James has thrown in a long time," Fregosi said. DeLeon also pitched well, giving up only five hits over 71/3 innings, "but he's not the luckiest guy in the world," mused Fregosi.

DeLeon had a no-hitter for three innings, but the Indians broke through for two runs in the top of the fourth.

Ivan Calderon's two-run homer quickly tied it in the bottom against Ken Schrom, who had to leave later in the inning after pulling a muscle on the right side of his chest.

After the fourth inning, DeLeon settled down and breezed through the next three innings. Williams took at least a double away from Butler to start the Indians' sixth with a tumbling catch in deep rightcenter. Thus Hinzo's single, the rookie's third hit of the series and his major-league career, did no damage.

Before he left, Schrom was tagged for a triple by Donnie Hill and a perfectly executed bunt by Steve Lyons that went for a single and gave the Sox a 3-2 lead.

DeLeon nursed that until the eighth, when Chris Bando led off with a double and took third when center-fielder Kenny Williams overran the ball. One out later, Brett Butler bounced a double over Lyons' head at third to tie the score.

The crowd of 19,446 thought the Sox had won it in the ninth when, with two on and two out, Ozzie Guillen cranked a hit to

But right-fielder Cory Snyder's throw was waiting for Lyons at the plate when he tried to score from second. It was Snyder's ninth assist in his last 34 games.

Aldrete ended the no-hit bid by lining a 2-2 pitch up the middle for a single.

After Jeffrey Leonard's one-out single scored Milner to make it 5-, Sutcliffe walked Chili Davis to load the bases. But Will Clark fouled out to shortstop Paul Noce in foul territory to end the inning. The Cubs struck for two runs in the third and two more in the fourth to give Sutcliffe a 4-0 lead.

David Martinez drove in the first run with a two-out single up the middle that grazed the foot of Giants starter Kelly Downs (8-5). Noce scored after reaching on a single, stealing second and advancing to third on an errant throw by catcher Bob Brenly.

Keith Moreland hit his 16th homer of the season over the right-field wall for two more runs in the fourth. Andre Dawson had led off the inning with an infield

Swimmer maintains gold-medal standard

By Jerry Shnay

CHAMPAIGN—After she receives her masters degree in operations management, Martha Jahn would like to go to work in the family business, Chicago Metallic Corp.

So by way of brushing up on metals, the 24-year-old keeps on taking medals in the Prairie State Games.

A victory in the 400-freestyle Friday gave Jahn four gold medals and a chance to tie her own Games swimming record Saturday when she goes after Nos. 5 and 6 in the 100-meter freestyle and 200-meter butterfly.

She wasn't perfect, however, Friday. She finished second in the 50meter freestyle, and later was runner-up to North Shore's Patsy Sullivan in the 400-meter intermediate medley.

"This is only the third time I've ever swum this event [the IM]." Jahn said. "I really didn't know what I could do."

Jahn, who competes for Willco, has established a dynasty of her own in these games. She's won golds in the 400-, 800- and 200meter freestyle events all four years the Games have been held, had a gold in the 100 free in 1984, a gold in last year's 50 free and is going after her fourth gold medal in the 200 butterfly, an event she insists "is my best."

Yet with all this behind her, Jahn maintained that this is a comeback year for her in swimming. When she graduated from Northwestern last year, she took six months off. "I was so out of shape, I felt I had to do something after being in training for 10

Results in Scoreboard, P. 4

She began working out with the Joliet Jets club team "because after all these years, I really believe I like to train for competition. Swimming is a way for me to keep in shape." The Palos Heights native spent her high school years in places like Mercersburg, Pa., Ft. Lauderdale and, like many other outstanding swimmers, Mission Viejo, Calif.

There's no mistaking Jahn in the pool, powering through the water with the big "J" on the side of her swimming cap. That initial stands for her team, the Joliet Jets, and isn't part of an ego trip.

Jahn likes the idea of the Games as a method of both enhancing her training and getting enough competition to suit her. Her first year, 1984, she took six golds, and ever since, she's been the single biggest winner in the pool.

How long can this go on? A long time, Jahn said.

"I'll probably swim the rest of my life. But the older I get, the more I tend to like the longer events. As far as the Prairie State Games are concerned, this is still a fun meet."

After Mission Viejo, Jahn first enrolled at Michigan State and then transferred to Northwestern. She's working on that masters degree at De Paul and explains that operations management "is something like inventory control."

A few more years like 1987, and Jahn will be able to practice inventory control on her list of medals.

Adams teamed with Greg Van Emburgh to beat Kim Il-Soon and Ro Gap-Taik of South Korea 1-6, 7-5, 9-7 in mixed doubles. Adams and Susan Hahn defeated Renata Sasak and Biljana Mirakovic of Yugoslavia 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 in the women's doubles.

