Iowa uses 'right moves' for weekend romps

By Jill Hokinson
Staff Writer

The Iowa field hockey team had all the right moves last weekend. The Hawkeyes put together two near-perfect games on both offense and defense as they racked up wins against Ohio State, Michigan and Lock Haven. The No. 4 ranked Hawkeyes defeated Ohio State, 3-0, and Michigan, 14-0, to extend their lead to 2-1 in the Big Ten. Iowa also beat Lock Haven, 4-0, helping Iowa's record, which now stands at 9-2-1 on the season.

Field Hockey

IOWA STARTED out sluggishly against the Buckeyes, Iowa Coach Judith Davidson said, but were still able to dominate the game.

Freshman Michelle Murgatroyd tallied Iowa's first goal off of a penalty corner. Marcia Pankratz stopped the ball at the top of the circle. RosAnna Salcido passed the ball to Murgatroyd, who slapped the ball into the goal.

Liz Tchou added a second goal for Iowa in the first half, giving Iowa a 2-0 lead.

Murgatroyd added her second goal in the second half to end the game at 3-0.

"This Ohio State team was one of the better Ohio State teams we've seen," Davidson said. "They were strong defensively."

AGAINST MICHIGAN, the Hawkeyes put together all the skills needed to be a great hockey team. "We were moving really well, adjusting to the movement of the ball," Davidson said.

Iowa blasted nine goals into the net during the first half. "We put together an awesome display of field hockey in the first half," the Iowa coach said.

"If we can play this well the rest of the season, all I can say is look out for Iowa," Davidson said. "We're starting to put it all together now."

The Iowa team added five more goals in the second half for a combined total of 14 goals, which is the most goals an Iowa team has ever scored in a single game.

MURGATROYD and Tchou tallied four goals each. Salcido and Patti Wanner knocked in two goals a piece and Pankratz and Mary Koboldt each scored one goal in the game.

"It wasn't that Michigan was a weak team," Davidson said. "I think my team was ready to play. They were really explosive and they put everything together."

The Iowa's third win came against the Bald Eagles. In that game Iowa completely dominated statistically. The Hawkeyes had 28 penalty corners and got shots off on 21 of them. Iowa also blasted the ball 43 times at Lock Haven's goalie.

The Bald Eagles, who are ranked No. 11 in the country, could only muster three shots on goal. They had only two penalty corners in the game.

Tchou scored Iowa's first goal off of a broken penalty corner. The forward pulled the ball to the side and stopped it. Then she drove it into the net.

Pankratz added a second goal in the first half. She was assisted by Wanner.

Hawkeyes put fake on Spartans

By Jill Hokinson
Staff Writer

History repeated itself Saturday. The Iowa-Michigan State football game came down to the last play of the contest to decide the victor.

But this time the spoils went to the Hawkeyes who "faked" out Michigan State and won the game on a quarterback-keeper, 35-31.

A year ago the Hawkeyes were down, 17-10, in the final minutes of the Michigan State game until Iowa quarterback Chuck Long found Jonathan Hayes open in the end zone. Long connected on a three-yard pass to Hayes, closing the gap to 17-16.

Iowa Coach Hayden Fry opted to go for the win instead of the tie. But Long came up six inches short on the two-point conversion and the Hawkeyes lost that game.

Saturday, Iowa trailed 31-28, and marched the ball down the field one last time with less than four minutes to play in the game. Long found Bill Hoppel on a 20-yard pass to put the Hawkeyes on Michigan State's 23-yard line. Scott Helverson then caught a 12-yard pass to move Iowa to the 11-yard line.

RONNIE HARMON carried the ball twice, moving the ball to the two-yard line with 35 seconds left in the game.

Fry then called timeout to discuss the situation with Long. What happened next was probably the greatest fake in football history, according to Fry.

Long pretended to hand off the ball to Harmon, who dove up and over the Spartans' front line. While the Michigan State defenders were converging on Harmon, Long scooted around the right side with the ball raised in a victory salute and into the end zone. Rob Houghtlin connected on the extra point, making the final score 35 Iowa, 31 Michigan State.

The Iowa coach said he was "scared to death" after calling the fake play. "(But) we were going for the win all the way," he said. "I didn't want to tie the first game of the Big Ten."

"I feel really good about the decision," Fry added. "It came down to executing and Chuck making the touchdown."

