KICKOFF CLASSIC

Hawks must foot bill for extra tickets

By Mark Neuzil Gazette sportswriter

The University of Iowa's inability to sell its allotment of tickets for the Kickoff Classic football game with Tennessee will cost the school about $67,-000, officials confirmed Friday.

Each team received 10,000 tickets for Sunday's game at the Meadowlands Sports Complex in East Rutherford, N.J. The schools had to guarantee sales of 8,000 tickets and could return the rest without paying for them, according to the contract with the Meadowlands.

As of early Friday, Hawkeye fans purchased about 5,000 tickets, Iowa ticket manager Mike Naughton said. Buying up the remaining 3,000 will cost the school around $67,000 at $22.50 per ticket.

Tennessee fans purchased nearly 9,000 tickets to the game, according to Meadowlands offi-

Despite the cost of buying up the extra tickets, Iowa associate athletic director Larry Bruner said the school will make from $100,000 to $150,000 after expenses from the game. "We won't know for sure until we get everything balanced up, but we assume it will be a moneymaker," Bruner said. The Kickoff Classic pays each school $550,000 for participating.

NAUGHTON SAID ticket sales went as expected.

"About 5,000 is probably what I would have anticipated selling, although I had hoped we would bring more," Naughton said. "It's almost like a bowl game to our fans, with an overnight trip and airfare. It's not a game you can hop in the car and drive to."

Tennessee's campus, by contrast, is about a 10 or 12-hour drive from East Rutherford. The Hawkeyes are playing seven road games this year, two more than normal. The extra Please turn to 2B: Tickets owa football coach Hayden Fry (right) and Tennessee's Johnny Majors, whose teams kick off the college football seaso Sunday in Giants Stadium, hold the Kickoff Classic trophy at a news conference Friday in East Rutherford, N.J.

Vols' speed worries Fry

lowa's mammoth line a source of great concern for Tennessee's Majors

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - Iowa and Tennessee, which open the college football season Sunday in the fifth annual Kickoff Classic, are violating the old saying that there's no sense worrying about something you have no control over.

Fifteenth-ranked Iowa is worried about Tennessee's speed; 16th-ranked Tennessee is worried about

"I could talk about Tennessee's speed, but I don't want to get sick here," Iowa Coach Hayden Fry said Friday. "We truly feel that they're one of the fastest football teams in America, if not the fastest.

"If we're lacking something at Iowa and in the Big Ten, the biggest difference we see when we go to the West Coast (i.e., the Rose Bowl) is the speed factor. Tennessee is like a West Coast team."

Iowa, on the other hand, resembles an NFL team with an offensive line that averages 270 pounds from tackle to tackle.

"They say football games are won up front and my biggest concern is how we match up with Iowa's physical people," Tennessee's Johnny Majors said. "We won't match them there, and I don't know if our speed will offset that."

Tennessee's speed includes whippet wideouts Anthony Miller, who runs a 4.3 forty, and Terence Cleveland and T.D. Woods, who clock in at 4.4. Miller, running back Vando Davis and defensive backs Terry McDaniel and Victor Peppers all are sprinters on Tennessee's track team.

THE VOLS HAD even more speed, Majors said, when they lost their only previous meeting with lowa 28-22 in the 1982 Peach Bowl, a game in which the teams combined for 789 yards of offense and 19 Peach Bowl records.

"That year, we had three world-class sprinters in Willie Gault, Clyde Duncan and Mike Miller," he said. Fry surprised the media and upset the game's sponsors when he put quarterbacks Dan McGwire, Tom Poholsky and Chuck Hartlieb off-limits until after the game.

"I don't feel it will help our team at all to let these guys be interviewed," Fry said. "I'm trying to protect all our quarterbacks from additional pressure."

McGwire, a 6-8 sophomore who Fry says can throw the ball 90 yards, will start, but all three will see

Please turn to 2B: Kickoff

No epidemic of 'Classic fever' in the Big Apple

Bridge.

headline. Curious.

EW YORK — Kickoff Classic Mania has consumed the Big Ap-

Gotham's sidewalks are filled with hundreds of thousands of people. The airports, train stations and ferries are filled with people coming to New York, presumably for Sunday's Iowa-Tennessee game across the river at a former landfill that's now called the Meadowlands.

