Kecord-setting romp for Hawks, 59-0

Game even impresses Long

IOWA CITY, IA. - Years from now, when Iowa football fans reminisce about the good old days back in the Hayden Fry era, when the talk turns to Chuck Long and how Hawkeye fans haven't seen his like at Kinnick Stadium since and probably never will, someone will recall Nov. 9, 1985.

"This'll give you an idea of how good he was," the coffee shop experts will say. "Why, in the first quarter of the '85 Illinois game alone, he completed 10 of 12 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns and Iowa led, 35-0, against a team that was supposed to be very good.

"But that wasn't the end of it. By halftime he was 18 of 24 for 256 yards with four touchdowns, and Iowa led, 49-0. Long demolished the Fighting Illini single-handedly that day."

Illinois. Not Northern Illinois or some Division I-AA fluff ball, but Illinois. The Illinois that features California coolers like Mike White and Jack Trudeau. The Illinois that had played Michigan to a 3-3 tie the week before.

THIS WAS also the Illinois that caved in like the St. Louis Cardinals in Game 7 of the World Series. You could call this one the college football version of the seventh game of the World Series. Chuck Long was Bret Saberhagen in shoulder pads.

Trouble is, the Kansas City rout was only 11-0. This was more like Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson.

Years from now, of course, the fans won't get Long's numbers right. Time will inflate them.

And Long's teammates won't get the credit they deserve; he had more assistance in Saturday's 59-0 victory than a man trying to spend his lottery winnings.

A gimpy Ronnie Harmon shook loose for 88 yards in nine carries. The defense pilfered four passes from Trudeau, a quarterback who hadn't allowed an interception in an NCAA record 215 consecutive attempts.

His linemen protected him as if guarding the last beer in the refrigera-

His receivers were an amalgam of speed and Velcro. They burned Illinois long; they troze the Illini short. And they buried them for dead after the first quarter.

"We could to no wrong in the first half," Long said. "I knew we had it won by the middle of the second quarter. That first quarter was a long one. It felt like an entire game."

It was the entire game. The second half was a ragbag of interceptions, fumbles and endless substitutions.

Watching the second half was like taking in a "Gilligan's Island" rerun. Ten minutes later it was a blur. The first half, on the other hand, was pure "Citizen Kane."

THOUGH THE Hawkeyes were no gang of one, this game will stick in memory solely for the way Long packed a treasure chest worth of stunning passing into half a football game.

The president of the Downtown Athletic Club, the man who will hand out the Heisman Trophy at the end of the season, reached into his bag of superlatives a few months early.

Gene Meyer, an Iowa graduate and a native of Cresco who now takes the pulse of Wall Street as an investment banker, told university President James O. Freedman that if Saturday's game doesn't win a Heisman for Long, nothing would.

"This has been awesome, absolutely awesome," Meyer said after the first half. "I can't think of a more impressive quarterbacking performance ever - in high schools or the pros."

That's the good news. The bad news is that Meyer has nothing to do with the voting. Though Fry claimed Long was never out of the Heisman running, Long claimed indifference.

"We lose one or two more," he said, "and the Heisman Trophy is out the window anyway."

The voters are sportswriters and sportscasters like Beano Cook, the ABC network analyst who evoked the fury of Iowa fans from Keokuk to Sioux Center.

Two weeks ago, Cook criticized Fry for letting Long stay in against Northwestern to throw six touchdown passes and roll up Heisman statistics. No matter, Cook added. The Buckeyes game a year ago, 14-13, were looking forward to a rematch with the No. 2 Sailors after beating Webster City, 3-0, in overtime. However, Pleasant Valley upset Waterloo Columbus, 6-2, to reach the 3-A title game.

The other top-ranked team to enter championship competition was Class 1-A No. 1 Center Point, which will be playing in its second consecutive title game after a 40-7 victory over Preston. The Pointers will meet No. 10 Maurice-Orange City at 4:30 p.m. Friday. Center Point lost to Pocahontas, 15-6, in last year's finale.

Another first-time championship entry is 4-A Linn-Mar of Marion, which advanced with a 20-14 upset victory over top-ranked Cedar Rapids Washington. The Lions go into Friday's 8 p.m. title game against a Sioux City Heelan outfit that has been this route before - it's the Crusaders' fourth title appearance.