DURING THE TIMEOUT, Fry asked Long if he was fast enough to run the ball into the end zone. Iowa's quarterback said at the postgame press conference that even the slowest quarterback could get the ball into the end zone if the fake was done right.

"It's kind of a scary play," Long said. "I've got my back to the line of scrimmage. I had to give a good fake to suck Michigan State in there."

"I knew I was in. As long as I held onto the ball I was going to score," he said.

If Long hadn't scored on the quarterback-keeper, Fry was still going to try for the win. "We were going to line-up for a field goal and fake it, and then go for the

Perles has team on schedule

By Brad Zimaneck

Something is brewing in East Lansing.

Despite Iowa's 35-31 victory Saturday at Kinnick Stadium, Michigan State Coach George Perles knows that a few years down the line his plan for leading the Spartans to the Rose Bowl will be complete.

"We have a future," Perles said. "We're not ready yet. We knew that coming in, but I'll tell you what, you find out who your friends are when you win or when you lose. We're going through some growing pains and some struggling and I wish we could have won today's (Saturday's game) game."

"Kids never have any excuses.

Football

They just play and they never bicker or point the finger. They just hang in there and then something good happens. They have a motto, 'if you work hard and keep your mouth shut good things will happen' and that's what they do."

GOOD THINGS have happened, maybe not as soon as Perles would have liked, but he has taken a down Michigan State football program and turned it into one that may have the Big Ten and nation paying attention in the very near future.

Perles was the defensive coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers for 10 years when the Steelers were one of the most feared defensive teams in the NFL. That is one reason why Saturday's game is so surprising — Michigan State is known as a defensive team not an offensive powerhouse.

The Michigan State offense bloomed Saturday by unveiling a young team that compiled 580 yards against the No. 1 defensive team in the nation. Before Saturday the Iowa team had only given up an average of 154.3 yards per game.

Five hundred seventy-five of those 580 yards, coincidentally, were compiled by two freshman and a sophomore.

Hawks claim second place; top all five Big Ten schools

By Brad Zimaneck

Even with a few scoring mishaps the Iowa women's cross country team came up with their top performance of the season by placing second out of 21 teams at the Indiana Invitational in Bloomington, Ind., last weekend.

Kentucky won the meet with 76 points and was followed by Iowa with 82 points and Michigan with 99 points.

"Everybody is not sure about the outcome with all the teams, but they awarded the top three teams because they didn't feel the top three teams were affected by any of the foul-ups in the chutes," Iowa Coach Jerry Hassard said.

Sue Schroeder of Michigan won the 5,000-meter race in a time of 16 minutes, 55 seconds. She was followed by Monica O'Reilly of Tennessee who was second in 17:11.

In placing second, the Iowa team

Cross Country

defeated five other Big Ten schools, which is quite an accomplishment considering Iowa finished a disappointing eighth at last year's Big Ten Championships.

"I THOUGHT MICHIGAN would give us all we could handle and they ran well, but our people were really very tough this weekend," Hassard said. "I was very pleased. It reminded me of our other top teams because they ran very mentally tough."

Iowa's top five runners were only separated by 20 seconds and that is one of main things that the team has been working on most of the season.

"I think it was our are best team effort to date but at the same time I hope the team understands how important it is to look to the future and concentrate on the upcoming meets," Hassard said.

Janeth Salazar was once again the leading runner for the Iowa team as she placed 11th with a time of 17:42. Laura Haggerty was next for the Hawkeyes as she was 14th in 17:59.

HASSARD WAS PLEASED that the young Iowa team ran so well on the Bloomington course because that will give the Hawkeyes an added edge when they compete in the NCAA District IV Championships to be held there Nov. 16.

The Iowa team is scheduled to compete in the Michigan Invitational this weekend in Ann Arbor, Mich., but Hassard may opt to attend a meet in Milwaukee.

Air Jordan on view in Iowa in NBA exhibition match-up

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — A traveling act that boosted attendance by 87 percent in Chicago last year visits Vets Auditorium on Monday when Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls meet the Milwaukee Bucks in a rematch of last season's NBA playoffs.

The exhibition opener for both teams set for 7:30 p.m. will offer the first public view of a couple of first round draft picks — the Bulls' Charles Oakley of Virginia Union and the Bucks' Jerry Reynolds of Louisiana State.

But most of the autograph seekers are likely to be found near Jordan, the NBA's 1985 Rookie of the Year, and Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson, the 1985 Coach of the Year who graduated from the University of Iowa.