The talk is all the same in Bloomingdale's and the Bronx, in the tenements and townhouses, at Coney Island, Times Square and the World Trade Center.

Kickoff Classic this, Kickoff Classic that. Actually . . . if the truth be known, New Yorkers are more interested in whether the Mets can start scoring some runs than the cannon arm of lowa'

MIKE

HLAS

Gazette

sports columnist

sophomore quarterback Dan McGwire.

If the truth be known, New Yorkers are more interested in tonight's Giants-Jets grid exhibition at the Meadowlands than the Hawkeyes-Volunteers

If the truth be known, New Yorkers are far more interested in what Michael Jackson has to sing on his new album (available Monday at a store near you) than anything Hayden Fry has to say.

The Kickoff Classic just doesn't thrill denizens of Fun City. About 30 want ads in Friday's New York Post offered tickets for sale to various sporting events. None offered Kickoff Classic ducats. Fans, good seats are still available at Giants Stadium and all Ticketron outlets.

THIS DOESN'T MEAN the Iowa-Tennessee matchup is a dud. It isn't. It simply shows people here have different sports priorities than Iowans.

"Nobody here gives a rat's rump about college football in New York," said an insurance underwriter from Stamford, Conn. "It's all pros. The only college sport New Yorkers like is Big East basketball," he said. "There is no college football."

When I asked about Rutgers, the state university of New Jersey that plays some home football games at the Meadowlands, I got a look of contempt usually reserved for those who admit to buying the Brooklyn

"Rutgers makes Syracuse look like a powerhouse," I was told. Oh.

Friday's New York newspapers and television stations basically ignored the Kickoff Classic. However, the tabloid Post featured a full-page story on Hawkeye quarterback McGwire.

It should be noted that the Post has rather unusual news judgment. The front page of Friday's edition was entirely devoted to three Brooklyn teenagers who torched some homeless people sleeping in a park. "We just like to harass the bums," read the

ALTHOUGH THE FOUR previous Kickoff Classics displayed fine teams, only the 1983 Nebraska-Penn State game came close to selling out Giants Stadium.

With so much competition here for the entertainment dollar, a $22.50-per-ticket football game between two non-Eastern schools isn't going to top the list of things to do in New York on an August Sunday afternoon.

The Kickoff Classic is a made-for-television extravaganza, anyway. They could hold the thing in a studio for all practical purposes.

There didn't even seem to be much buzzing about this game in Iowa this week. When was the last time anyone could say that about a Hawkeye season-

Could the most rabid fans perhaps think Aug. 30 is too soon to be playing football?

Could it be this game lacks star quality? Rick Bayless and Jeff Francis are fine ballplayers, but they don't stoke one's imagination.

Could this game, which wasn't even on the Iowa schedule a year ago, be meaningless in the year-long scheme of things? After all, Alabama edged Ohio State 16-10 in last year's Kickoff Classic. The Crimson Tide ended the season in, uh, er, some little bowl game. The Buckeyes finished with a resounding win in the Cotton Bowl.

Time will tell. "We just like to harass the bums." What a nutty

Bruce backs Carter's bid to rejoin OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio State All-America wide receiver Cris Carter, who lost his college eligibility for dealing with agents, won the support of Coach Earle Bruce Friday in his bid to rejoin the Bruce, after meeting with the player, said he believed Carter should be reinstated for his senior season.

However, the coach said he doubted the university would appeal to the NCAA for Carter's reinstatement - a necessary step if Carter is to rejoin the team.

Carter and Charles Gladman, a Pitt running back declared ineligible for refusing to cooperate with an investigation of agents Norby Walters and Lloyd Bloom, were withdrawn from Friday's supplemental NFL on the chance they would have their eligibility restored.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Thursday night the league would wait a week, and if the players were not reinstated, make them available in an another supple mental draft. Rozelle, in explaining the move, cited the reinstatement of Pitt defensive back Teryl Austin by

Please turn to 2B: Carter

Baltimore's Billy Ripken is out but he breaks up a double-play attempt by California shortstop Dick Schofield in the first inning Friday night at Memorial Stadium in Baltimore, Md. Eddie Murray of the Orioles was safe/at first on the play. The Orioles won the game, 6-5. Major-league roundup / page 3B.