Gwen Torrence won the women's 200, her second medal. Torrence won in 22.44 for one of four U.S.

The victories by Spearmon and Torrence completed a U.S. sweep of the men's and women's sprints.

Heard was favored, and Spearmon said: "I figured it would come down to Floyd and myself. I really concentrated on the turn because the straight is the best part of my Torrence had to work hard on the final straight to overhaul Onyali and add the 200 title to the 100 gold she won two days ago.

"I ran a terrible curve; my legs just wouldn't move," Torrence said. "But I knew I would catch her."

U.S. men captured gold in both field events. Randy Heisler won the discus with a throw of 204 feet 8 inches, and Charlie Simpkins took the triple jump in 56-334. American Kerry Harrison was second to Simpkins in 56-0.

West Germany's Siggi Wentz dominated the decathlon with 8,348 points. Jim Connolly of the U.S. had 8,026 for the silver medal.

Romania's Paula Ivan added a second gold to her collection with a victory in the 3,000. Ivan, who won the 1,500 Thursday, ran 8:53.61 for a Games record. Anne Schweitzer of the U.S. was second in 8:59.56.

The powerful Yugoslav men's basketball team trounced Spain 100-69 to set up a clash with the U.S. in the men's final. The U.S. beat Cuba 88-70 in the other semifinal, paced by guards Mitch Richmond of Kansas State with 19 points and Perry McDonald of Georgetown with 18.

Lu Wei completed China's sweep of both women's diving golds. She won the 10-meter platform with 458.76 points. Lu, silver medalist in platform at the World Swimming Championships last August, defeated Angela Stassioulevitch of the Soviet Union, who had 448.56 points.

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Steve Cram and Steve Ovett scored impressive victories Friday at the McVitie's Challenge meet.

Cram, the reigning world 1,500-meter champion, won the 800, and Ovett, a former Olympic 800 champ, won the 3,000.

Another British runner, European 100-meter champ Linford Christie, led a 1-2-3 British sweep.

The event also included an international competition, in which a powerful English team whipped a belowstrength U.S. lineup 126-84.

The best U.S. performances were reserved for field events, which didn't count in the international scoring.

World triple-jump recordholder Willie Banks easily won his event with a leap of 55 feet 8½ inches, a stadium record.

Kory Tarpenning took the pole vault with at 17-101/2, and Jake Jacoby won the high jump with a leap of 7-

But on the track, the U.S. was eclipsed by an English team packed with European and world champions.

Cram, the world recordholder for the mile, won in 1:47.08, beating countrymen Tony Morrell and Gary Marlow.

Cram said he was nowhere near peak form.

"I think I have been forcing things too much and I am still not flowing easily," he said. "But it was obviously nice to win." Cram also said he was no longer hampered by the kidney trouble that had forced him to pull out of events at the last minute. Ovett, said he was finding it tough to adjust to longer distances. "People are questioning why I'm not doing so well in the shorter distances," he said. "But it's hard to train for three events—the 1,500 meters, the mile and the Ovett kicked past countryman David Moorcroft, former holder of the 5,000 world record, in the final straight to win in 7:52.99. Christie overcame two clared unable to play this year because of a knee injury, actually was ineligible because he signed with sports agent Norby Walters, according to a copyrighted story in Saturday's editions of the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution. Notre Dame Athletic Director Gene Corrigan admitted Friday the injury story was a cover-up, the paper said. Corrigan told the papers that Miller, from St. Louis, admitted to Notre Dame officials that he accepted cash and signed with Walters and associate Lloyd Bloom. Under NCAA rules, this admission made him ineligible to play his senior season.

Detroit Tigers outfielder Kirk Gibson, a onetime Michigan State wide receiver, told the Detroit News that he was contacted earlier this month about playing pro football for the Los Angeles Raiders. "A guy came up to me and said he was [Raiders owner] Al Davis' righthand man," Gibson said. "'Want to play football?' he said. 'Are you serious?' I said. Two days later, I saw they signed Bo Jackson." Gibson said he was was intrigued by the thought of playing football again, but added: "No way, not for another year at least." His contract with the Tigers runs through 1988 and prohibits him from pursuing other sports.

The NCAA lost its first appeal of an order to pay $1.16 million in damages to Paul Hornung for barring the pro football Hall of Famer as an announcer of college football telecasts. A threejudge panel of the Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled unanimously that the NCAA had a duty to act in good faith, but failed to do so, in exercising a contractual right to refuse announcers chosen for the telecasts by Atlanta-based WTBS in 1982.