In the past the Bulls have been of special interest to Iowans because of the presence of former Hawkeye guard Ronnie Lester, but Lester now plays for the L.A. Lakers.

THE BULLS HAVE experienced a number of other changes over the past year, including new ownership and a new coach in Stan Albeck of Chenoa, Ill.

Another change that may appear for the first time Monday would be Jordan playing the point guard position. Albeck said he is considering such a move because it would allow him to play Quintin Dailey as an off-guard along side Jordan.

"My feeling is when the ball is in Jordan's hands, good things happen," Albeck said before fall training camp began. "He makes the other four players surrounding him that much better in this philosophy."

Albeck said he intends to run a "quick, up-tempo" offense "to exploit the talents and skills of Jordan and Orlando Woolridge."

DURING THE BUCKS' media day last Thursday, Nelson said every team in the Central Division has improved from last year. He said the only thing the Bulls need to be a solid contender is a good point guard.

Since that time, the Bulls have obtained former Kentucky standout Kyle Macey from the Phoenix Suns. If Jordan doesn't shift to point guard, Macey is the likely candidate to fill in.

Chicago finished 38-44 last year, but claimed third place in the Central Division to earn its first playoff berth since 1981. The Bulls lost to the Bucks in the first round, 3-1.

Crew practice pits team mates

By Laura Palmer Staff Writer

The Iowa Crew Club held practice races Sunday morning on the Iowa River to give the newer members the opportunity to experience competitive rowing...

These races were held at a distance of 500 meters and began at the Hancher bridge and finished at the Union bridge.

The women's B-team raced the

women's lightweight A-team in a very close and competitive race. The A-team was leading but as the boats were nearing the finish, the B-team pulled out ahead to win.

The varsity men's heavyweight boat competed against the novice men's heavyweight boat in a race in which the varsity boat took the race. The boats were close at the start of the race, but the varsity crew pulled away and kept their lead to win by a large margin.

The two other races were between two mixed boats and for the final race, a mixed varsity boat raced the varsity skuller.

In addition to giving the newer members the opportunity to compete, these races help the more experienced members prepare for upcoming competition. The crew team will send most of its members to compete at Creighton University, in Omaha, Neb., on Oct. 11th. Then, on Oct. 26th, half of the team will travel to Lincoln for the Midwest Regional Championships.

Niekro earns 300th without knuckleball

DETROIT (UPI)—A knuckleball got Phil Niekro 299 career victories — but it didn't get him his 300th.

The aging Niekro disdained use of his fluttering pitch for the most part Sunday and gave up only four hits in becoming the 18th major league pitcher to reach 300 victories for his career in leading the New York Yankees to an 8-0 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

"It might interest you to know that I only threw three knuckleballs in the game," Niekro said. "Being it was my fifth time (for 300), I talked to Butch (catcher Wynegar) and said, 'Let's see if we can go by the first inning,' and we did."

"THEN I SAID, 'Let's go for the second,' and we continued," Niekro said, after walking only two and striking out five to make him the seventh-highest strikeout pitcher in baseball history with 3,197. He also became the oldest pitcher in baseball history to pitch a shutout.

"He didn't throw many knuckleballs," said Toronto designated hitter Jeff Burroughs, one of many reserves who saw action in the game the day after the Blue Jays clinched their first American League East Division title.

"He threw a fastball, slider, curveball and a couple of 'eephus' pitches," Burroughs said. "The last couple or three pitches he threw to me (to end the game) were all knuckleballs. "That's probably why his brother (Joe) went out there," Burroughs chuckled. "I'm very happy for him. I played with him for four years. There's not a finer guy in baseball."

Henry Cotto drove in four runs with a single and home run while Don Mattingly had four hits to finish at .324 and smacked a solo home run, his 35th, to put his league-leading RBI total at 145.

NIKKRO FACED a lineup that only had one starter, second baseman Damaso Garcia, and one other, Cecil Fielder, who saw extensive platoon service while regular first baseman Willie Upshaw was hurt.

Even so, the Toronto players had every right to be looking for the pitch — a knuckler — that has brought the veteran Niekro through 299 wins and five unsuccessful tries for his 300th.

Niekro, 16-12 this season and 300-250 lifetime, did not allow a hit until Cecil Fielder drilled a single past second in the fourth. Jeff Burroughs doubled in the seventh, rookie Manny Lee singled in the eighth and pinch hitter Tony Fernandez doubled for the other Blue Jay hits.