Stewart sweetens Cy Young prospects with 18th victory

TORONTO (AP) - Dave Stewart won a pitching duel with Dave Stieb Friday night, enhancing his candidacy for the Cy Young award as the American League's best pitcher this the Oakland Athletics defeated the Toronto Blue Jays, 3-2.

Dennis Eckersley got the last four outs for his 10th save as Oakland moved into a tie with Minnesota in the AL West.

Toronto remained percentage points behind Detroit in the East. Stieb, 13-7, allowed only five hits, but Carney Lansford picked up three of them. He hit his 16th homer on Stieb's first pitch in the second, singled in the fourth and scored the winning run in the sixth after leading off with a double.

PITCHING BEFORE an Exhibition Stadium audience of 32,256, Stewart went to the slow, winding pitch frequently when he was behind in the count and kept the Blue Jay hitters off balance.

"They had a left-hand hitting lineup in there," Stewart said. "That's my pitch to neutralize lefthanded hitting. When they have eight out of nine guys in there who are left-handed, then I have to throw the forkball.

"They (opposing batters) have to keep it in their mind that I'm getting ready to throw another one," Stewart said of the pitch. "And just Stewart, 18-9, became the major a second off their timing is going to leagues' first 18-game winner, al- cause them to miss a fastball. So it's lowing six hits over 734 innings as a balancing pitch; it keeps everything intact."

> "He's not cutting the ball," said Toronto's Lloyd Moseby, who struck out twice. "He's not throwing a spitball. He's a good pitcher. You've got to tip your hat to him."

Lansford, replacing regular cleanup hitter Mark McGwire, broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth when he doubled. moved to third on a long fly to right and scored on Dwayne Murphy's shallow sacrifice fly to center.

IN THE FIFTH, Alfredo Griffin doubled and scored on Luis Polonia's single. Tony Fernandez had an RBI single for Toronto in the bottom of the inning to tie the score.

Lansford hit Stieb's first pitch of the second inning over the left field wall, his 16th homer of the season and third in the last three games.

"I feel good at the plate," said Lansford. "My swing is pretty much together. I just hope it stays that way so I can help the club down the

KICKOFF

From page 1B

"The thing that concerns me about Dan McGwire making his first start (he was 6-of-12 for 174 yards a year ago) is how he'll react to all the different defenses. Can he take a snap without falling down?

"I once had a quarterback I let be interviewed by TV on the sidelines before his first start. Then he went out and lined up under right guard. The center was unaware of it and snapped the ball 15 yards in the air.

"I don't know how long McGwire, or any of them, will play. If one of them gets a hot hand, that guy will play longer than the others."

McGwire is the younger brother of Oakland A's rookie slugger Mark McGwire.

Fry hopes to get a line on his team before too many games.

"We're very young in certain positions and we have veterans at other positions," he said. "That makes for good chemistry. As a result, I feel good about this team, but we're not nearly as good as I'm hopeful of being by midseason. We have a chance to become a very good team if we can keep people healthy."

BESIDES TENNESSEE'S speed and Iowa's size, Fry said a key factor is that "Tennessee has a proven quarterback (junior Jeff Francis) and we don't. In the early season, the defenses are always ahead of the offenses, anyway."

Majors' concerns with his team are the defense, which finished eighth in the Southeastern Conference last year, and replacing placekicker Carlos Reveiz. The defensive ·line figured to be one of Tennessee's strengths but tackle Mark Hovanic and noseguard Brian Hunt, both scheduled starters, are injured.

"The things that give you consistency are a good, strong kicking game and a good, strong defense," Majors said. "For our football team to be competitive, the defense will have to make a lot of progress. We were coming along real good, but I don't feel good about our defense with two key people out."

CARTER

From page 1B

the NCAA after he agreed to repay $2,500 in loans to Walters and

THE DRAFT WAS held without Carter and Gladman but none of the four little-known players was taken by any of the NFL's 28 teams.

Carter was declared ineligible by Ohio State on July 16 after admitting that he accepted a $5,000 interest-free loan and monthly payments totaling $1,800 to sign with Walters and Bloom in May 1986.

