LX-AIHBUIL Paruleis plan for track in K.C.

By Neil Milbert

Joe Joyce, Sheldon Robbins and Ralph Ross, who were Dick Duchossois' partners when he bought Arlington Park from the New York conglomerate Gulf & Western in 1983, are trying to get back into the racetrack business.

Joined by another Chicagoan, Myron Rosenthal, they hope to submit a formal application to the Missouri Racing Commission, seeking approval to build a track in Kansas City.

"Monday is the deadline, but we may not be able to file at that time unless our architects and engineers refine the numbers," said Joyce. "We want to spend between $50 million and $60 million. The number they gave us for what we want is $72 million, plus soft costs, which means legal fees and things like that.

"But there's no way it works at that number. If nobody else comes forward with a viable application, the commission probably will extend the application deadline. We're hoping something can be worked out, but I honestly don't know what will happen."

Joyce and his associates, who were bought out by Duchossois early in 1986, have in mind a facility that will accommodate 18,000 fans and stable 1,600 hors-

"We would run in the good weather months and have a thoroughbred meeting with some quarter-horses integrated into the programs," said Joyce. "We have no plans for harness racing.

"When we aren't running, we want to be simulcasting races from California, Florida and New York, depending on what kind of arrangements we can work out. Sheldon and I would be the ones most involved in running the

Agent: Woodson's family was taking advantage of me

By Curt Holbreich Scripps Howard News Service

PITTSBURGH—Sports agent Norby Walters, whose business practices are under grand jury and FBI investigation in Chicago, has said in an affidavit he was the victim of deceptive practices by the family of Purdue defensive back

Rod Woodson. Walters said the Woodsons improperly charged personal calls to his office, tried to exchange airplane tickets for cash and had him make car and insurance payments on an automobile he provided for Woodson without informing him the family had signed a letter the day before to terminate his agreement to represent Woodson.

The accusations are contained in an affidavit submitted as part of a suit in federal court in New York charging that Woodson improperly broke his agreement with Walters.

The affidavit is in answer to a motion by Woodson to dismiss the suit because that court lacks personal jurisdiction over Woodson, a Ft. Wayne resident.

Eugene Parker, a lawyer representing Woodson, said the accusations are irrelevant to the motion and are an attempt to discredit the Woodsons and prejudice the court against his client.

The affidavit also details a schedule of 36 payments Walters says he made to Woodson from June, 1986, to Feb. 10. Most of the payments, which range from $14 Nov. 17 to $3,063 Jan. 14, were made when Woodson was playing at Purdue.

A month-long criminal investigation found no evidence to support allegations that a professional gambler influenced the judging of the Sugar Ray Leonard-Marvelous Marvin Hagler fight. The Nevada attorney general's office said Friday no evidence was found that gambler Billy Baxter conspired to get judge Dave Moretti to score the fight in favor of Leonard, who won the April 6 fight on a split decision. Moretti favored Leonard 115-113. The investigation centered on allegations that Moretti had discussed going into business with Baxter. . . . Major Miles of Chicago won a 3-0 decision over Tim Tomashek in the 201-pound seminfinals in the U.S. Amateur Boxing Federation Eastern Olympic Festival Trials in Lake Placid, N.Y. ... Ben Becker, a member of the Boxing Hall of Fame who coached Muhammad Ali to a gold medal in the 1960 Olympics, died Thursday of a heart attack in Albany, N.Y. He was 80.

Robin Ventura extended his NCAA-record hitting streak to 57 games as Oklahoma State beat Arizona State 8-3 in the College World Series in Omaha. OSU's Anthony Blackmon apologized for dropping his pants and slapping his rear in response to racial taunts from fans at a game in Starkville, Miss. The NCAA had suspended Blackmon for two games. Louisiana State beat Florida State 6-2 in 10 innings. . . . Eastern Connecticut scored four runs in the sixth in a 6-3 victory over North Central in the Division III World Series in Marietta, Ohio. The loss eliminated North Central (31-13). . . . Illinois catcher Darrin Fletcher has been named to the Converse All-America team.

Tennis officials have begun proceedings against John McEnroe that could lead to a six-month suspension for walking out of a match. McEnroe has been fined $4,500 for the incident. He walked off the court Sunday during the World Team Cup finals in Dusseldorf, West Germany. McEnroe said he had a leg injury. . . . Martina Navratilova, who has not won a tournament this year, says Renee Richards will rejoin her entourage to help work on tactics. Randy Crawford will remain her coach, Navratilova said. Crawford has been training Navratilova since early this year. Richards was Navratilova's coach during the early 1980s.

Indianapolis 500 winner Al Unser Sr. will not compete in Sunday's CART Miller American 200 in West Allis, Wis. Unser was a substitute driver at Indy for the Roger Penske Racing Team after Danny Ongais was injured in a crash and doctors wouldn't allow him to race. The Penske team has decided it will run just two cars in the Miller 200, leaving Unser without a ride.

Edwin Moses won the 400-meter hurdles in 48.90 in a meet in Turin, Italy, his 107th straight victory in a final. Mike Conley won the triple jump in 56-5. Aleksandr Evgeniev of the Soviet Union beat Calvin Smith in the 200 meters in 20.61. Smith was timed in 20.71. ... Said Aouita of Morocco has set his third world record, breaking Briton Steve Ovett's mark in the two-mile run at Turin in a meet Thursday. Aouita, 26, was timed in 8:13.45 during a meet between Italy and the USSR. Ovett's record was 8:13.51, set in 1977.

A story by Phil Hersh of The Tribune on Bears quarterback Jim McMahon has been selected to appear in The Sporting News' anthology "Best Sports Stories of 1986."

WBBM Radio and the Black Hawks have agreed on a contract extension. It will carry Hawk games through the 1989-90 season.
