Baltimore clinches AL East pennant

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Jim Dwyer belted a three-run homer, Joe Nolan added a two-run blast and Storm Davis and Tippy Martinez combined on a six-hitter Sunday to help the Baltimore Orioles clinch the American League East title with a 5-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

It was the Orioles seventh American League East title since the league went to two-divisional play in 1969 and their first since 1979. They also won division championships in 1969, '70, '71, '73 and '74.

Baltimore will face the American League West champion Chicago White Sox in the best-of-five American League championship series, beginning Oct. 5 in Baltimore. Chicago clinched its title Sept. 17 with a victory over the Seattle Mariners.

THE ORIOLES took a 3-0 lead in the third inning. Rich Dauer and Al Bumbry singled off starter Chuck Porter, 6-9. Dwyer then followed with his eighth home run of the season.

Baltimore added two more runs in the fourth. With one out, Ken Singleton tripled and Nolan followed with his fifth home run.

Milwaukee scored a run in the sixth when Bill Schroeder led off with a single, went to second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Robin Yount.

Davis, 13-6, went six innings for the victory before giving way to Martinez, who held the Brewers to three hits over the final three innings. When Martinez got Jim Gantner to fly out to Gary Roenicke to end the game, the Orioles walked to the mound to congratulate Martinez, then nonchalantly returned to the dugout.

IT WAS typical of the Orioles' performance this season. They never got too high after a victory nor too low after a defeat.

When the Orioles shifted into high gear for the pennant drive, they left the rest of the American League East in a trail of smoke, not dust.

The longer the season went, the better Baltimore played. After going 11-9 in April, 15-13 in May and 14-11 in June, the Orioles warmed up.

They won 19-of-26 July starts and then, after equalling their worst slump of the year (seven straight losses) in early August, the Orioles won 33 of their next 43 games to clinch their sixth American League East title. They went 27-7 since Aug. 24.

"I CAN'T really pin down a turning point," said first-year manager Joe Altobelli. "Every game seemed so critical at the time. And they were."

Hawks drop bomb on Ohio State

By Steve Batterson
 Sports Editor

Two seasons of anticipation came down to a 73-yard touchdown pass. The fourth quarter pass off the arm of Iowa quarterback Chuck Long, sailed ever so smoothly into the arms of wide receiver Dave Moritz who raced his way past Ohio State defender Shaun Gayle and into the end zone as the sixth-ranked Hawkeyes knocked off No. 3 Ohio State, 20-14, Saturday at Kinnick Stadium.

"That stuff about Ohio State not going to the Rose Bowl because of Iowa is a great motivator for me," Fry said after the teams met for the first time since the 1980 season. "I told the guys about that hundreds of times. Our guys weren't playing for one game today — they were playing for two seasons."

THE OFFENSIVE shootout that many people predicted between Long and Buckeye quarterback Mike Tomczak, the nation's No. 1 passer going into the game, never developed.

Long held up his end of the deal, connecting on 16-of-26 pass attempts for 276 yards. Tomczak, however, didn't exactly have a field day. The junior hit his receiver only 13 times in 34 tries, picking up 125 yards. He also had three passes intercepted.

"Chuck Long really came up with the big play when it was needed and he delivered," said Buckeye Coach Earle Bruce. "He really knocked us out with that long touchdown pass on about third and eight in the fourth quarter."

"He engineered an excellent drive in the first half to get a score and eat up a lot of time on the clock. Other than those two scores, it was a pretty even game."

TOMCZAK SAID it was one of those days quarterbacks have nightmares about. "We needed the big play and we didn't get it," he said. "That's what really hurt us. You put all the X's and O's on the board and sometimes things don't work. I guess I just didn't play up to my potential."

Fry remains impressed with the Buckeye signal caller. "I thought Mike did a good job of audibling on the line," he said. "He caught us not camouflaging our defense too well several times."

The Hawkeyes scored first when Tom Nichol booted a 25-yard field goal with eight minutes, 12 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Ohio State came back with a one-yard touchdown run by sophomore tailback Keith Byars late in the first quarter.

BYARS, WHO bulled his way through an improved Iowa defense for 98 yards in the first half, suffered a knee injury late in the second quarter and sat out the rest of the afternoon. With Byars out, the Buckeyes had to rely more on the 9.4 speed of Calvin Lindsey in the second half.

