is expected to be $5.8 million this year, far above any of the other games.

There are six other million-dollar games, with the Cotton Bowl leading the pack at $3.8 million. The other New Year's Day games also have million dollar marks, with the Sugar paying $3.6 million, the Orange $3.2 million and the Fiesta $1.75 million.

The Gator Bowl, played on Dec. 30, is expecting a $1.3 million payoff this year and the Liberty Bowl, which will feature Illinois and Alabama, pays an even $1 million.

Two other games rank above the Peach. The Bluebonnet expects a $900,000 payoff as does the Sun, which is played on Christmas Day. The Peach follows with its 880,000, making it the 10th most profitable bowl.

Other figures include the Holiday and Hall of Fame, $800,000 each, the Tangerine, $700,000, the newly-formed Aloha Bowl, $650,000, the Independence, $600,000 and the California Bowl, $300,000.

Last year the Peach Bowl's payout was $753,239.42 or $376,619.71 per team. West Virginia defeated Florida in that game, 26-6.

Iowa State played in the Peach Bowl back in 1977, losing 24-14 to North Carolina State. The only Big Ten team to play in the game previously was Purdue, which socked Georgia Tech, 41-21 back in 1978.

In 1979, 58,933 watched Baylor defeat Clemson, 24-18. That game still holds the Peach Bowl attendance mark.

Big Ten coaches speculate on new 3-point shot

By Melissa Isaacson
Assistant Sports Editor

CHICAGO — There's nothing like good old fashion speculation to get basketball coaches and writers talking. At Sunday's Big Ten Basketball Press Conference, the speculation centered on rule changes, specifically the three-point shot, which is marked 21 feet from the front of the rim.

Iowa Coach Lute Olson kicked off the conference by telling the assembled media that Indiana Coach Bobby Knight had asserted that only three players in the Big Ten could consistently hit the three-point shot and that two of them were on his team.

"I would like publically to challenge him (Knight) to a game of horse, and I'll take Eric Turner of Michigan and Steve Carfino and play."

Olson said that Carfino is the Hawk's best three-point shooter. "Some of that is because of the opportunity to shoot that shot at the point guard," he said. "He can shoot that shot without a loss of rhythm, which is really the key."

KNIGHT de-emphasized the new rule. "I honestly don't think the three-point shot will have much of an effect on college basketball."

Minnesota Coach Jim Dutcher was not overly concerned one way or the other about the new rule, although he did say he wrote to several National Basketball Association coaches for advice on how and when to use it. "It's a year too late for us," he said. "We haven't even talked about it in practice."

"One thing for sure," Dutcher said, "is that you can't use it as a desperation move when your three points down."

Olson said he liked the rule. "For one thing, I think it's going to force your defense to maybe be a step closer outside," he said. "And if they're a step farther out, it means it's a little less jammed up inside."

Olson said the Hawkeyes average "four three-point plays per scrimmage. We've been hitting about 52 percent from the outside, but we haven't been jacking it up from all over the court."

DUTCHER, who will be taking

DePaul Coach Ray Meyer's place on the National Rules Committee this spring, said he would rather have a 22-foot rule. "I think 21 feet is too close," he said.

"Northwestern Coach Rich Falk said the 21-foot distance is what he personally recommended when the issue was being discussed. "It satisfies one of my biggest concerns, and that's one of physical play," he said. "Basketball should be a game of finesse."

Purdue's Gene Keady said the Boiler-makers will not utilize the three-point shot very much during their games. "I like it and I think it will be exciting at the end of the game," he said. "But as far as living and dying by it, I don't know."

SEVERAL COACHES were asked to prematurely rank the conference teams. All who were asked, picked either Indiana and Iowa to finish first and second respectively, or picked the Hoosiers and Hawkeyes in no particular order.

In the media All-Big Ten preseason poll, Indiana's Ted Kitchel was chosen

Bowls coming calling for Big Ten teams

United Press International

For the second straight season, the Big Ten schedule was all that stood between Columbus, Ohio, and Pasadena, Calif.

Ohio State had to share the conference crown last year with Iowa with a 6-2 mark, but the Buckeyes didn't go to the Rose Bowl because the Hawkeyes hadn't gone since the late 1950s, and Iowa and Ohio State didn't play each other.

This year, the Buckeyes improved their league mark with a 7-1 ledger, but they still won't go to the Rose Bowl. Michigan earned the trip with an 8-1 mark, as OSU played one fewer league game than the Wolverines.

The schedule trouble may have proven an added incentive to Ohio State, because the Buckeyes prevailed, 24-14. The win, OSU's second-straight over its arch-rival, ended a streak of four straight wins for the visiting team.

And OSU's winning record earned the Buckeyes a trip to the Holiday Bowl against Brigham Young University.

ILLINOIS was idle this week and confirmed the week-old report that it will be going to a bowl game for the first time in 18 years. The Illini will meet Alabama in the Liberty Bowl.

Wisconsin also snared a bowl bid and recorded its first back-to-back winning seasons in nearly 20 years by shutting out Minnesota 24-0. The Badgers will go to the Independence Bowl next month to face Kansas State.

There was no bowl at stake, but the bragging rights of Indiana were won by the Hoosiers, who claimed the Old Oaken Bucket with a 13-7 victory over state rival Purdue.

Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce, now 3-1 against Michigan since taking over for Woody Hayes four years ago, said his team played, "about as well as they can possibly play."

Grapplers dominate Gopher meet by winning 53 out of 60 matches

As expected, the Iowa wrestling team completely dominated the Minnesota Quad in Minneapolis Saturday. No team scores were kept, but Iowa would have rolled to the team title if they were.

The Hawks, divided into an "A" and "B" squad, won an overpowering 53 out of 60 matches at the tournament, which featured first and second teams from Minnesota, Iowa, Northern Iowa and Mankato State. Iowa crowned champions or co-champions at every weight with the exception of 118, where Minnesota's Ed Giese stopped the Hawkeyes' Tim Riley, 4-2.

Iowa champions were Barry Davis and Randy Samuelson at 126, Jeff Kerber and Mark Trizzino at 134, Kevin Dresser and Bob Kauffman at 142, Jim Heffernan at 150, Jim Zalesky and Mike Hahey at 158, Rico Chiapparelli at 167, Duane Goldman at 177, Ed Banach at 190, and Lou Banach and Steve Wilbur at heavyweight.

PERHAPS THE most encouraging aspect of the tournament for Iowa was the performances of the young wrestlers. The Hawks will be inexperienced at 142, 150,

Strong Soviet squad tests Hawks

By Rob Rysar
Staff Writer

The strongest teams the Soviets have ever toured in the United States, and Olson attributes this to westernization.

"What's really interesting is to look at them (the Soviets) now, compared to three or four years ago, and they are definitely Westernized in terms of their play," he said. "It (Soviet basketball) used to be very slow, deliberate, and mechanical. Like Bobby Knight commented three or four years ago on Shesenko; they had to take time out every once in awhile to oil the big man. I think that has really changed."

SOMETHING THAT hasn't changed much from last year is the Hawkeye lineup. Olsen will start with veteran seniors Mark Gannon and Bobby Hansen on the wings, sophomores, Michael Payne and Greg Stokes inside and junior point-guard Steve Carfino. All five players were a big part of Iowa's tie for second place in the Big Ten and fourth-straight NCAA tournament berth last year.

In anticipation of an exciting contest, five television stations and five radio stations are covering the sold-out game. Iowa is 1-1 against Soviet teams.

Although the Soviets are hot, the Hawkeyes are warming up for another successful season, picked to finish first or second in the Big Ten with Indiana, and included in the top 20 in most college polls.

The game will be played under international rules (30-second clock, wide lane).

as their projected player-of-the-year, edging out Minnesota's Randy Breuer. Illinois' Efreem Winters was chosen as the preseason rookie-of-the-year with 53 votes. Iowa's Andre Banks received five votes, and Indiana guard Stu Robinson collected four votes.

The All-Big Ten first team consisted of Kitchel, and Iowa's Michael Payne at forward, Breuer at center, and Illinois' Derek Harper and Turner at the guard spot. The second team included Purdue's Russell Cross, Northwestern's Jim Stack, Randy Wittman and Jim Thomas of Indiana, Sam Vincent of Michigan State and of 18 passes for 129 yards, including a six-yard TD pass to Jeff Groth, to move ahead of Bart Starr on the all-time NFL passing and lead New Orleans over Kansas City. George Rogers gained 123 yards on a team-record 33 carries for the Saints and had a one-yard TD run.

At Cleveland, Matt Bahr kicked a 24-yard field goal as time expired to lift Cleveland past New England. All the points were scored in the second half. The Browns' TD came in the fourth period on a 40-yard pass from Brian Sipe to Ricky Feacher. New England scored late in the half on a 38-yard pass from Matt Cavanaugh to Preston

AT ST. LOUIS, Joe Montana riddled the St. Louis defense for a career-high 408 yards and threw three second-half touchdown passes to lead the NFL champion San Francisco 49ers to their first victory of the season.

Brown. At Chicago, John Roveto kicked an 18-yard field goal with five seconds left to boost Chicago past Detroit. Roveto's kick came after rookie quarterback Jim McMahon, making his first pro start, hit Emery Moorehead on a 44-yard play that brought the Bears to the Lions one with seven seconds left. The kick gave Chicago its first win under rookie Coach Mike Ditka.

On the line

As the On the Line contest comes to a close, Roxanne Kittleson was the final winner to be named to the 1982 On the Line Hall of Fame.

The sports staff salutes Kittleson whose pick in the Brigham Young-Utah tiebreaker proved to be the winner. She was by far closer to the actual 17-12 finish than the other four people who also missed only three games.

For Kittleson's winning efforts, she will receive an eight-gallon keg compliments of Magoo's and 25 pounds of peanuts from Happy Times Peanuts Inc.

This concludes the final round for our own sports staff. Even though he missed on six out of his 10 picks, Jay Christensen, sports editor, was the most successful prognosticator with a final 72-38 record. Assistant Sports Editor Steve Batterson was 6-4 last week and came from behind to finish second with a record of 71-39. Assistant Sports Editor Melissa Isaacson drops to third place in the final week by picking only three out of the 10 games correctly. She finishes the season at 70-40.

See y'all next year.
