Landry to get 3-year Cowboy contract

From Chicago Tribune wires

Tom Landry has told club president Tex Schramm he will coach the Dallas Cowboys for three more seasons.

Landry, who said he has reached "basic agreement" with Schramm to sign a three-year contract, said he told Schramm he is committed to rebuilding the team and will coach through the 1989 season.

Landry has been the team's only coach. It will be his 28th year with the Cowboys.

"It just shows a very renewed determination on his part, that he hasn't tired of the challenges," Schramm said. "His position has always been when the game was no longer fun, when it no longer commanded his attention, he was going to quit. Now he has incentive and determination to get us back."

Tom Landry wants three more years as the Cowboys' coach.

was paid $900,000 last season and is expected to earn about $1 million this season.

"It's an unfortunate situation because of all the great contributions Tony Hill has made to the Cowboys," Landry said. "But we felt that releasing him was in the best interests of both the Cowboys and Tony."

Landry to be weighed-in by club trainers the previous three Mondays, and missed all three appointments. Hill had been 20 to 30 pounds above his assigned playing weight of 198 for most of the offseason. He also missed several assigned off-season workouts.

"He had weight problems," Landry said. "He just didn't fire up as everyone else did."

Hill, a 10-year veteran, blamed his firing on offensive coordinator Paul Hackett.

"Coach Hackett made a comment that Tony Hill just wasn't in their plans. Hackett and I didn't get along very well. Our relationship wasn't very good," Hill said.

He said he still respects Landry.

"I owe a great deal to Coach and found five rocks of cocaine and some codeine tablets on the center console of the car, Fosselman said. "Robinson did not have a prescription for the tablets," and Fosselman said.

The former UCLA All-America Hill had made an agreement with was charged with two feloniespossession of cocaine and possession of codeine without a prescription-and five misdemeanors, including driving under the influence of drugs.

Robinson started all 16 games for the Raiders last year. He was released on a $2,500 bond, Fosselman said.

Paul Osbaldiston, a much-traveled Canadian Football League kicker, signed a two-year, $250,000 contract with the Green Bay Packers Thursday.

"If I make the team, it'll be a lot of money," Osbaldiston said in Kamloops, British Columbia. "This is a great opportunity. I'm looking forward to it." Osbaldiston, 23, played for British Columbia, Winnipeg and Hamilton last season, his first in the CFL. He finished with 37 field goals and 165 points, then kicked 0. six field goals to lead Hamilton 63 past Edmonton 39-15 in the Grey Cup. But he was cut when veteran kicker Bernie Ruoff, who was injured last season, reclaimed his job.

"I think it's a great challenge," said Landry, 62. "I think any time people write you off, it's time to go to work."

Landry's contract expired at the end of the 1986 season. There had been speculation that he would not coach the team longer than one more season.

Landry's salary will be among the highest among NFL coaches, Schramm said. This means it would be about $1 million, because Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins

NFL rules say a coach must have a standard contract before he steps on the the field for the opening of season, their first losing season in 21 years.

The Cowboys have released wide receiver Tony Hill, the club's No. 2 all-time leading pass receiver, for being overweight and not participating in the off-season training program.

Hill was placed on 24-hour waivers. If no other team claims him, he will be free to negotiate with another NFL team.

Los Angeles Raiders linebacker Jerry Robinson was arrested for investigation of driving under the influence of drugs Thursday after a brief high-speed chase by sheriff's deputies, Los Angeles County Sherriff's Deputy Pete Fosselman said.

Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies were at the scene of a major traffic accident when Robinson allegedly sped through the area about 1:30 a.m., Fosselman said. Deputies had set up a flare pattern to shut down traffic, he said.

Deputies stopped Robinson's vehicle after a brief high-speed chase the stadium.

The two-year pact, which includes bonus incentives of up to 13 $70,000 a season, hinges on 19 whether he makes the team.

After nearly two years of negotiations, the sale of the New England Patriots and Sullivan Stadium to a Philadelphia group should be completed within a month, reportedly for $103 million. The target date for the sale is Aug. 15. The Philadelphia group is headed by real estate syndicator Jeffrey Chodorow, 37. The Boston Globe reported that the sale price is $63 million for the team and $40 million for

Carter's lawyer: Lots of players being paid

From Chicago Tribune wires

COLUMBUS, Ohio-The attorney for suspended Ohio State wide receiver Cris Carter says at least half of the top collegiate football players take money and said it was amazing that even that many players followed NCAA rules. Carter, the all-time leading receiver at Ohio State, was declared ineligible Wednesday by Athletic Director Rick Bay. Carter had admitted he had signed a contract and had received a $5,000 promissory note May 1, 1986, and had received $150 monthly payments from agent Lloyd Bloom of World Sports and Entertainment Inc. of New York. "It's not so much the players receiving the money as much as it is the people who are willing to pay them the money," said Robert Berry, a Boston College law professor who represents Carter. "The people who do this are very often the type of people you don't want representing you. "So the good agents, who try to play it square, they are at a competitive disadvantage. I guess in a way, it's amazing how many players are straight.

"I think of your top players, a good 50 percent have received some type of payments."

Berry said the blame for situations such as Carter's must rest with the athletes, but said the agents are the instigators.

"What is really amazing is that the story did come out this time," said Berry, who has served as a consultant with several professional teams and colleges over the last 15 years. "The reason is because of the notoriety and the U.S. attorney getting involved. If they had not, I'm not sure much would be revealed, except for an occasional circumstance. The NCAA would have to have tremendous investigative powers to uncover most of what goes on."

A federal grand jury in Chicago has been investigating Bloom and his associate, Norby Walters.
