

SEC player of year McKey declared ineligible

By I.J. Rosenberg Staff Writer

The University of Alabama declared Derrick McKey, the SEC's basketball player of the year, ineligible for his senior season Friday because of dealings with New York agent Norby

McKey, a 6-foot-9 center who earlier in the week said he planned to play his senior season, applied for the NBA draft Friday afternoon. The deadline for underclassmen was midnight Friday. nounced McKey's ineligibility Friday morning agreements.

Investigation showed Tide star signed with agent after meeting with Crimson Tide coach Wimp Sanderson and athletic faculty advisor Tom Jones.

McKey "made an error in judgment in dealing with an agent that affected his eligibility at the University of Alabama," said Sloan.

NCAA rules allow athletes to consult an agent, but restrictions include no discussion or Alabama athletic director Steve Sloan an- acceptance of money or any oral or written

Sanderson, who received information Thursday about McKey signing a contract with Wa ters which led to the decision to declare him ineligible, would not comment on the meeting. nor the events leading up to it.

He did say, "It's a sad day in college athletics when an athlete is so close to getting a college degree and is deprived of that opportunity as a senior, especially by those who have so little feeling for him and his family.

"One of these days we are going to come up with an answer in college athletics to eliminate the problem of unscrupulous agents. Although everything is a two-way street, it certainly troubles me tremendously that people would take advantage of a ... college senior with a bright future."

Jones, Alabama's faculty advisor, said information that Sanderson received about McKey came partly from FBI investigators looking into the Walters case. "It is my understanding that an investigator told coach Sanderson that they had run across McKey's name in

Over before it's over

PONTIAC, Mich. - On the back of the bus driving ahead in the traffic on I-75 (the same) - it looked like any old Friday afternoon in our town was this pious promise: "Those Who Pray Can Expect a Miracle."

Aboard the bus were Atlanta's latest idols, the Hawks, on the way to work the night shift at the Silverdome. The Pistons, who play out here but insist on being addressed as "Detroit," were to be engaged in the third game of the second round of National Basketball Association playoffs.

It would turn out that (a) the Hawks had not heeded the scriptural passage on the bus, or (b) the message applied only to drivers following the bus. The cruelty of it was that nobody needed a miracle more than the nomads from the South, adrift in a sea of hostility and physically equipped for only half an evening of basketball.

They will say that it's never over till it's over. On this evening, it was over before it was over. Isiah Thomas, the sprite with invisible wings, took care of the unofficial adjournment in the third quarter. The next to the littlest man on the court put his signature on those 12 minutes.

Furman Bisher Pistons go up 2-1 on Hawks

'Isiah Thomas' quarter'

"Isiah Thomas' quarter," it should read. It began with a Thomas layup. It ended with a Thomas jumper from 20 feet by the same. In between came 21 points, including one three-point score, and the total of 25 points sets a record for a quarter in NBA playoffs.

What made this orgy so remarkable was the contrast between that quarter and the first half. Both teams had staggered out of the gate. They played as if they were in need of medical care. The score was tied, 41-all. That's from two teams that averaged over 100 points against each other during the season.

It might have been a flashback to the days when the Pistons played in Ft. Wayne and George Yardley ripped the nets, and Bob Pettit and Slater Martin were in their prime when the Hawks belonged to St. Louis. Just as abruptly, Thomas turned the time machine forward. "If you're going to have a record broken against you, you don't have to blush if it's broken by an Isiah Thomas," Gus Williams, the wise but nonperforming Hawk, offered in the way of balm.

"Dee-fense, Dee-fense," they kept scrolling across the scoreboard here. If that's what they wanted, they got their money's worth in the first half. What offense the two teams produced came about like trying to squeeze toothpaste back in the tube.

The Pistons shot only 37 percent. Thomas was a tawdry 3-for-12 from the floor. He had been kept in check in Atlanta, so the Hawks may have gone to their halftime rest feeling somewhat secure with their lot. Almost in a blink of the eye the score leaped from 41-41 to 68-59, and no matter how much the Hawks turned up their volume, the Pistons matched.