New York jumped on rookie left-hander John Cerutti, 0-2, for three unearned runs on only two hits in the first. Mattingly singled and Don Baylor before Garcia threw wildly to first for a bases-filling error. Cerutti hit Randolph to force in a run and Cotto's two-run single made it 3-0.

COTTO'S TWO-RUN homer, his first as a major-leaguer, in the eighth made it 7-0.

Pinch hitter Mike Pagliarulo hit his 19th homer, a two-run shot, in the fifth and Mattingly led off the ninth with a homer to make it 8-0.

A native of Blaine, Ohio, and a high school classmate of former Boston Celtics' star John Havlicek, Niekro learned the knuckleball from his father as a youngster and signed a contract with the Milwaukee Braves' organization in July. He reached the major leagues in 1964 but was used primarily as a reliever until 1967.

yards and one touchdown, while sophomore tailback Lorenzo White rushed for 226 yards on 39 carries in a little over three quarters of play. White was the first running back to rush for over 200 yards against an Iowa team since Wisconsin's Billy Marek ran for 206 yards against the Hawkeyes Nov. 11, 1974.

When White went out of the game early in the fourth quarter with a slight ankle sprain, freshman running back Craig Johnson came in and took up the slack quite nicely. Johnson stepped in and ran for 89 yards on 10 carries with his last carry being a 25-yard touchdown run that gave Michigan State a 31-28 lead with four minutes, six seconds remaining.

The Michigan State team Saturday scored two more points than they scored in their first three games this season. It appears they will be able to move the ball that way the rest of the year, which could pose problems for the other Big Ten teams.

THE SPARTANS were able to move the ball effectively because of the freshman quarterback who left Pompano Beach, Fla., to test the waters of the Big Ten. "Bob was kind of a sleeper. He didn't make all-Florida teams and all that. He was kind of overshadowed," said Johnson, who is McAllister's roommate. "The rest of the coaches sought him out and he came here, and it seems like he is going to do real well."

McAllister, in fact, may have performed well enough Saturday to take the starting quarterback job from two-year starter Dave Yarema, who has been out of action with a thumb injury since Michigan State's first game.

"I'M NOT surprised about our offense," McAllister said. "Last week we were missing a click here and there from having our offense go all the way, and today we had that click going."

"I hope this shows that we can run-pass anytime we want," White said. "The play of McAllister opened up our offense a lot."

Next week the Michigan State team will see if they can make the offense 'click' against the highly-rated Michigan Wolverines.

If that offense continues to improve this season with McAllister and White in the backfield, Iowa Coach Hayden Fry may not exactly be looking forward to Oct. 4, 1986, when Iowa faces Michigan State at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing.

Record breaker Robinson reaches career win mark

(UPI) — Now that he has overtaken the late Bear Bryant as the winningest coach in college football history, Eddie Robinson is just one short step shy of catching up to another legend.

Robinson, who gave up a 25-cents-per-hour job in a feed mill in 1941 to take the coaching job at Grambling, registered his 324th victory at the Louisiana school Saturday night when the Tigers routed Prairie View A&M, 27-7, at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

During his 44-year career, Robinson has sent 211 players to professional careers in the National Football League. Tank Younger, the first of those to graduate from Robinson's tutelage to the NFL, Willie Davis, Sammy White and Doug Williams were among those who witnessed their former coach achieve his cherished milestone.

"WHATEVER THE RECORD is and whatever it is worth, it belongs to you," the 66-year-old Robinson told his team afterward. "I'm the luckiest man in the world."

Younger credited Robinson, saying: "I don't know where I would be tonight or what I would have done with my life had I not met Eddie Robinson at an early age."

Davis added, "That feeling he has for his players, and that his players have for him, is every bit as significant as all the victories. He touched so many people."

Robinson has a chance to equal another record this weekend when Grambling plays Tennessee State in Nashville. One more victory would allow him to equal the 325 wins achieved by George Halas during his years with the Chicago Bears. Halas owns more victories than any professional or college coach.

WHILE ROBINSON had to tax his memory and the limits of time to pay tribute to all those who helped him attain his record, Illinois Coach Mike White knew exactly who to thank for bringing about one of the major upsets of the past weekend.

Chris White, the son of the coach, kicked a 38-yard field goal with four seconds left to play to give the Illini a 31-28 upset victory over third-ranked Ohio State, which lost for the first time in four outings.