Tomczak said the loss of Byars didn't play that great of a role in the Buckeye defeat. "I didn't change our game plan at all because Calvin Lindsey's as good as Keith Byars."

Iowa's game plan was to stay close the first half and throw a few surprises at Ohio State during the second half so the Buckeyes would have trouble adjusting. A big part of that plan involved passing to the tight end — something the Hawkeyes hadn't shown the opposition during the two previous games this season.

IT PAID OFF in the third quarter when Long connected on a 16-yard pass to tight end Mike Hufford to give Iowa a 9-7 lead over the Buckeyes.

For the day, Hufford caught five passes for 74 yards. "Ohio State had noticed we hadn't thrown to the tight end all year," Fry said, "but we're capable of throwing to the tight end every time out. He had an outstanding game."

Nichol added the extra point and a 47-yard field goal, the second longest in his career to give the Hawkeyes a 13-7 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Then, in a third and six situation, the call went out and Long unleashed the 73-yarner that gave Iowa its first win over the Buckeyes since 1962. "The defensive backs were playing tight the few previous plays, and we were See Hawkeyes, page 3B

Bruce finds out Hawkeyes are 'for real'

By Mike Condon
 Assistant Sports Editor

Ohio State football Coach Earle Bruce looked like a man that had been through a rugged day when he quietly entered the interview room at Kinnick Stadium.

His third-ranked Buckeyes had just been upset, 20-14, by a determined band of Iowa Hawkeyes. On his way to the locker room, one of the happy throng of over 66,000 yelled to Bruce that "you better believe Iowa is for real."

The fan would have gotten no argument from the Ohio State mentor. "I think Iowa just played super today," Bruce said. "Iowa quarterback 1) Chuck Long came up with the big play when it had to be performed... We had our opportunities and we didn't take advantage of them and that is why Iowa came out the winner."

BRUCE HAD no doubt about what play was the turning point in the ballgame. "The bomb to Moritz," he said. "Yes, we were blitzing (defensive back) Garcia Lane on the play. If we'd held them, they would have been forced to punt and the outcome might have been different."

Aside from the missed opportunities and Iowa's flair for the big play, the Buckeyes' biggest problem this day may have been the inability of junior quarterback Mike Tomczak, who entered the game as the nation's No. 1 passer, to generate any sustained drives.

The obvious question asked by reporters was "where anything wrong with Tomczak?" after seeing him only complete 13-of-34 passes for 125 yards and three interceptions.

"I DON'T know that anything was wrong with Mike," Bruce said. "They did a lot of different things that hurt us."

Tomczak said that the Hawkeyes did nothing on defense that he wasn't ready for. "I forced myself a little bit," he said. "The offensive line just did a super job today. I just wasn't playing up to my potential today."

"You know, football is a funny game and turnovers kill you. We made two big ones that they capitalized on. They're a good defensive ballclub. They ran to the ball well and their secondary hit us well when we caught the ball."

Despite the loss, Buckeye tight end John Frank knows the Big Ten race is far from over. "Ohio State has been in this position before, since I've been here. For us to win the conference championship, Iowa is going to have to get knocked off. So I'm optimistic right now."

"THE GUYS upstairs (in the locker room) are saying 'never say die' and I think that's very important right now," he said. "Although Iowa outplayed us today and are 3-0 and are probably going to be in the top three or four after the ratings come out next week, I was proud to wear the scarlet and gray today."

Bruce knows the race is far from over too. On his way out of the press conference he played a little question and answer game with the media.

"You can only take 'em one week at a time fellas, one week at a time. Who does Iowa play next week?"
 "Illinois."
 "Did Illinois win or lose?"
 "Win."
 "Where is it being played?"
 "Illinois."
 "You know fellas," he said with a sly grin on his face, "that just might be a very tough game."

Liberty battles weight problem as finale of Cup race delayed

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — American skipper Dennis Conner wrestled Sunday with the temptation to beef up or slim down Liberty, but finally decided the 25th America's Cup defender was perfect the way it is.