A game of assault and battery

It was one of those cases that befit the old saying, "The faster I try, the behinder I get."

Thomas' 25-point quarter key to 108-99 final

More coverage, Page 4-D By Jeff Denberg Staff Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. - Isiah Thomas wrecked the Atlanta Hawks here Friday night with the most dominant quarter of playoff work in NBA history, deciding game 3 long before the final buzzer.

Thomas took control of a game that was almost devoid of offense and scored 25 points in the third quarter to end what had been a fierce defensive struggle. The final toll was an afterthought, 108-99, as the Pistons took a 2-1 lead, moving within a Sunday afternoon game of taking a stranglehold in the best-of-seven series.

Thomas struggled early, getting but 10 points from 12 shots, but he broke up a brewing brawl between Atlanta's Kevin Willis and Detroit's Rick Mahorn by riding Willis' back out of the battle zone with 80 seconds left in a 41-all half.

Then the magician did his tricks stealing, passing, scoring, scoring, scoring. He tied the playoff record for points in a quarter, 23, with a jumper from the top of the key with 2:28 left, then made another from the same spot with two seconds left on the clock to break the record held by Bernard King of New York and Gus Williams, the veteran guard who resides on the Hawks' injured list. Thomas hit 8 of 11 shots from the field, 8 of 8 from the line, and also had four steals and two assists in the period.

At the 4:57 mark of the period he had 14 of Detroit's 29 points after getting 10 of their first 12. He scored eight straight, including a three-pointer from the corner, in a span of two minutes after that.

Thomas chased Doc Rivers from the game in favor of John Battle, flipping up a prayer shot and getting the continuation after the Hawks guard

Basketball is a mean game. Don't be fooled by the sparse clothing the athletes wear. It brings out the animal in young, splendidly healthy men. It becomes a game of assault and battery, followed by individual acrobatics, then back to the grappling again.

Here are two teams that play with sincere dislike for each other. They hammer each other, and in the hammering, the Hawks got the worst of it. It will show that the Hawks out-rebounded the Pistons. Don't believe it. The Pistons won the muscle war.

Thomas put his own label on it, "gangstering." "They were trying more or less to gangster the basketball game," he said, whatever that means.

When it came down to the fourth quarter, any comeback out of the question, it was then that the Hawks suffered their most demeaning moment of the night. They were being done in by the Pistons bench, John Salley, Dennis Rodman and Vinnie Johnson. Salley reached his NBA pinnacle. Rodman was more active as a hotdogging cheerleader. The tough stuff was over. The real war had been fought.

Now the Hawks are in foreign territory, one game down and in dire need playing to a crowd that poured forth the vilification and obscenities on this occasion. A Pistons game is no place to take your minister to.

It promises to get worse Sunday, and hear Bill Laimbeer, known as "the man Atlanta loves to hate:"

"The next game is the most important game we will ever play."

The gauntlet has been laid down, the challenge struck in which only the stronger prevail.

Nettles takes Braves by Mets in 10th 4-3

Braves Notebook, Page 7-D By Tom McCollister Staff Writer

Chuck Tanner doesn't have to wonder any more if Graig Nettles can hit against a left-handed pitcher with the winning run on third base.

Tanner found out what he wanted to know Friday night when the left-handed hitting Nettles delivered a sacrifice fly off Jesse Orosco in the bottom of the 10th. It scored Dale Murphy to give the Atlanta Braves a 4-3 victory over New York at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium.

Tanner's confidence in Nettles went against the book, at least the chapter that says left-handed hitters shall not bat against left-handed pitchers with fewer than two outs and the winning run on third base. "I wanted to see what Graig would do in that situation," Tanner said, "and I guess I got what I was looking for. He showed me he still has a quick bat."

It was a strange situation for Nettles, who in the last three years with San Diego often would not have been allowed to hit in that situation.

"They didn't show much confidence in me in that situation," said the 42-year-old Nettles. "I was happy Chuck let me hit in that kind of situation. It should give me more confidence."

Murphy set up the winning run. He drew a one-out walk from Orosco, stole second on his own and advanced to third when catcher. Gary Carter's throw bounced into center field.

