Hawks breathe easier after win in Hawaii

By MAURY WHITE

Register Staff Writer HONOLULU, HAWAII - The regular season ended here Saturday night at 10:29 p.m., Hawaiian Central time, which translates to 2:29 a.m. Sunday back in corn country, and members of Iowa's football team were friskier than at any moment during the past month. A heavy burden had been lifted from each of their shoulders.

They trooped off the field in beautiful 50,000-seat Aloha Stadium kicking up their heels and waving at the 3,500 or so faithful fans who had followed them here to what used to be called the Sandwich Islands, not quite as happy as if they'd won the Big Ten title that once was theirs for the keeping, but happy enough so that smiling while in uniform once again came eas-kept in easy striking distance for lastquarter heroics.

So now, instead of mentally limping into the newly born Freedom Bowl in Anaheim, Calif., Dec. 26, Iowa (7-4-1) will come in on a winning note after snapping the seven-game winning streak of the Western Athletic Conference team.

The foe will be Texas (7-3-1) of the Southwest Conference, a team which contributed greatly to Jackie Sherrill's job security Saturday by losing to Texas A & M. The Longhorns are the foe Coach Hayden Fry was hoping to

"I'm going to start getting ready for Texas in the morning. I brought along a bunch of information and will start studying it," said the native of Texas. "I prefer playing the Longhorns, because of their national prestige."

Let it be made perfectly clear that the Hawkeye players were nowhere near that gung-ho about working on Sunday. Fry asked the lads to avoid the beach, the water, the sun and, of course, previously unmet wahines, until after the game. The way they took charge in the fourth quarter proved they had followed instructions and wisely conserved energy. But. . . . "I'm not even THINKING of the next game. I just want to spend a couple of days on the beach," said senior defensive tackle George Little, who played a marvelous game, as did defenders Paul Hufford, Keith Hunter, George Davis, and Mike Stoops, to single out a few.

"It's been a frustrating year - up to this point. I don't want to think about Texas, I just want to hit the beach, sighed Long, who said his decision whether to play another year of college ball would come before the Freedom Bowl, possibly in "the next week or two." And he's struggling with the decision, he says, flip-flopping from day to day, doing his level best to keep thinking that money is only one of many worthwhile things in the world. "For me, it's a matter of pride. ! know the money is going to be there sooner or later and I know that maybe it won't if I get hurt. But, you know it's a matter of pride. We ended up 7-4-1. That's not a very good record in my book. Everybody says, 'Yeah Chuck, take the money,' but that's not the whole point of the deal. You've got to look at the whole picture."

Fry, of course, is crossing his fingers, and any other limbs that might help bring good luck, that Long and Hayes will both decide to take the extra year granted them by the NCAA, and publicly states that both could use another year of seasoning to get ready for pro careers. Hufford, a tackle who has fought through much injury and pain, will cease playing as a Hawkeye on Dec. 26.

The game, ah yes! For most of a foot-stomping night in the sold-out metal stadium where temperature and humidity were both about 75 at the start, that left-handed architect of excitement, Raphel Cherry, drove the visitors crazy with his passing, scrambling and derring-do. KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) - Nick Lowery was the first to reach Rich Karlis, whose National Football League season is turning into a house of horrors.

"Don't listen to all the detractors," said Lowery, whose three fourth-quarter field goals lifted Kansas City to a 16-13 victory Sunday over Denver. "You'll have a great season next year."

For the second week in a row, Karlis had a chance to tie a game for the Broncos and for the second week in a row his field-goal attempt hit an upright and bounced away.

The week before, in a 27-24 loss to Seattle, the Bronco kicker tried a 25yarder that hit the right upright. This time, after the Broncos pounded to the Kansas City 25 with 10 seconds left, Karlis missed a 42-yarder by hitting the left upright.

Karlis' agony, said Lowery.

"I told him I missed two field goals against the Raiders last year," Lowery said.

What did Karlis say?

"He didn't say anything. What could he say?" The Broncos, who have already clinched a wild-card playoff berth, fell to 11-3 with their second straight loss following a 10-game winning streak. "It felt good when I kicked it," said

Karlis. "When it got to about the 10 it started fading to the left and I knew it wasn't going to be any good. I should have played it more to the right.