"What can I say?," the proud father said. "He was as cool as ever. I don't think that kick varied from the center more than six inches."

"I don't remember a sweeter victory in my coaching career — and you all know why."

ILLINOIS, WHICH HAD dropped two of its first three games, tied the score at 28-28 when Jack Trudeau, who completed 28 passes for 294 yards, capped a 64-yard drive with a 1-yard dive with six minutes left.

Following a Buckeyes' punt, Trudeau moved the Illini from their own 42-yard line to the Ohio State 21 using a mix of short passes and runs. Ray Wilson, who scored twice on 1-yard dives, converted a third down at the Ohio State 27 to keep the drive alive.

Wilson carried once more to set up White's fifth field goal of the year.

"Chris is pretty damn good at what he does. He's got great poise and concentration," Mike White said. "We don't talk about situations like these. He does his job and I do mine. He's a guy that you look him in the eye and you know he can do it."

Otherwise, No. 2 Oklahoma crushed Kansas State, 41-6. No. 5 Michigan routed Wisconsin, 33-6. No. 6 Oklahoma State beat Tulsa, 25-13, and No. 10 Nebraska defeated New Mexico, 38-7.

touchdown," Fry said.

Both Fry and Michigan State Coach George Perles agreed that Long made the final difference in the game. Fry said having a poised quarterback was important to the Hawkeyes' victory.

"The difference was Long," Perles said. "We knew that coming in and we knew it coming in at halftime. You're going to see him play for many years on Sundays after this year."

Long and the rest of the Hawkeyes came out strong at the beginning of the game. Iowa scored on its first possession when Long threw a long bomb to Robert Smith. The 60-yard pass was also the longest scoring pass for Iowa of the year.

HOUGHTLIN MADE the extra point, giving the Hawkeyes a 7-0 lead.

Iowa scored again on the throwing arm of Long in the second quarter to go ahead, 13-0. Mike Flagg caught a 17-yard pass from Long. The tight end then dragged the ball and five Spartan defenders almost six yards into the end zone. Houghtlin failed on the point after attempt.

But Michigan State wasn't about to let the Hawkeyes rack up points like they did in their three previous contests.

Bobby McAllister threw a 52-yard pass to Mark Ingram, setting up Michigan State's first score in the second quarter. But the Hawkeye defense wouldn't allow the Spartans to move the ball beyond the eight-yard line. Kicker Chris Caudell made a 32-yard field goal to put Michigan State on the board, 13-3.

The Spartans closed the gap to 13-10 at halftime on a 50-yard touchdown pass from McAllister to Andre Rison.

IN THE SECOND half, the Spartans came out fighting. Lorenzo White twisted and turned, alluding Iowa defenders and causing many missed tackles to score two touchdowns in the third quarter.

The tailback scored Michigan State's first touchdown on a 23-yard run on the Spartans' first possession. Caudell added the extra point, as Michigan State went ahead, 17-13.

The Spartans regained the ball a Long pass to Hoppel was intercepted by Philip Parker. White single-handedly bulldozed his way 71 yards to score a second time and extend Michigan State's lead to 24-17.

The Hawkeyes got back into the game when Smith caught a three-yard touchdown pass from Long late in the third quarter. Iowa decided to go for the two-point conversion. Flagg grabbed down a pass from Long, closing the gap to 24-21.

"I just tried to keep my head down and keep my legs pumping," Flagg said.

IOWA REGAINED the lead with 3:21 left in the third quarter when Long found Flagg a third time. Houghtlin added the extra point to put Iowa ahead, 28-24.

It looked like Michigan State would be in trouble in the fourth quarter when White went out with a sprained ankle. But Perles brought in Craig Johnson who ran the ball 25 yards into the end zone, putting Michigan State back in the driver's seat. Caudell nailed the extra point to make the score 31-28.

"White said he was okay, but when I saw him play on the one play after he went back in, I knew he had to come out no matter what the score is," Perles said. "I've seen it happen before when a reserve comes in fresh late in the game and does a fine job. That's what Johnson did."

With the win, Iowa's record climbs to 4-0 and 1-0 in the Big Ten. The Hawkeyes' next test will be Wisconsin in Madison Saturday.

Michigan State tailback Lorenzo White is dragged down by several Iowa defenders during Saturday's 35-31 Hawkeye victory. White rushed 39 times for 226 yards and two touchdowns.