"I was trying to get something started," said Murphy, who hit his sixth homer of the year in the

IRVING, Texas - Ben Crenshaw's late eagle caused a four-way tie Friday, including unheralded Bob Lohr, who tied the course single-round record, after 36 holes of the storm-delayed By-GOLF ron Nelson Golf Classic.

Crenshaw, who had a 65, was tied with Donnie Hammond (63), Tom Byrum (65), and Lohr (62) at 9-under-par 131. Greg Norman shot a 68 and is a stroke back at 132, tied with Fred Couples, who had a 67.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1987 .

Lohr's 62 tied the competitive course record at the Tournament Players Course at Las Colinas set by Robert Hoyt in the 1986 North Texas PGA Tournament.

"I was hitting my drives longer than I know how to hit them," said Lohr, who is 157th on the money list. "I'm exhausted.] had a 40-minute wait under a bridge when the storm hit."

Alysheba arrives for Preakness

From Wire Reports

Superstition won over tradition

when Kentucky Derby winner Alysheba arrived Friday at Pimlico Race Course, site of the May 16 Preakness Stakes. Stall 40 of Barn E, known at this time of year as the Preakness Barn, traditionally has been reserved for use by the Derby winner during its stay at Pimlico for the second race in the Triple Crown series. The same stall has been temporary home of 10 Preakness champions, starting with Carry Back in 1961, and including Triple Crown winners Secretariat in 1973, Seattle Slew in 1977, and Affirmed in 1978. But trainer Jack Van Berg telephoned Chick Lang, the general manager of Pimlico, to specifically request Stall 18, at the other end of the barn. "That's the same stall he had when Gate Dancer won the Preakness (in 1984)," Lang said. "Jack said he wanted to stay at the same hotel, and have the horse graze at the same spot." Added Van Berg's assistant trainer, Joe Petalino, "Jack is a little superstitious." COLLEGE BASKETBALL: Kansas basketball coach Larry Brown ended speculation that he would leave the Jayhawks to coach the New York Knicks by signing a fouryear contract with the school extending through the 1991 season. In addition, All-American Danny Manning announced he would stay at Kansas for his senior year, bypassing the NBA draft.

United Press International

Just plane tired: Kentucky Derby winner Alysheba exits from his air transportation at Baltimore/Washington International; he's training at nearby Pimlico for the May 16 Preakness.

According to a source in the Alabama basketball program, Sanderson also was contacted by Walters. The source related the following sequence of events:

Walters told Sanderson Thursday afternoon that he had signed McKey and would represent him in negotiations with the NBA next season. Sanderson confronted McKey with Walters' statements later Thursday evening.

McKey told Sanderson that he had signed a contract with Walters but didn't think it was binding. Sanderson informed Sloan of the situation. Sloan called a meeting early Friday morning with Sanderson and faculty advisor Jones.

"Coach Sanderson felt that there was no way McKey would be eligible next season with all the information he received," Jones said. "So the decision to rule him ineligible was cut-and-dried."

Alabama has notified the SEC

A celebrated case involved the Villanova basketball team in 1970-71, which was forced to return its NCAA tournament runner-up trophy and tournament revenue after it was discovered star player Howard Porter had hired an agent.

The NCAA was first made aware of McKey's possible dealings with Walters as far back as March, according to an NCAA source. Sloan said Sanderson asked McKey then if he'd had discussions with the agent. McKey denied it then, according to Sloan.

McKey and Walters were unavailable for comment. They were NBA. believed to have met Friday in New York

The FBI is investigating allegations that Walters threatened players who broke contracts with him.

The NFL Players Association is in the process of decertifying his partner, Lloyd Bloom, which in effect would prevent Walters' agency from representing pro football players.

The loss of McKey further damages Alabama's chances of defending its SEC title. Three other starters completed their eligibility this season.

McKey, a native of Meridian, Miss., averaged 18.6 points and 7.5 rebounds per game this season as Alabama reached the round of 16 in the NCAA tournament. He is projected to play small forward in the McKey became the third college underclassman to enter the NBA draft. The others are Norris Coleman of Kansas State and Vincent Askew of Memphis State.
