'Cats end Hawks' path to hockey finals

Hawkeye midfielder Mary Koboldt (11) tries to move the ball past Northwestern back Leslie LaFronz (10) Sunday at Kinnick Stadium during the Wildcats' 2-1 win that eliminated Iowa from the NCAA field hockey tournament.

By Jill Hokinson
 Staff Writer

The Northwestern field hockey team dashed Iowa's hopes of advancing to the NCAA Final Four in Philadelphia next weekend by beating the Hawkeyes, 2-1, Sunday at Kinnick Stadium.

The Wildcats had beaten San Jose State, 2-0, Saturday to earn the right to meet Iowa in the regional finals. With the win against Iowa, Northwestern will now play No. 1 Connecticut next weekend in Philadelphia.

This is the second consecutive year the Hawkeyes have lost in the regional finals. Last year, Iowa beat Massachusetts, 1-0, in double overtime but lost to Connecticut, 3-2, in double overtime in the regional finals.

BOTH TEAMS CAME out strong at the beginning of the game, but Northwestern took the early lead at 24:58 when Jennifer Averill scored on a penalty corner.

"Our goal was to score early and then play tough defense," Northwestern Coach Nancy Stevens said.

The Wildcats, who were minus two starters, a sweeper and tackler, in both games over the weekend, used the same game plan to beat the Spartans Saturday.

Stevens said. "We like to play a wide open game but felt it would be better to do it this way."

IN THE SECOND half, the Hawkeyes dominated the game, Iowa Coach Judith Davidson said. "We came back strong in the second half," she said. "We dominated the second half but couldn't capitalize on the striking circle."

Iowa made seven shots on goal, compared to only three by Northwestern. The Hawkeyes also had seven penalty corners, while the Wildcats received only four.

Two of Iowa's penalty corners came within the first three minutes of play, but the Hawkeyes couldn't make good corner shots in the game, Davidson said. "Our corners didn't work as well as they normally do," she said. "Ellen Egan, who was trying for the corner hits, had hard hit, but they just missed."

Northwestern scored their second goal at 32:23 in the second half. Averill broke away from the Iowa defense to knock one in the goal.

"WE GOT SOME breaks today like the score on a breakaway and the score on a corner," Stevens said. "If we had to play Iowa again, we would be in big trouble."

The Hawkeyes finally got on the board about 10 minutes later, after two unsuccessful penalty corners. Following the second penalty corner attempt, the Hawkeyes were awarded a long penalty corner because the ball deflected off of a Northwestern player's stick.

Egan, Iowa's leading scorer with 41 goals, scored on the long penalty corner at 24:52 in the game.

WITH 1:50 LEFT to play, Davidson pulled Iowa's goalie, Joan Behrends, out of the game to give the Hawkeyes 11 players on offense to try and score, but the Hawkeyes were unsuccessful.

"We had a lot of chances (to score)," Davidson said, "but luck wasn't with us."

Davidson said she was disappointed in the loss but thought her team played well. "This team did far better this year than I had ever anticipated," she said. "We'll be back next year."

One thing Iowa did very well in the game, Stevens said, was they marked Northwestern's leading scorer, Lisa Griswold, out of the game. "Iowa denied Lisa the ball during the game, and they did that well," she said.

Doak, Spangler earn slot in finals

By Greg Anderson
 Staff Writer

Consistency has been one of the keys to success all season long for Iowa's Nan Doak and Jenny Spangler.

And on Saturday, that quality helped earn the Hawkeye duo a spot in the NCAA national women's cross country finals.

Doak and Spangler qualified for the national race as a result of their impressive two-three finish, respectively, this weekend at the NCAA District IV championships in East Lansing, Mich. Iowa finished a distant third in the team race, with the top two finishers, Wisconsin and Minnesota, advancing to the NCAA Championships.

Iowa Coach Jerry Hassard said there was a simple reason why his two top runners tore up the 139-runner field on Saturday.

"THOSE TWO HAVE been running very steady all year long," he said. "They're consistent and that is important. It is an accomplishment to always see them coming through like that."

As Doak put it, "I'm happy (to be going to nationals). I worked hard for it. It was something I knew in the back of my mind I would do."

The only runner to top Iowa's dynamic duo on Saturday was Wisconsin's Cathy Branta.

The Badger senior trudged through the two inches of snow that covered Michigan State's Forest Akers Golf Course, to a first-place clocking of 17 minutes, 52.1 seconds.