"I can face myself a little bit better because I know I kicked it well enough this time. I thought maybe it would sneak in. It just missed. Obviously this is not something that I want to become famous for."

Lowery kicked the winning field goal, a 42-yarder, with 1:56 remaining.

Lowery's 46-yard boot with 11:41 to play brought Kansas City to within three points at 13-10. His s 28-yarder tied the score at 13-13 at the 7:01 mark.

The Broncos jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a 48-yard touchdown pass from John Elway to Steve Watson.

Karlis' 22-yard field goal in the second quarter gave the Broncos a 10-0 lead, but Bill Kenney engineered an 36-yard Kansas City drive in nine plays, capped by a 24-yard touchdown pass to Carlos Carson as time expired.

Although the Chiefs' defense was weakened by the loss in the first half of noseguard Bill Maas and end Mike Bell, they staged a goal-line stand in . the third quarter to stay in the game.

Spurred by a 46-yard pass-interference penalty on safety Lloyd Burruss, the Broncos found themselves with a second-and-goal from the 1. But an Elway pass was incomplete and the Chiefs stopped Sammy Winder on two plunges into the line, holding Denver's lead to 13-7.

Record-breaker Dan Marino is congratulated by teammate Jimmy Cefalo

Marino's record day spoiled by Raiders' win

MIAMI, FLA. (AP) - Dan Marino, who is creating a new standard for National Football League quarterbacks in only his second professional season, reached another plateau Sunday. But a couple of guys who may some day join him in pro football's Hall of Fame cut into his celebration.

Marino threw for 470 yards and four touchdowns to shatter the NFL season record of 36 that he tied last Monday night — he now has 40 for the season. But it was Mike Haynes and Marcus Allen who prevailed as they led the Los Angeles Raiders to a 45-34 win over Miami in a see-saw shootout that just about guaranteed the defending Super Bowl champions a spot in the playoffs.

Haynes started Miami's problems by picking off a Marino pass on the Dolphins' first series and returning it 97 yards for a touchdown. He compounded them in the fourth quarter with a 54-yard return of another interception that set up a touchdown that gave the Raiders an 11-point lead.

And Allen, the most valuable player of last year's Super Bowl, ran for three touchdowns, including a 52-yarder that clinched the game with 1 minute 43 seconds left. He had 156 yards in 20 carries for the game.

"It was very nice to get the opportunity to break the record, but it would have been nicer if we'd had the opportunity to win," said Marino, whose 40 touchdown passes put him four better than Y.A. Tittle of the 1963 New York Giants and George Blanda of the 1961 Houston Oilers of the old American Football League. Both did it in 14 games, the same number that Marino has now played.

If Marino was playing for records - the Dolphins, now 12-2, have put Los Angeles ahead, 31-27.

HOUSTON, TEXAS (AP) - An agent for relief pitcher Bruce Sutter, denying that the free-agent hurler had completed a deal with the Atlanta Braves, says that talks will be held today with the Baltimore Orioles and California Angels.

"We're still talking," Jim Bronner said Saturday of a report in the Toronto Star that Sutter had come to terms with the Braves on a deal that would make him the highest-paid athlete in any sport. "Nothing has been agreed to." Bonner said another meeting with Braves officials was tentatively scheduled for Tuesday.

He said that he and Bob Gilholly, another Sutter agent, would meet today with representatives of the Orioles and Angels. California has yet to submit an offer.

Braves General Manager John Mullen also said no agreement had been reached with Sutter.

"We don't have the slightest idea who he will sign with," Mullen said.