The college administrators have complained that by making Carter and Gladman eligible to be drafted, the NFL was rewarding players who had violated college rules. The NFL said it was allowing the draft reluctantly because it didn't think it could win a threatened lawsuit.

Pitt athletic director Ed Bozik, who was present at Thursday's meeting of athletic directors with Rozelle, said he didn't think the situation could be cleared up immediately.

"It's such a complex problem it's going to take a lot of discussions and a lot of meetings," he said.

Carter and his brother Butch met Friday morning with Bruce and in a separate meeting, with Ohio State athletic director Rick Bay. The -Carters then met with OSU president Edward Jennings and Bruce.

"I can't help but think we should be a little forgiving in this case. . . . unless the stuff I'm reading is not right and that the rules are different for Carter than for Austin. Then that's something else. I don't know about that," said Bruce.

"But I think Cris from the beginning has been sincere in that he didn't want to go to pro football and that he'd rather play at Ohio · State."

Bay could not be reached for comment.

BRUCE, WHO SAID he was angry that Carter had repeatedly lied to him about any involvement with the agents, said he is now convinced that Carter is contrite and wants to return to the Ohio *State team.

"He's made a mistake. He's sincere. And I look at those eyes and I think he wants to do what's - right," Bruce said. "I'm the kind of - guy to give him another chance." Bruce said Carter had to first appeal to the university to be reinstated, and then Ohio State would decide on whether to appeal to the NCAA. "I'm not sure Ohio State wants to do that," Bruce said. "Right now, I don't think Rick (Bay) is going to do that. But I don't know that."

TICKETS

From page 1B

- road games, plus the possibility of a bowl trip, gives fans several choices to make, Naughton said.

"We've already sold 4,000 tickets to the Arizona game (Sept. 12 in -Tucson)," Naughton said.

A crowd of 55,000 is expected for the Kickoff Classic, which begins at 12:15 p.m. Iowa time.

AP photo

BIG BOZ MEETS LITTLE BOZ: Seattle Seahawks linebacker Brian Bosworth admires the haircut of 8-year-old Scott Bell, who watched the team practice earlier this week at the team's Kirkland, Wash., training facility.

Jets looking to whittle down Mowatt's Giant ego tonight

Associated Press

Unlike the old days, when the New York Giants and Jets played for the bragging rights to the Big Apple, their preseason meeting now tends to be just another exhibition game.

So a new issue has been trotted out for tonight's game at Giants Stadium, which will be nationally televised by NBC:

Zeke Mowatt's conduct on the basketball court. The problem stems from the Giants-Jets basketball games last winter, which ended with a 3-3 split. Mowatt, who with Mark Bavaro gives the Giants the best tight end tandem in football, did not endear himself to the Jets with his flying elbows on the boards.

"I have nothing against the Giants," says tight end Rocky Klever of the Jets. "The only guy I have any problems with is Zeke Mowatt. He's a fine football player and a fine athlete but he's a jerk."

"Zeke knows we're going to be coming after him," says linebacker Kevin McArthur.

In NFL other exhibition games this weekend, New England is at Minnesota this afternoon in a game to be nationally televised by CBS. Tonight's games are Washington at Tampa Bay; Miami at Philadelphia; Pittsburgh at New Orleans; Cincinnati at Green Bay; Cleveland at Atlanta; Buffalo at Kansas City; Houston at Indianapolis, and Denver is at the Los Angeles Rams.

The Los Angeles Raiders are at Dallas Sunday night in ESPN's game of the week and St. Louis is at Chicago in an ABC Monday night game.

THE GIANTS-JETS GAME is the 19th between the two and the ardor has cooled considerably since the first game, when the Jets were upholding the honor of the American Football League. The Giants lead the exhibition series 10-7-1 and the two teams, who meet again in December, are 2-2 in regular-season meetings. The 2-0 Giants enter the game with Coach Bill Parcells grumpy about the progress of his Super Bowl champs. He is particularly concerned with depth at cornerback and on the offensive line, where starting right tackle Karl Nelson is out with Hodgkin's disease, a form of lymph cancer.