Doak nabbed second in 17:56.7, while Spangler was the third person to cross the chute in 17:57.5. Wisconsin's Johanna Reneke (18:05) and Maureen Cogan from Ohio State (18:07.4) rounded out the top five in the field.

BRANTA BARELY out-distanced Doak and Spangler for the Big Ten individual title last weekend and it was more of the same in East Lansing.

"Doak and Spangler both ran with Branta for the first half of the race. They were the only two to challenge the leader," Hassard said.

"Doak continued with Branta until probably a half mile to go. Then she lost physical contact with her."

The eighth-year Iowa coach added that, "the action in the race was with those three. All

Lucky Iowa eludes determined Spartans

Iowa fullback Norm Granger (26) eyes open field after taking a handoff from quarterback Chuck Long (16) in the third quarter of Iowa's 12-6 win over Michigan State in East Lansing, Mich., Saturday afternoon. Granger gained four yards before being tackled by Michigan State's Kelly Quinn.

MSU puts all its money on Banks

By Mike Condon
 Assistant Sports Editor

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Carl Banks showed every one of the 72,528 fans that attended Saturday's Iowa-Michigan State game that he had indeed not already left for the NFL.

Several local papers had been critical of Banks this season, saying, in essence, that the three-time All-Big Ten performer didn't care about the Spartans and that his sights were set on professional football.

But the 6-foot-5, 237-pound senior inside linebacker proved a point to the fans and, most importantly, Coach Hayden Fry's Hawkeyes — he was still the main man on the Michigan State football team.

And prove it he did. All Banks did was make 10 solo tackles along with three assists and generally raised havoc all over the field for a confused Iowa offense that could only muster one touchdown in its 12-6 victory.

GOING INTO THE game, Banks, who former Spartan Coach Muddy Waters showed "the meanest man in the Big Ten" last season, has been strangely silent, as far as statistics go.

He was a preseason All-American selection and called a sure-fire, first-round draft pick in the NFL.

But this has not been a good season for the Flint, Mich., native. He injured an ankle in the third game of the season against Illinois and said the Iowa game was the first contest in which he's been back to 100 percent.

BANKS HAS A theory for his lack of production. "Most teams have been running away from me this season," he said. "It's hard to make tackles when you aren't around the ball."

So why the success against Iowa? "In the first half they flopped their tight end away from me and they ran that way," he said.

"The coaches made the adjustment at halftime and told me to follow the tight end across and I did and they kept running that way so I made a lot more tackles."

today," Perles said. "He played with so much emotion out there, it seemed to rub off on his teammates."

THE SPARTAN DEFENSE held Iowa, a team leading the Big Ten with an average of 465 yards per game, to only 332 total yards. Banks credited that to Perles.

"Coach had a good game plan for us and we followed through," Banks said. "To beat Iowa, a defense has to be aggressive."

"Look at the Illinois and Michigan films, they (the Hawks) were aggressive and got in there and mixed it up with them. They are a big team that can overpower you if you're not aggressive."

As he was leaving the interview area, Banks was asked if he was sorry the season was almost over. "Sure, I wish I had another season to play for (Perles)," Banks said. "He's taught me a lot about football but there comes a time to move on to bigger and better things."

"I'll miss playing here but like I said, it's time to move on." Translation: NFL beware, Carl Banks is on the way.

IOWA QUARTERBACK Chuck Long went out of the game early in the fourth quarter with a high ankle sprain. Fry said Sunday Long has been placed on crutches and will likely remain on them until midweek. He also told members of the media that his status for the Minnesota game is "questionable."

The game itself, from an offensive standpoint, wasn't very impressive as the contest turned into a defensive standstill between two of the stingiest defenses in the Big Ten.

Each team had one legitimate scoring opportunity in the first half. Unlike the Spartans, the Hawkeyes capitalized on their opportunity.

Michigan State's only threat of the first half came two minutes into the game when Spartan defensive end Tom Allen intercepted a deflected pass from Long and returned it to the Hawkeye 20-yard line.

IOWA'S DEFENSE stiffened and forced Spartan kicker Ralf Mojsiejko to try a 39-yard field goal. Mojsiejko, who is usually quite accurate from inside the 40, missed the kick to the left.

Iowa kicker Tom Nichol was a little more fortunate than his counterpart, kicking a 39-yard field goal with 10 minutes, 35 seconds to go in the second quarter for the only scoring in the first half.