Johan Valentijn, Liberty's designer, said Conner and his crew held a "weather meeting and decided to put the boat back in the water." Conner had Liberty towed to the Cove Haven Marina in Barrington to make weight changes in case the weather fluctuated during the climactic America's Cup race Monday.

Valentijn said with 12 knot winds predicted, "The boat is ideal the way she is."

While the Australians finalized plans to protest the changes in Liberty's ballast, Conner defended his right to trim 910 pounds from the red-hulled yacht Friday night before the postponed contest Saturday.

"THE CONDITIONS of the Cup speak for themselves," Conner said.

The Australians, forcing a defender to a seventh race for the first time in the best-of-seven series, were planning a huge celebration if they smash the 132-year hold the United States has had on the Cup it won from the British in 1851.

Liberty navigator Halsey Herreshoff said if Liberty loses the Cup, "I'd feel very badly, but I know we've done everything we could do and be able to hold my head up. We left no stone unturned. We've been realistic."

"We feel absolutely sure that what we're doing is in conformity with the rules," Herreshoff said, adding he's hoping for 10 to 15 knot winds and that "the Gods smile upon us."

Conner, in danger of losing the hallowed trophy to Australia II and ending the longest winning streak in sport's history, called for the day off Sunday after the New York Yacht Club Race Committee canceled the start of the decisive match Saturday with the wind shifting like a pendulum over the 24.3 mile course.

WITH THE race rescheduled for Monday, Conner said he would wait until the last forecast available before he made the critical decision aimed at speeding up the heavy boat against the swift Aussies.

Removing ballast allows Liberty to increase its sail area slightly, helping in the crucial upwind legs making up 13.5 miles of the course in Rhode Island Sound.

With a forecast of 12 knot winds, Conner said there would be no reason to make any change since the ballast was lightened by 910 pounds of lead ingots Friday night in hopes of making the yacht more competitive in moderate winds against Australia II and her still secret winged keel.

Come-from-behind victories lift Iowa spikers to divisional lead

By Robert Ryser
 Staff Writer

Kathy Greisheim and Linda Grensing went out to block a kill-attack from Minnesota hitter Gretchen Kauth on match point. The volleyball fell lazily into the Gophers court and Iowa coaches, players and fans jumped to their feet.

Iowa's come-from-behind, five-game victory over Minnesota, Saturday night, was another mark in the surprising list of accomplishments for the Hawkeye volleyball team this year.

Together with their five-game win over Wisconsin, Friday night, the 2-0 Hawkeyes moved to the top of the Big Ten Western Division and extended their winning streak to 11 matches.

Iowa also had some excited fans in the crowd to cheer them on. Some people had flocked in from the Ohio State football game "just to see what this is like." Those curious fans wound up to be the loudest in the Carver-Hawkeye Arena two hours later when Iowa won match point.

SATURDAY night's match, although no more exiting or suspenseful than Friday night's contest, was very important for Iowa's confidence, according to Iowa Coach Sandy Stewart.

It marked the first time an Iowa volleyball team has ever beaten Minnesota.

"This team is unbelievable," said Stewart after the Minnesota match. "This team is just something else."

Interestingly enough, that was a pretty accurate description of the Iowa squad over the weekend. Iowa fought the Badgers back from an 0-2 deficit, Friday night, to tie the match, 2-2, and then came from seven points behind in the final game to win the match, 16-14.

After the Hawkeyes had lost the first two Minnesota games, there was some question whether they could duplicate the previous night's performance.

"THINK THEY'RE gonna do it two night's in a row?" asked one fan.

The Hawkeyes obviously had already answered that question for themselves. Iowa convincingly won the next three games, 15-6, 15-12 and 15-10.

"Iowa is a much-improved team," said Gopher Coach Stephanie Schueleuer, whose 1982 squad finished second in the Western Division last year. "They never gave up and when you play like that, things start to happen for you here."

"A win here or a loss there this year could determine whether you go to the Big Tens or you stay home," Stewart said. "I don't think Minnesota looked past us."

"We didn't look past Iowa at all," said Schueleuer, shaking her head. "We've been struggling all year, and they simply out-hustled us."

IOWA ASSISTANT Coach Cindy Smoker said the Hawkeyes were somewhat tired the first two games of Friday's grueling contest) but they were able to relax through visualization.

