IOWA CITY — This was one skunk that smelled awfully sweet. Lions win on Albaugh return touchdown in Linn-Mar football history Saturday at Kingston Stadium, sparking third-ranked Linn-Mar to a 20-14 Class 4A semifinal playoff victory over top-rated Cedar Rapids Washington.

The triumph moves the 11-0 Lions into next Friday's 8 p.m. championship game against No. 6 Sioux City Heelan (10-1) in the UNI-Dome in Cedar Falls. Heelan rolled past West Des Moines Dowling 21-0 in Saturday's other semifinal.

The Lions are looking for their second-ever state title in boys' athletics, since winning the 3A basketball championship in 1983.

Albaugh, listed at 5-foot-8 in the game program but who is actually 5-5 tops, said he was determined to score on his return with 10:37 left in the third quarter.

"Coach (Greg) Purnell tells us we're supposed to let punts that bounce go away," said Albaugh. "I almost got yelled at, but the ball came bouncing into my arms, I saw an opening and I decided I'd go."

The victory was a sweet one for a Linn-Mar team that completed a regular season schedule against only two 4A teams, and had to battle to gain recognition. But the Lions — who enter the Mississippi Valley Conference next year — left no doubters.

The game was played under perhaps the worst possible playing conditions - on a muddy turf with a 40-mile-per-hour gale wind and freezing rain. Washington, bowing out 10-1, suffered its sixth semifinal playoff defeat.

Schissel leads Lancers, 21-13

CEDAR FALLS — Cedar Rapids LaSalle quarterback Mark Schissel had something to prove Saturday at the UNI-Dome.

"We showed what hard work can do sometimes," the 6-foot, 180pound senior said after leading the unranked Lancers to a 21-13 Class 2A state semifinal victory over No. 8 Wapsie Valley and a trip to the state finals opposite 9-1 Algona Garrigan, a 26-6 winner over Clarin-

Nebraska rushes past Clones | Coe ties, shares Midwest title

LINCOLN, Neb. - The Nebraska football machine took another step toward a possible national title Saturday afternoon.

The Iowa State Cyclones took another step toward oblivion.

The Cornhuskers, ranked third by the Associated Press and climbing, rushed for 538 yards and thrashed ISU, 49-0, on a frigid afternoon at Memorial Stadium. Nebraska, 8-1 and 5-0-in the Big 8, won for the eighth straight time. Iowa State, 3-6 and 1-4, lost its fourth in a said Criner.

The Cyclones collected only seven first downs and 137 yards. In the entire game.

Nebraska finished with 28 first downs and 573 yards, and showed why it's the top rushing team in America.

IT WAS A MISMATCH, witnessed by 75,920 fans, the 142nd straight sellout here. A wind-chill factor of plus-4 degrees created a few no-shows. Doug DuBose led Nebraska's parade with 114 yards

Injuries temper Hawkeye party

By Gus Schrader

Gazette sports columnist IOWA CITY — Although his joy about Iowa's 59-0 victory over Illinois was tempered by injuries to key players, Coach Hayden Fry admitted he allowed himself a moment of exultation at halftime Saturday.

"As I was coming off the field, with the score 49-0, I said to myself, "This one's for you, Beano!" "the Hawkeye coach smiled.

He referred to Beano Cook, ABC-TV's controversial critic who twice this season has accused Fry of leaving quarterback Chuck Long in too long in onesided Iowa victories.

This time Long departed with 6:32 to go in the third quarter after throwing four touchdown passes and boosting his chances in the hunt for the Heisman.

Did Long put himself back in the race?

"I don't think he was ever out of it," replied Fry, who also pointed out with grim satisfaction this is the kind of game the Hawkeyes can have when their audibilizing game (changing plays at the line of scrimmage) isn't taken away by excessive crowd noise, as it was in last week's 22-13 loss at Ohio

"CHUCK AUDIBILIZED on three of our first four touchdown plays," Fry continued. "We normally audibilize about 35 percent of the time. Today we took the crowd out of the game by playing at home."