Big Eight shooting for a new image

By RICK BROWN Register Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, MO. - The Big Eight Conference, long regarded as a slow-motion, defense-dominated basketball league, has changed its image.

"I don't think people realize we've been the No. 1 scoring league in the nation the past two years," said Iov State Coach Johnny Orr. "They can't believe it. I think the coaches they've brought into the Big Eight [have] changed the style of the game. Billy Tubbs Oklahoma , Tom Apke Colorado], Larry Brown [Kansas] and myself have all been runners throughout our careers. I think it's this style that has made attendance boom and interest in our league boom."

Even veteran Big Eight coaches Jack Hartman of Kansas State and Moe Iba of Nebraska, a pair of conservatives on offense, are even talking about running more this season, to remain competitive with the new coaches.

"We are going to try and run," Hartman acknowledged. "We have improved speed and quickness. But when we run to the other end of the floor, we want to make sure we have the ball."

Hartman said the Big Eight's slowmotion reputation came about not because of tortoise-like offenses, but excellent defense.

"We've always had fine coaches, especially defensive-minded coaches, who never let you run unless they wanted to," Hartman said.

"I think we've been stereotyped as a walk-it-up-the-floor league, and that's so unfair. We averaged 75 points a Register Staff Writer IOWA CITY, IA. — It was only a week before that Ohio State's maligned secondary had intercepted four of Chuck Long's passes to help the Buckeyes knock unbeaten Iowa from the nation's No. 1 ranking.

Saturday, it was the Iowa defensive backs' turn to showcase their skills.

The Hawkeyes intercepted four passes by Jack Trudeau four times in the first half and picked off a total of five en route to a shocking 59-0 rout of Illi-

By then, Iowa already owned a 14-0 lead. Soon after, the Hawkeyes converted the interception into another touchdown. Iowa refers to its interceptions as

"Oskys," and Norvell's was his seventh of the season, tops in the Big Ten. "Every day I pinch myself," said

Norvell. "Maybe I'll wake up and all this will be just a dream." For Trudeau, it was a nightmare.

The senior quarterback, expected to ball League draft, was 26-for-47 for 208 yards. His backup, Jim Bennett, didn't fare any better. He was 4-for-11 and was intercepted once.

"When a team gets a lead, they can start having fun," Trudeau said. "When a team gets a lead, good players become great players."

Other Iowa interceptions came from cornerback Ken Sims, free safety Devon Mitchell and two reserves, safeties Rick Schmidt and Mike Bolan.

Iowa Coach Hayden Fry emphasized the need to intercept Trudeau throughout last week's practices.

IOWA CITY, IA. - With an incredible display of record-shattering firepower and rock-hard defense, sixthranked Iowa buried Illinois under a 59-0 avalanche Saturday to remain in the thick of the Big Ten Conference title and the Rose Bowl picture.

The Fighting Illini caught Iowa in an angry mood, and were never a factor in a game that was played on a rainy, gloomy afternoon in Kinnick Stadium.

Iowa and Illinois have been playing one another since 1899, and the Illini had to wait until Saturday to lose by this huge a margin in the series.

Illinois gained just 5 yards rushing against Iowa's unyielding defense.

"We were mad after being embarrassed on national television a week ago by Ohio State," said Hawkeye Coach Hayden Fry.

"Wasn't this some kind of game? I guess you'd have to spell it M-O-M-E-N-T-U-M. Our youngsters were mentally prepared today."

Fry's team responded with a magnificent first half, decking Illinois with a 35-point opening quarter en route to a record 49-0 lead at intermission.

Chuck Long, who was intercepted four times while playing his worst game as an Iowa player in the 22-13 loss at Ohio State, blitzed Illinois with 289 yards passing and four touch-

LINCOLN, NEB. — What happened to Iowa State's football team here Saturday was simply a repeat of so many games that have gone before drubbing by Nebraska.