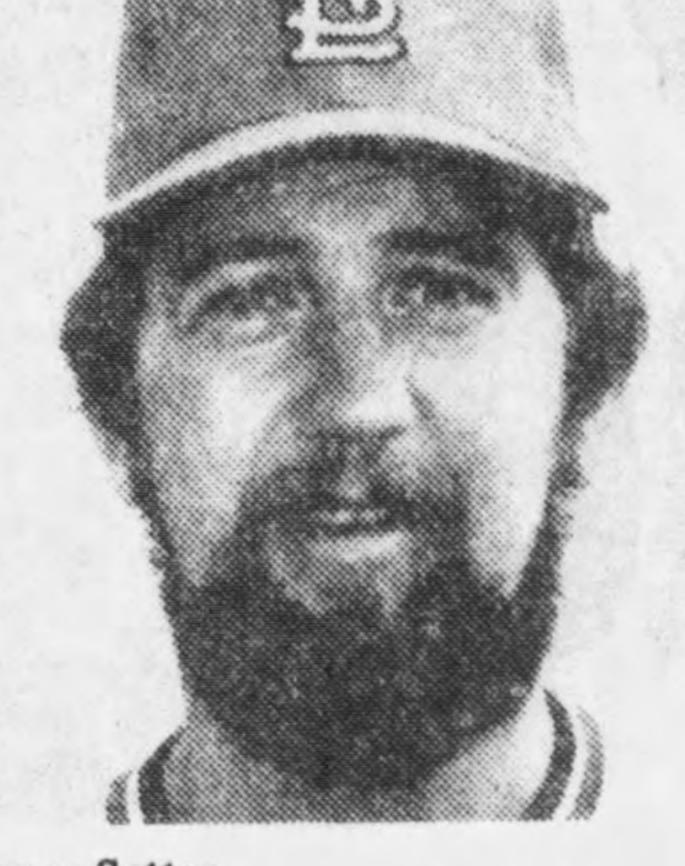

"They've indicated we've made them a good offer but they are still going to check out every club that drafted

The Star said Saturday that it has learned that Sutter will sign with Atlanta for what will amount to $48 million in deferred payments over the next 30 years.

The newspaper said the $48 million figure was based on a telephone interview Friday night with Blue Jays Vice President Pat Gillick, who had met with Sutter and Bronner in Chicago before flying here for the winter baseball meetings.

Gillick said he had learned that the Braves' offer involved a complex system of deferred payments over 30 years that would pay Sutter $1.5 mil-

The Star said the free-agent pitcher already had been assured of a no-trade clause in his contract, something that his old team, St. Louis, and Toronto were not willing to grant.

Gillick said he also learned that Sutter and his agent rejected an offer from St. Louis that totaled $12,330,000 over 32 years. "I'm not surprised they rejected it,"

Gillick told The Star. "It's way low. like $30 or $40 million low."

Evert Lloyd notches win No. 1,000 in tennis singles

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA (AP) - Defending champion Martina Navratilova and second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd both needed three sets Sunday before advancing into the quarterfinals of the women's singles at the $1.28 million Australian Open tennis championships at Kooyong.

Navratilova dropped the first set to 17-year-old Kathy Rinaldi of Martin Downs, Fla., before storming back to win, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1, while Evert Lloyd recorded the 1,000th singles match victory of her career, but had to fight hard before downing 18-year-old Pascale Paradis of France, 6-1, 6-7, 6-2.

Pam Shriver of the United States, the No. 3 seed, also advanced into the quarterfinals with a 6-2, 6-2 triumph over unseeded Australian Elizabeth Minter on the grass courts.

Evert Lloyd, a 29-year-old native of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., now has a 1,000-97 career singles record and has won 133 titles — the most of any player, male or female - since playing her first tour tournament in 1969. Billie Jean King holds the record for most match victories with 1,046.

"I was thinking about the occasion during the match," Evert Lloyd admitted. "I was a little nervous because I hadn't seen Pascale play before and I knew she was tough."

In the men's singles, seeds Joakim Nystrom of Sweden, South African Kevin Curren and Americans Brad Gilbert and Ben Testerman all recorded third-round victories, while No. 1 seed Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia was leading Tarik Benhabiles of France, 2-6, 6-2, 4-2, when play was abandoned for the day because of light