Fry said team doctors listed 17 players treated for injuries, some feared to be serious. Among the firstline players who either limped out or were helped off were defensive end George Millett (knee), nose guard Hap Peterson (ankle), wide receiver Robert Smith (ankle) and defensive backs Devon Mitchell and Ken Sims (also with leg injuries).

"Millett, Peterson and Smith probably are the most serious," Fry said, "but I didn't get to see Mitchell. He was taken to the hospital and might be the most serious of all.

"I'LL TELL YOU, I didn't sleep well last night. My ulcers were hurting. I was very worried. Guys like Ronnie Harmon, Bill Happel and Larry Station didn't practice all week because of injuries.

"Larry played a little in the first quarter. The doctors gave us clearance on Larry, so we could have played him if necessary."

Fry and his players couldn't be coaxed into getting specific about bowls, even though scouts from almost every desirable bowl were among the 66,120 spectators.

"If we can win one of our last two games and have a 9-2 record — with our great crowd support and the fine talent we have - we'll have a good chance to be chosen for an outstanding bowl game. If we can win both, well, we really would be in good position," Fry said.

Long found it easy to agree with his boss on all counts, although he did estimate it was only "25 to 30 percent of the time that we use our audible

The Iowa senior said that, to the best of his recollection, the one-yard pass to tight end Mike Flagg was the only of his four TD passes that weren't checked off at scrimmage.

"I hope Beano Cook was listening to this game," Long grinned. "He'll probably say we poured it on. Beano probably never put on a pair of pads in his Dave Hudson, freshman fullback who gained 66 yards in 12 carries, was asked the biggest thing he had to learn in switching from running back.

"Learning to block," he said. "I'm getting a lot of bumps and bruises, but I can handle them. I still don't really like to block, but it's my job."

Happy, as usual, was strong safety Jay Norvell, especially after his seventh 1985 interception with six minutes gone halted Jack Trudeau's NCAA record of 215 consecutive passes without an interception (283 straight in Big Ten games).

"It was just super!" Norvell said. "I think the ball was tipped by the Illinois receiver (Cap Boso), and I happened to be in the right spot. It was a great thrill to stop Trudeau's record, but even more important was another quick turnover to help our offense."

"How about the first quarter?" Holmes interrupted slyly. "Yes, it looks like Iowa has what every bowl wants on the bottom line."

"the Hawkeyes will get their pick of New Year's Day bowls. On top of that, they've got great support from their fans, and they've got exciting attractions like Chuck Long and Ronnie Harmon."

• Polls? Well, Iowa dropped from first to sixth in the AP poll after the loss at Ohio State and should move up again after a 59-0 romp. • Big Ten race? It may have narrowed to three teams with Illinois sagging to 3-2-1. Iowa and Ohio State stand 5-1 and Michigan 4-1-1. The big one is Ohio State-Michigan Nov. 23, but Minnesota could be the kingmaker. Its last two are against Michigan and Iowa.

In the Pac-10, Washington and USC practically fell out of the Rose Bowl race by losing Saturday. It looks like Arizona State or the winner of the UCLA-Arizona game Saturday night.

• Trophies? The biggest individual prize in college football is the Heisman. Even though the Iowa-Illinois game wasn't on live TV, Chuck Long's stock took a big jump with voters Saturday. Auburn's Bo Jackson, considered the other top contender, apparently was still hindered by a leg injury. He carried only 14 times for 73 yards in the 35-10 win over East Carolina.

"It was great to have the president of New York's Downtown Athletic Club (Eugene Meyer, Cresco native and U of Iowa grad) at the game today," said Fry. "He told me afterward he was really impressed with Chuck."

Meyer pointed out to reporters he and the other Downtown Athletic Club members don't vote for the Heisman winner.