This time the Cyclones got walloped, 49-0. Last year they were whipped by the Huskers, 44-0. And other recent Nebraska victories in the series have been by 35-0, 23-0 and 52-0. Iowa State teams over the last 15 years have suffered six shutouts and all have been adminstered by Nebras-Coach Tom Osborne's Huskers, ranked third in the nation and probably destined to move up at least one notch this week with Florida's loss to Georgia, unleashed a powerful rushing onslaught that buried Iowa State under a tidal wave of 538 yards in 83 running attempts. It was a performance be fitting of a potent outfit ranked No. 1 nationally in rushing offense. Overall, Nebraska totaled 573 yards to just 137 for the Cyclones. "This was a very poorly played game by us on offense," said Cyclone Coach Jim Criner. "We gave Nebraska far too many opportunities.

"You can't turn the ball over and drop as many passes as we did and expect to stay in the game with a team like Nebraska." The Cyclones were guilty of three turnovers, two fumbles and one pass interception, and Nebraska turned them all into scores. But just as disturbing to Criner were all the passes Alex Espinoza put right on the money, only to have his receivers fail to hang onto them. Espinoza wound up completing only nine of 25 attempts for 86 yards, but at least nine others could have been handled - similar to the Missouri game a ball, I have a tendency to get frustrated," said Espinoza. "But there's nothing I can do. My job is to put the ball where it can be caught, and for the receivers to catch it."

The game was played in gloomy and adverse weather conditions, with a temperature of 28 degrees at the kickoff and a wind-chill factor of a frosty 4 degrees, but Criner refused to use that as an excuse for the butterfingers. "It's cold on both sides," he said. "If "The game was over before the fans got into their seats," said Illinois Coach Mike White, whose team is now 4-4-1 overall and 3-2-1 in the Big Ten.

"It was hard to forget the 33-0 game we lost at Illinois two years ago," said Long. "I really wanted to do this last year against Illinois. "We didn't do it then [the Hawkeyes had to struggle for a 21-16 victory over Illinois last year], so that's why I decided to come back for a fifth year. Just then, someone broke in to ask Long if going to the Rose Bowl wasn't get back to the Rose Bowl." Iowa totaled 548 yards in total offense, adding 232 yards rushing to the 316 passing accumulated by two of the four quarterbacks Fry used. Long completed 22 of 30 passes and Mark Vlasic five of 11 for 27 yards. Chuck Hartlieb and Jay Hess also played as Fry called off the dogs ear-

However, injuries tempered the big victory. Iowa trainers and doctors had to go onto the field as often as extra point kicker Rob Houghtlin. "We have several guys out right now," said Fry, "but I don't know for how long. Defensive end George Millett has a knee injury, wide receiver Robert Smith has a bad ankle, and so does noseguard Hap Peterson.

"I don't know how bad free safety Devon Mitchell is yet, but he could be in the worst shape of the bunch."

Smith caught touchdown passes of 49 and 43 yards before leaving the game with 1 minute 14 seconds left in the first quarter.

Long also fired an 8-yard touchdown pass to Scott Helverson and a 1-yarder to Mike Flagg as he pushed bis season total of scoring tosses to 25. However, this was the first time in 33 games that Ronnie Harmon hadn't caught at least one pass. Harmon did score on a fancy 46-yard run in the first quarter, and finished the day as Iowa's leading rusher with 88. But fullback David Hudson continued to be impressive, barreling for 66 yards and two touchdowns. His scores came on runs of 1 and 10 yards. Grant Goodman, the reserve running back from West Des Moines Valley, reeled off 47 yards in five carries, and accounted for Iowa's final touchdown on a 16-yard run. In addition to kicking eight extra points, Houghtlin booted a 37-yard field goal. As devastating as Iowa's offense was, the defense certainly took no back seat while handing Illinois its first shutout since 1978.

Quarterback Jack Trudeau came into the game as the NCAA record-holder with 214 straight passes without being intercepted, but had four aerials stolen Saturday — all in the first He stretched the mark to 215 before

Jay Norvell picked off a deflected pass at the Illinois 45-yard line in the first quarter.

Also ended was Trudeau's record of 283 consecutive passes in Big Ten games without an interception. "We didn't do anything right," said

Trudeau. "We didn't block well or pass well. We just played a bad game. When you do that against a good team, you'll get whipped." Fry said Long called audible signals at the line of scrimmage on three of the first four touchdowns. It was the audibles, of course, that gave Iowa so much trouble against Ohio State because Long couldn't communicate them against the noise of 90,000 fans.