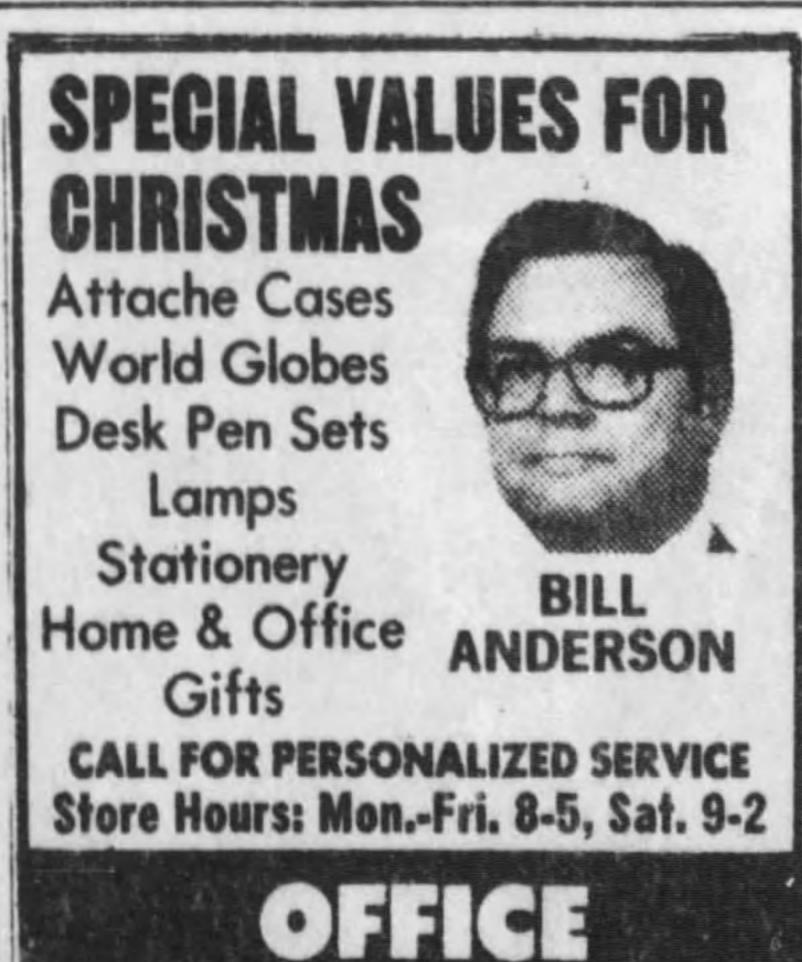

Third-seeded Nystrom eased past American Dan Cassidy, 7-6, 6-4, 6-3; No. 9 Curren edged his compatriot Eddie Edwards, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6; No. 12 Gilbert ousted Andreas Maurer of West Germany, 3-6, 7-6, 7-6, 7-5, and 14th-seeded Testerman defeated fellow-American Matt Mitchell, 6-7, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

total offense was only 11 more than Hawaii owned.

Cherry completed 16 of 35 passes for 186 yards, with the one costly interception and also netted 28 yards on 17 rushes, despite being flung around a few times by "sacking" Hawkeyes. Long managed 16 of 25 for 157 yards, with one interception and the two touchdowns.

"Cherry has as much natural ability as any quarterback we've faced, but some of the others have had better supporting casts," said Fry. Several of the defenders spoke of his quickness, for he darts away from reaching hands with the trickiness of a fly.

After losing the first three starts, No. 3 being an 18-13 decision to No. 1rated Brigham Young, also of the WAC, the Bows snapped to and won seven in a row, with the decision almost always coming in the fourth quarter. They, too, play strong defense. This time, Iowa's bigger, stronger offensive line simply took over the battle of muscle late in the game.

Offensively, Iowa basically got only a first quarter from battered, bruised Owen Gill, who has two bad ankles and one gimpy shoulder. The good news is that William Bayless, a 200-pound walk-on second-year freshman from Hugo, Minn., got a chance to carry the ball a lot and responded with 96 yards in 16 rushes, plus taking a little flip from Long 37 yards to set up Tommy Nichols' 41-yard field goal that opened the scoring.

"When I got my chance, I just took it. I'd only carried five or six times before today," he said. In addition to Gill sitting out the second half at running back, fullback Tim Sennott was lost in the first quarter because of a knee injury that will take surgery back in Iowa City. Fred Bush took Hawaii Coach Dick Tomey pulled out all the stops on trick plays early in the second half. First off, the Bows zipped into their "rattlesnake" formation, with four wide receivers stacked in a line, then taking off like jets off an aircraft carrier. Ran it about four times, with modest success.

Then came the Honolulu version of one of football's oldest "cow pasture" plays, the swinging gate, which Tomey calls the "muddle huddle." Cherry ran up behind center while everyone else went left of the ball. While none of the

"They kept us loose," agreed Fry. "But we could tell in the second quarter we were getting to them physically. Several of the players admitted initial shock at first showing of the rattlesnake. "I saw it diagrammed in USA Today once," said Helverson, who didn't have to face it.