"There are a lot of questions in my mind," Parcells said. "This is the time when you're putting the roster in shape. There are a lot of areas I'm not sure of." Like the Giants, the 1-1 Jets will continue to be looking at people. One interesting duel is at punter, where 14-year veteran Dave Jennings, picked up from the Giants two years ago, is being challenged by free agent Tom O'Connor.

NFL EXHIBITONS

Jennings still seems to have the edge. Coming off career-low 39.4-yard average last year, he has punted three times for an average 51.5 yards in the two exhibitions while O'Connor was also performing well — a 51-yard average on two kicks.

'He came to camp in the best shape I've ever seen him in," special teams coach Larry Pasquale says of Jennings. "His stomach, arms, legs are tight. You can see it when he runs. And he's very professional and knowledgeable about his craft. He can correct problems instantly through the combination of discipline and years of experience."

NEW ENGLAND, which lost its first two exhibition games, goes to Minnesota in an upbeat mood despite injuries that will keep five starters, including quarterback Tony Eason and Pro Bowl linebacker Andre Tippett out of the game. Steve Grogan and Tom Ramsey will fill in for Eason.

"I think our football team is capable of winning the world's championship this year. It's what I really believe," Raymond Berry, the usually low-key coach, predicted this week.

In addition to Eason and Tippett, offensive tackle Steve Moore, center Steve Brock and strong safety Roland James will also miss today's game.

But kicker Tony Franklin, who signed two weeks ago, will probably see his first action of the season and so will tight end Lin Dawson, who missed all of last year with a knee injury sustained in the 1986

Super Bowl loss to Chicago. Tommy Kramer, who returned this week after a month undergoing rehabilitation for alcohol abuse, will get his first preseason action at quarterback for the Vikings. Coach Jerry Burns said Kramer will replace Wade Wilson in the second quarter and play into the third. Minnesota will be without starting defensive tackle Keith Millard, out with a rib injury. Running back Alfred Anderson and defensive end Mark Mullaney will also miss the game because of

Skins owner eager to move team to a new stadium

WASHINGTON (AP) - Redskins owner Jack Kent Cooke said Friday that he is anxious to move his team out of RFK Stadium and into a domed stadium that he hopes can one day host the Olympics as well as the Super

Washington has sold out RFK Stadium for every Redskins game since 1966. But the facility, which was originally built to house a baseball team, seats only slightly more than 55,000.

Only St. Louis and Houston play in smaller stadiums, and the Redskins have more than 17,000 people on a waiting list for season tickets.

"The Redskins - believe it or not and you must believe it - do not make money," Cooke said. "What's worse, they show no sign of making money. Frankly, would shout 'hallelujah' every hour on the hour if the Redskins would break even. But they can do it only with a modern stadium not dissimilar to the Silverdome in Michigan."

Cooke says he has not yet taken any action on his stadium plan.

DeKock wins, then loses in U.S. Amateur golf meet the third round of match play Friday at the 87th U.S. Amateur Golf Championships before being eliminated by Robert McNamara of Frankfort, Ky.

DeKock beat Nolan Henke of Ft. Myers, Fla., then lost to McNamara, 3 and 1.

Two-time champion Jay Sigel and qualifying medalist Scott Gump won second- and third-round matches to reach the quarterfinals at Jupiter Hills Club.

Sigel, winner of this six-day tournament in 1982 and 1983, defeated U.S. Public Links champion Kevin Johnson 3 and 2 in the morning. He came back in the afternoon to eliminate David White of Conroe, Texas, 2-up on the par 72, 6,915-yard Hills course.

Gump, a former University of Miami star who has said this will be his last tournament as an amateur, overcame a three-hole deficit to beat Len Mattiace 1-up in the second round. He returned two hours later to beat John O'Neill of Arcadia, Melbourne, Fla.

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) - Nick Calif., 7 and 6 to set up a DeKock of Cedar Rapids moved into quarterfinal match with Chris

Webb, a graduate of Louisiana State University, defeated 17-yearold Harry Rudolph III — the youngest player left in the tournament — 1-up in 19 holes. A victory over Gump Saturday morning would put Webb in the semifinals, which would clinch a berth in next year's

Masters. Sigel's next opponent will be Eric Rebmann of Plantation, Fla. Rebmann beat Leslie Ellis of Tupelo, Miss., 4 and 3 before ousting Thomas Dyer of Melrose, Mass., 2

The winners of this morning's quarterfinals will advance to the 18hole semifinals in the afternoon. The two survivors will meet in a 36hole finale that ABC will televise on a tape-delay basis Sunday.