"When they came in for a huddle, I told them just to relax, and you could See Volleyball, page 4B waiting for the call," Long said.

THE PASS, originally intended for Ronnie Harmon, who picked up 61 yards on four receptions, went instead to Moritz as Harmon was busy fighting his way through double coverage.

"As soon as I saw the defensive backs, I knew I'd get it outside," Moritz said. "I was just waiting for the ball to come down."

What did Moritz do when it came down? "I ran for my life," he said. "I knew (Buckeye cornerback Gayle) was there. He probably has 4.4 speed. I had to zig-zag my way into the end zone. If I'd have run in a straight line, he'd have caught me."

Fry had called for a two-point conversion attempt following the touchdown, but the word didn't get down to the players, so Iowa settled for the extra point by Nichol.

IOWA'S OWEN Gill, who was the NCAA's fifth leading rusher going into the game was held to 22 yards. Gill, who was one of several gridders playing "wounded," according to Fry, was used sparingly.

"He's really in worse shape today (Sunday) than he was last week," Fry said. "He's got a multitude of things wrong with him. Owen only worked out in shorts one day last week. Some of our key people were not up to par, but they gutted it out and came through for us."

The Iowa defense held Ohio State to 337 total yards and Fry praised the progress of the defensive unit over the past week. "It was just a fantastic amount of improvement in our defense from the Penn State game to the Ohio State game," Fry said. "We never dreamed we could keep the top passer in the nation to 125 yards."

"THEY REALLY shut down our offense," said Buckeye tight end John Frank. "To the point where we didn't take advantage of our field position. Their defensive line really shoved it Linebacker Larry Station said the Ohio State backs were "the best I've ever played against. You just couldn't stop 'em. They'd just fall forward and pick up a couple more yards — they were kind of like tanks."

Nose guard Hap Peterson led the Hawkeye defense with seven solo tackles and three tackle assists. For his efforts, the sophomore from Bettendorf, Iowa, has been named the UPI Midwest Defensive Player of the Week. "We knew we had to have an outstanding performance from Hap," Fry said. "He really made a contribution in the middle of the line."

The win did take its toll on the Hawkeyes, though. Fry said Sunday that a pair of defensive starters, Dave Strobel, who was scheduled to be operated on Sunday, and Keith Hunter, will be sidelined for some time with injuries.

Iowa now looks to Illinois, a 20-10 winner over No. 19 Michigan State on Saturday.

Late Dallas safety topples Saints

United Press International

The Dallas Cowboys put their knack of pulling out games in the waning minutes to the ultimate test Sunday.

Trailing New Orleans 20-13 midway through the fourth quarter, Ron Fellers scooped up a blocked field goal attempt and returned it 62 yards for a touchdown. The Saints clung to a 20-19 lead by blocking Rafael Septien's extra point attempt, but Dallas won anyway when linebacker Anthony Dickerson sacked New Orleans quarterback Ken Stabler for a safety with one minute 58 seconds to play for a 21-20 victory.

The victory allowed Dallas to remain the National Conference's only unbeaten team at 4-0. New Orleans slipped to 2-2.

In other NFC games, Minnesota nipped Detroit, 20-17. St. Louis edged Philadelphia, 14-11 and San Francisco trimmed Atlanta, 24-20.

In the American Conference, Cleveland topped San Diego, 30-24, in overtime, Buffalo blasted Houston, 30-13, Miami shaded Kansas City, 14-6, New England upset Pittsburgh, 28-23 and the Los Angeles Raiders crushed Denver, 22-7.

IN INTERCONFERENCE play, the New York Jets shaded the Los Angeles Rams, 27-24, in overtime, Cincinnati downed Tampa Bay, 23-17, Baltimore nipped Chicago, 22-19, in overtime and Washington belted Seattle, 27-17. At Minneapolis, Benny Ricardo kicked a 24-yard field goal with 7:22 left to back quarterback Steve Dils' first start and a strong defensive effort by the Vikings.

At Baltimore, Raul Allegre kicked three field goals, including a 33-yarder 4:51 into overtime, to pace the Colts. Baltimore took the overtime kickoff and drove 53 yards, including 21 on a pass from Mike Pagel to Matt Bouza and 13 yards on a run by fullback Randy McMillan.