"Chuck played a great game," said Fry. "He called audibles 30 to 35 percent of the time. The way to take the crowd out of a game is to play at Sorry, Cluck, but you didn't have to be O.J. Sinpson to get a line on Saturday's game Pads? A man who walks around with underwear on his head would have no trouble discerning the hero in this me.

To give you an idea how stunning Long was, even he was impressed.

"It was probably one of the best halves of any football game I've ever played," Long said afterward, "or ever seen. You can't get better than that. Especially against Illinois."

He was taking about his team, but he could have been referring to him-

They will recall the humiliation of Long's four interceptions in that 22-13 loss to the Buckeyes.

A week ago, he was unable to charge his calls at the line of scrimmage because of the noise in Ohio Stadium. Saturday was proof that silence, or a least the home field version, is inded golden.

Colgate player added to scholar athlete list

NEW YORK N.Y. (AP) - Thomas Stenglein, a wite receiver at Colgate, was added to its list of Scholar-Athletes on Saturday by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Stenglein, of Rochester, N.Y., has compiled a 3.26 grade point average, majoring in economics and has been key member of the Colgate offense. He caught 51 passes this season, going into Saturday's game with Penn.

He and 11 other players who were named scholar-athletes last month will be honored at the Foundation's Hall of Fame Awards dinner Dec. 3 in New York.

Playing the pass-oriented Illini apparently intrigues Bill Brazier, Iowa's veteran defensive coordinator.

Illinois State whips Shockers

NORMAL, ILL. (AP) - Paul Politi kicked four field goals for the third time this season to help Illinois State to a 26-0 Missouri Valley Conference victory over Wichita State Saturday.

Politi booted a 49-yard field goal for a 3-0 Illinois State lead in the first quarter. The Redbirds then drove 51 yards for a touchdown with freshman running back Henry Waters scoring from 9 yards out.

Illinois State quarterback Steve Stull connected with wide receiver Creig Federico on a 22-yard touchdown pass in the second period, and Politi capped first-half scoring with a 33-yard field goal.

The victory improved the Redbirds' record to 5-3-2 this season and 2-1-1 in the league. Wichita State fell to 3-7 overall and to 2-3 in the league.

Bears risk perfect NFL mark against Lions

CHICAGO, ILL. (AP) - The Chicago Bears will seek their 10th straight National Football League victory today when they finally meet Detroit before a sellout crowd of 65,790 in Soldier Field. Already having swept two games from each of their other division rivals - Minnesota, Tampa Bay and Green Bay — the Bears will be facing the Lions for the first time this season.

"They don't look like a 5-and-4 team," Bears Coach Mike Ditka said of the Lions. "They just don't look like a team that's lost four."

Detroit lost, 16-13, to Minnesota last week on a last-second Jan Stenerud field goal. But earlier this season, the Lions defeated Dallas, San Francisco and Miami.

While Ditka doesn't see the Lions as a team that has lost four games, Detroit Coach Darryl Rogers understands why the Bears are undefeated.

"I think if you look back at the Chicago Bears over the last 10 years," Rogers said, "they've developed, in their growth, a very strong franchise because of excellent drafts."

Rogers reeled off a list of No. 1 draft choices on the offense, topped by the person he called "the best player from 1975" - Walter Payton. "Then, when you don't move the ball, you turn it over, and they turn loose some more No. 1 draft choices."

Payton led the Bears to a 16-10 victory over Green Bay last Sunday when he rushed for 192 yards, including the winning touchdown on a 27-yard jaunt. Payton needs 156 rushing yards for his ninth 1,000-yard rushing season.

Payton also extended his NFL career-rushing total to 14,153 yards, but the television hoopla was directed toward rookie William "The Refrigerator" Perry. A defensive tackle whom Ditka brings into the game on offense on short-yardage, goal-line situations, Perry caught a 4-yard touchdown pass from Jim McMahon.

McMahon has a sore throwing shoulder but is expected to play against the Lions. Detroit quarterback Eric Hipple has chest bruises and was relieved twice by Joe Ferguson last week against the Vikings, but figures to play against the Bears. In other games today, Dallas is at Washington, the New York Giants host the Los Angeles Rams, the New York Jets are at Miami, Atlanta is at Philadelphia, Cleveland is at Cincinnati, Green Bay is at Minnesota, Houston is at Buffalo, Indianapolis is at New England, Pittsburgh is at Kansas City, St. Louis is at Tampa Bay, Seattle is at New Orleans, and the Raiders are at San Diego. Monday night, San Francisco is at Denver.