The other quarterfinal matches this morning will feature Bill Mayfair of Phoenix, Ariz., against Miles McConnell of Tampa, and McNamara against Stephen Ford of Finding a sponsor no Holiday for Cahill-Garner racing team

By Mark Dukes Gazette sports editor

Cahill-Garner Racing representatives met Friday for the third time in 48 hours with Holiday Inn officials in hopes of reaching sponsorship agreement. actor James Garner are the coowners of the Indy car team. They were in Memphis Friday to meet with Holiday Inn executives.

Cahill and his brother, Ken, own more than 60 hotels (mostly Holiday Inns) in 25 states. Larken, Inc., the company the brothers formed in 1972, has doubled its properties in the past three years and its hotels now are worth $250 million.

Garner, who has driven the pace car at the Indianapolis 500 three times, became a co-owner of the team earlier this week.

Cahill-Garner and Holiday Inn representatives met Wednesday night in Memphis and again Thursday morning. Cahill and Garner went to Indianapolis later Thursday for official announcement of their partnership. A round of meetings Larry Cahill of Cedar Rapids and also was scheduled Friday after-

> "No agreement has been signed," Cahill-Garner spokesman John Swanson said, "but the climate is very healthy. We're actively pursuing an agreement with them."

> Sponsoring an Indy car team would be Holiday Inn's first venture into sports marketing.

Once a major sponsor is landed, Cahill-Garner would then move to sign a driver, crew and engineer. They intend to have an entry ready for the start of the 1988 season.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

BASKETBALL — Indiana guard Tony Freeman, who saw considerable action in Iowa's victory over the Hoosiers in Iowa City last season, has decided to transfer to Illinois-Chicago. The 5-foot-7 Freeman, who has three years of eligibility remaining, played high school ball at Westchester St. Joseph's in the Chicago area . . . Jeff Arnold and Dave Strack, seniors-to-be at Purdue, are academically ineligible for the first semester for Coach Gene Keady's Boilermakers . . . Celebrity attorney Marvin Mitchelson has been hired by the pregnant wife of Houston Rockets forward Ralph Sampson to handle her possible divorce from the athlete. Mitchelson was hired by Alieze Dial, who married Sampson in December, The Houston Post reported.

BASEBALL - Iowa's utility infielder Wade Rowdon and catcher Damon Berryhill were named to the American Association's 1987 all-star baseball team Friday. Outfielder Lance Johnson of the Louisville Redbirds was named the association's rookie-of-the-year and most valuable player . . . A innocent plea was entered Friday for Milwaukee Brewers pitcher Chris Bosio to a charge of assault and battery. He is accused of punching a parking lot attendant in FOOTBALL — Joe Blankenship, Iowa State's starting left cornerback, has been declared academically ineligible for the 1987 season. Blankenship, a 6-1, 175-pound sophomore from Detroit, made four tackles in nine games in 1986 . . . William Robertson, who played a key role in bringing the Raiders to Los Angeles in 1982, lashed out at members of the Los Angeles Coliseum Commission as he announced his resignation from the panel. His resignation came a week after the Raiders announced they intend to leave the Coliseum for the tiny city of Irwindale, Calif.

MISC. — Curtis Strange one-putted 12 times Friday and shot a 4-under-par 66 to move into a two-stroke lead after the second round of the $800,000 World Series of Golf in Akron, Ohio. He completed two trips over the Firestone Country Club course in 136, four under par. Bobby Wadkins, the first day leader at 64, dropped him into a three-way tie for second at 138 with Paul Azinger and Fred Wadsworth . . . Hammer thrower Bill Green, who was stripped of his Pan American Games silver medal because of a positive drug test, will not be allowed to participate in the World Championships, which begin this weekend, his lawyer said Friday. Associated Press

Soviet denies Davis world title

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France (AP) - Barry Davis, a University of assistant coach and former Cedar Rapids prep star, lost Friday in his attempt to win a world freestyle wrestling championship.