The Hawkeyes only had one fair offensive drive of the second half, leading to a nine-yard scoring strike from Long to receiver Ronnie Harmon with 9:43 to go in the third quarter. They went for the two-point conversion, but Long's pass to Dave Moritz fell incomplete.

Long connected on five of his 15 completions, including the straight, on that drive, which immediately followed Nichol's second field goal of the day — a 40-yarder giving the Hawkeyes a 12-0 lead. Long's 15 completions gives him another school record of 291 career completions.

THE MICHIGAN STATE offense was so pathetic that the Spartan defense had to account for their only score of the day — an 11-yard punt return following a blocked Nichol punt attempt midway through the fourth quarter.

On that play, Michigan State sent its entire student body, rushing 10 men from scrimmage. "I didn't see them, but I definitely felt it," Nichol said. "You have to concentrate on getting the ball off. In order to do that, you have to watch the ball at all times. Michigan State — they come hard."

Linebacker Jim Morrissey was the first to reach a defenseless Nichol, blocking the football, which bounded toward the Spartan end zone. Michigan State safety Phil Parker picked up the ball at the 11 yard line and scampered in the end zone untouched, closing the gap on the Hawkeyes.

"I SAW IT WAS going to be blocked, but didn't have the angle to block it," Parker said. "So, I just ran behind their kicker. (Morrissey) tipped the ball and it bounced right into my hand."

Two defensive gems saved the day for Iowa Saturday. With two minutes to go in the third quarter and Michigan State driving deep into Iowa territory, Hawkeye defensive back Mike Stoops intercepted Spartan quarterback Clark Brown and returned the ball 60 yards before being caught from behind.

"I read the quarterback and saw he tried to hit the tight end (Mark Ingram) and I just stepped in front of him," Stoops said.

Defensive ends George Little and Mike Hooks secured the victory for Iowa when Hooks jarred the ball loose from Spartan running back Carl Butler and Little recovered the fumble on the Hawkeye 44-yard line with 2:54 to go in the game, ending any chance the Spartans had.

INSTEAD OF PULLING out his "crying towel" and criticizing the offense, Fry decided to give credit where credit was due — to the Michigan State defense, which held the Hawkeyes way under their season average of 33 points a game.

"Certainly Michigan State had a lot to do with us being off," Fry said. "I want to give Michigan State credit for stopping our offense. We've been extremely good on offense recently."

"We just weren't sharp, and we weren't executing. I'd like to think it was because of Michigan State's play on defense. It's the toughest defense we've faced. It's wonderful to look that bad and still be good enough to win."

For first-year Michigan State Coach George Perles, it was a bitter pill to swallow. "This is a tough one to take," he said. "We certainly had our opportunities, but we didn't capitalize on them. I'm sorry for them we didn't win the game."

Hawkeyes

the energy was in the front end.

"There wasn't a question whether those three would take the top three places. They really ran for those positions."

In the running for the team trophy, Wisconsin, which also claimed the championship at last weekend's conference meet, won its second consecutive major title.

THE BADGERS WERE paced by the fine finishes of Branta, Reneke and Katie Ishmael (seventh) while racking up 46 points to easily grab the victory.

Minnesota also qualified for the national meet, placing second with 84 tallies.

Jodi Eder (sixth) and Sue Alm (eighth) paced the Gophers to their surprising second place position.

Iowa was a distant third with 126 markers, while Purdue (139) and Indiana (155) were also among the top five finishers in the field of 20 squads.

Although the Hawkeyes did not qualify as a team for the NCAA nationals, Hassard was still happy with the Iowa display.

"I would consider it a productive weekend... The team ran better and we placed surprisingly high in the team standings."

Anne Dobrowski was third for Iowa and finished 17th overall, in 18:46.8. Freshman Janet Wodek (48th) and sophomore Maribeth See (62nd) were the other runners to score for Iowa.

On the line

Finding a winner this week for The Daily Iowan's On the Line contest was pretty easy.

We discovered five perfect ballots amidst the 342 that were displayed atop DI Sports Editor Steve Batterson's desk. Of the five perfects, two were ditched because they chose the wrong winner of the tiebreaker between Oklahoma State and Missouri. (Missouri won, 16-10.)

Upon examining the remaining three ballots, O.T. Line — the DI's resident prognosticator — chose Alan Gaul as the winner of an eight-gallon keg of brew from Magoo's, that flashy drinking establishment on North Linn Street.

By the way, Hampden-Sidney defeated Randolph-Macon, 24-20, in the battle for the Hyphen Trophy.