PITTSBURGH (4-5) AT KANSAS CITY (3-6) Another chance at .500 and at least a share of the division lead for the Steelers, who beat Cleveland last week on Gary Anderson's lastminute field goal. The Chiefs, expected to be a contender, now have lost five in a row and appear to be playing for a shot at a blue-chip draft

GREEN BAY (3-6) AT MINNESOTA (5-4) The Vikings, who won an important game over Detroit last week, have a legitimate shot at a wild-card playoff spot - their schedule from now on is one of the NFL's softest. But they need this one over a team that's lost three straight - two in vicious contests with the

ST. LOUIS (4-5) AT TAMPA BAY (0-9) The Cards finally snapped out of a slump in Monday night's 21-10 victory over Dallas and can remain in contention in the NFC East if they play as well as they are capable. The Bucs, who have lost by a total of 17 points to four teams with a combined record of 28-8, have to get out of the habit of sinking in the second

DALLAS (6-3) AT WASHINGTON (5-4) The Cowboys are arriving at RFK Stadium at just the right time for the Redskins, who have won four of their last five games following a 1-3 start. Dallas was upset, 21-10, at St. Louis last Monday and fell into a tie with the Giants. Said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry: "I'm sure Washington hasn't forgotten what we did to them in the Monday night game [44-14 rout]." N.Y. JETS (7-2) AT MIAMI (5-4)

The absence of injured receivers Mark Duper, Nat Moore and Vince Heflin have made Miami's Dan Marino an ordinary quarterback. ninth in the AFC with just 13 touchdown passes compared with 27 at this time last season. The Jets lead New England by a game in the AFC L.A. RAMS (8-1) AT N.Y. GIANTS (6-3)

The Rams will have Jeff Kemp at quarterback in place of Dieter Brock, who underwent minor surgery for removal of a kidney stone. Running back Eric Dickerson, who sprained an ankle against New Orleans, is expected to be ready. New York leads the NFL in defense. L.A. RAIDERS (6-3) AT SAN DIEGO (4-5)

The Raiders beat the Chargers, 34-21, at Los Angeles two weeks ago, and it wasn't really that close. San Diego got 116 yards rushing from recently signed Gary Anderson against Denver, But Raider Coach Tom Flores said of the Chargers: "Defense is where they've been criticized the most. Defense is where they've improved the most." CLEVELAND (4-5) AT CINCINNATI (4-5) Barring a tie, this game will provide the AFC Central, where all four teams are 4-5, with at least one .500 team. It looks like Bernie Kosar will be at quarterback all season for the Browns - Gary Danielson probably won't make it back from shoulder injury. The Cleveland defense will have to deal with Boomer Esiason, the AFC's leading passer.

INDIANAPOLIS (3-6) AT NEW ENGLAND (6-3) The Pats are 4-0 since Steve Grogan took over for Tony Eason at quarterback. The Colts are tough sporadically and at home. They're

0-4 on the road. HOUSTON (4-5) AT BUFFALO (1-8) The Oilers have won three straight and are

Bills have been more competitive in the four games that Hank Bullough has coached, but have blown early leads in the last two. SEATTLE (5-4) AT NEW ORLEANS (3-6) The test now is whether the Seahawks can perform consistently well against a team that's lost four straight and has 10 players on injured reserve. Dave Wilson probably will be back at quarterback for the Saints after being replaced starting to think seriously about a title. The by Richard Todd late in last week's game. ATLANTA (1-8) AT PHILADELPHIA (4-5) The Eagles barely got by Buffalo two weeks ago, then lost to San Francisco last week, indicating their surge into contention may be over. Atlanta, a 44-10 loser to Washington last Sunday, probably is the worst team in the league SAN FRANCISCO (5-4) AT DENVER (6-3) The 49ers have put two good games together for the first time this season. Trailing the Rams by three games, they'll need a few more in a row to guarantee a playoff game. Denver, tied with the Raiders for AFC West lead, was routed 30-10 at San Diego last week, but no one is panicking.