Yes, that includes the very first one, Jay Berwanger (Dubuque native who was the model for the trophy after winning it at Chicago in 1935). The Heisman winner will be announced Dec. 7. The

Asked about the gusty wind and rain, Long sighed and said, "We get that weather all the time, it seems. The only time we get out of it is when we practice inside our dome."

• There were tons of positive records. How about negative ones? Well, that was Illinos' worst loss in 79 years. Only two worse in history: $63-0 to Chicago in 1906 and 62-0 to Purdue in 1890. Iowa beat Illinois 58-0 in 1899.

It also was the worst Illini defeat under Coach Mike White, and the first shutout in his six years.

• How could the Hawks lose 22-13 at Ohio State and seven days later dismantle Illinois 59-0?

"Momentum," offered Fry. "Wasn't that some kind of game? We came into this one mentally prepared. Our team was heart-broken and embarrassed when we lost last week to a fine Ohio State team. It took a lot of character to come back.

Illini players: A frustrated bunch after lopsided defeat

By Mike Hlas

Gazette sportswriter IOWA CITY — Crummy. Rotten. Embarrassing. Humiliating. Sick. A nightmare.

Those were words that came from the mouths of Illinois football players Saturday afternoon at Kinnick Stadium after the Illini were bombed by Iowa, 59-0.

Illinois quarterback Jack Trudeau, as much a preseason Heisman Trophy candidate as Iowa's Chuck Long, was blunt in discussing the way the rout sat with him.

"It's kind of a hard thing to swallow as a senior," Trudeau said, "to have a chance to still play in the Rose Bowl and play that poorly as a team."

Illinois fell to 3-2-1 and had its chance for a Big Ten Conference title reduced from iffy to minuscule. The Illini are 4-4-1 overall less than three months after the Big Ten Skywriters picked them to win the league crown.

"WE HAVE A LOT of talent on this team," said Trudeau, "and all season long we've played poorly. I don't know the reason. We haven't had a complete game all year. As a senior, it just makes you sick."

When Illinois Coach Mike White wasn't expressing confusion over his club, he was lauding the Hawkeyes.

"Their kids played hard and competed hard," White said. "They were quick and executed their game plan. They were just on top of their White was asked if this was his toughest loss as a coach.

who met the press after the game indicated they felt pre-game trouble brewing. But Illinois was coming off a 3-3 tie against Michigan that could easily have been an Illini win.

"It was just one of those days when nothing goes right," said Illinois tight end Cap Boso, who caught five passes. "It was like a nightmare.

"We kind of set the mood right from the beginning," Boso said. "They scored first, then we had a fumble right away and they scored again. It got away from us before we knew what was happening.

"I think we lost a lot of respect today," said Boso. "I'm embarrassed right now. Last week was more of a shock. This is just embarrassing.

"I think we're just falling apart, and now we've got to get back together."

Illinois center Mike Scully said it was "the worst loss I've ever been associated with."

"I have the sickest feeling in my stomach," Scully said. "I don't know what went wrong. We had a good week of practice. I just feel sick.

from Beano Cook?

"It seems like every time we come to this place weird things happen," said Scully. "The balls bounce their way every time. I just can't explain it."

However, Scully didn't credit luck for the rout. "We got our butts kicked today," he said.

"They're a good team," Illini linebacker Rob Glielmi said of the Hawkeyes. "You just can't turn the ball over to a team like that. You have to play your best against a team like Iowa.

"We just had too many let-Trudeau wasn't removed from the game until midway through the fourth quarter with the Illini trailing, 52-0. He completed 26 of 47 passes for 208 yards.

"We were getting some pretty good pressure put on us (by the Iowa defensive line)," he said. "I don't know what the problem was.

"Chuck had time to throw, and he picked us apart," Trudeau noted. "What can you say? Obviously, he puts the ball where he's supposed stood back there for days!

"We played rotten football and Iowa played great football," he said. "It's tough to know the season is coming to a head in a disappointing fashion."