When the game was over, even though the Bows were very sad at another big near-miss (they also led Nebraska and Oklahoma, respectively, going into the last quarter in the finale the past two seasons), the 29 seniors dressed, came out and walked around inside the stadium, saying goodbye to the thousands of fans who had remained for this traditional Aloha Visit. A very neat custom.

The Iowa party will leave by charter plane at 5 p.m. today, arriving back home in time for the players to attend Tuesday classes, if so inclined after a grueling flight. There won't be practice the rest of the week.

SCORING SUMMARY

First Quarter IOWA 3, HAWAII 0 - After vigorous midfield sparring most of the quarter, the Hawkeyes started on their own 25 following a short punt and moved into field-goal position in eight plays, the longest a curving 37-yard pass-run to the Hawaii 25 by fullback William Bayless. Bayless had just come into the game to replace Tim Sennott, who hurt a knee and was lost for the game. A tough defense sacked Iowa quarterback Chuck Long twice and Tom Nichols kicked a 41-yard field goal with 1:08 left in the period.

Second Quarter IOWA 3, HAWAII 3 - Hawaii started on the 30 after the kickoff went over the end zone. The home team moved 63 yards in 14 plays, relying mostly on running featuring the scrambling of quarterback Raphel Cherry, who also hit Kent Untermann for a 13-yard pass to the 8. Richard Spelman kicked a 24yard field goal with 10:34 left in the quarter. HAWAII 6, IOWA 3 — Following a 57-yard punt by the Rainbows, returned 19 yards to the 34 by Robert Smith, Long went to the air and got the team to midfield. A long try to Jonathon Hayes was intercepted by Paul Hemphill on the Hawaii 31 and returned 26 yards to the Iowa 45. Cherry's 17-yard pass completion did the most to put the ball in position for Spelman's 42-yard field goal with 5:30 remaining in the half.

Fourth Quarter O, HAWAII 6 -- Early in the final period, Cherry carried into the middle and lost the ball, which wound up in the hands of lowa's Richard Pryor on the Hawkeye 42. Long finally got some throwing time and hit two short passes to Hayes, then Bayless took off on a third-and-one situation and came through with 12 yards to the 24. A pass to Robert Smith took the ball to the 9, Bayless ran 6 more yards to the 3. On the next play, a beautiful fake into the middle drew the coverage. Hayes went floating free through the secondary and Long delivered a 3-yard touchdown pass. Nichols converted. "It was pass all the way. They put 10 men on the line and I just lofted it over the top to Hayes," said Long. IOWA 17, HAWAH 6 - The Hawkeye offensive line was now in charge of the line of scrimmage and Long's short passing and Bayless' series of 6- and 7-yard runs ate up 78 yards in 14 plays, the last an 8-yard scoring pass into the end zone to Scott Helverson, who had been pushed out of bounds by safety Kurt Kafentzis, then came back in to break away and field the points that put the game on ice with 6:28 remaining. Nichols converted. "That was ad lib. I think most of our touchdown passes this year have been,' said Long. Sometimes when you scramble and hold onto the ball, you get a guy open. I saw Helverson open before he was pushed out, but it would have been a tight squeeze. Then, when no one else was open, I motioned him to circle back into the end zone. An official was there and saw he'd been pushed, rather than leaving the field by his own his players in a couple of areas. After being outrebounded in both Friday's victory over South Carolina State and in Saturday's loss to Youngstown State, Berry said Sunday he would like his team to be more of an inside scoring threat and a better rebounding team on the offensive boards.

Those wishes might take some time to perfect on the practice court, but UNI must resume competition tonight when it plays host to Illinois Benedictine and hopes to start another 16game home winning streak that ended when Youngstown beat the Panthers, 70-57, for the tournament title.

The winning streak might have stayed intact Saturday night had the opening three minutes of the second half not become such a nightmare. Youngstown ran off nine unanswered points, hitting its first three shots while UNI missed its first four and then they built a 38-25 lead before Randy Kraayenbrink hit from 15 feet with 17:23 left.

Kraayenbrink and Scott Stafford of the Panthers were all-tournament picks along with most valuable player Bruce Timko and Troy Williams of Youngstown and Ralph Miller of South Carolina State.