The Soviet Union's Sergei Beloglasov took the 125.5-pound division, beating Davis by fall in 1 minute, 32 seconds in the final. The Soviet was the defending champion.

Davis, a three-time NCAA champ at lowa and silver medalist at the 1984 Olympics, was third in the world championships last year.

Fellow American Mark Schultz returned to the victory stand, winning the 82-kilogram title.

Schultz, the 1985 champion, romped through the division and defeated Alexander Nanev of Bulgaria, 3-1, in the finals. Vladimir | The rest of the season Modosian of the Soviet Union, the Modosian of the Soviet Union, the 1986 champion, finished third. Reds on Radio Schultz defeated Modosian Thursday to advance to the final pool.

Soviet Leri Khabelev, another champion from 1985, regained the 100-kilogram title over Romanian

5:14. American Bill Scherr took the bronze. Scherr lost to Khabelev on Thursday.

Arsen Fadsaev easily retained his 68-kilogram crown, romping through the category and capping it with a victory over Greek Georgios Athanassiadis when the Greek could not continue due to an injury. America's Andre Metzger, a silver medalist last year, gained the bronze this time. North Korea's Li Jae-Sik held on to the smallest category, the 48kilogram class, scoring a 9-5 triumph over South Korea's Lee Seng-Ho. Sergei Karamtschtkov of the Soviet Union was third.

Champions in the 52, 62, 74, 90 and 130 kilogram classes will be decided today.

KTOF FM 104.5 Tonight's broadcast

7:20 pm Valerie Pusacasu, pinning him in Cedar Rapids vs. Clinton Associated Press

MILWAUKEE — Chris Bosio's month-long struggle ended Friday night when the Milwaukee Brewers' right-hander blanked the Minnesota Twins, 1-0, for his first major league shutout and complete game in a 95-pitch victory.

"In the back of my mind I had no ideas about shutting them out, I just wanted to keep us close," Bosio said. "I just didn't want to give up the long ball. This is No. 1 all the way. I needed it."

Bosio, 8-5, walked three and struck out eight in winning his first game since July 28. Singles by Greg Gagne in the first and Kent Hrbek in the seventh were the only hits he allowed and he was backed by three double plays as the Brewers won their fifth straight game.

MAJOR-LEAGUE BASEBALL

"I hadn't been pitching smart," Bosio said. "I'd get a lot of strikeouts early and then try to blow everyone away with the fastball. I just went out and relaxed and concentrated on the middle of B.J.'s (Surhoff) glove."

Minnesota starter Les Straker, 6-9, blanked the Brewers through five innings before Milwaukee pushed across a run in the sixth aided by a throwing error on Twins' catcher Sal Butera.

Robin Yount singled to begin the sixth and as he attempted to steal second, Butera took a pitchout from Straker and threw it into center field, allowing Yount to advance to third. Brock then followed with a double to the wall in right center.

Orioles 6, Angels 5

BALTIMORE — Fred Lynn, who did not start because of a thigh injury, hit a pinch-hit home run with one out in the ninth inning to give Baltimore the victory.

Lynn, the first batter after an 18-minute rain delay, hit a 3-1 pitch from reliever Chuck Finley, 2-6, who had pitched 51/3 scoreless innings of relief.

Rangers 5, Tigers 3

■ DETROIT -- Ruben Sierra's two-run homer keyed a four-run eighth inning as Texas rallied to beat Detroit.

The Rangers trailed 3-1 when Oddibe McDowell, leading off the eighth, reached on an error by Detroit first baseman Dave Bergman and scored on Sierra's 27th home run, a shot into the left field seats on a 2-1 pitch from Jack Morris, 15-7.

Pete Incaviglia followed with a single and scored on a go-ahead double to the center field fence by Pete O'Brien. O'Brien moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Larry Parrish.

Mariners 10, Yankees 4

■ NEW YORK — Alvin Davis hit a grand slam and Mickey Brantley homered and drove in four runs as Seattle beat New York.

Davis hit his fourth career slam in the sixth inning against reliever Charles Hudson, breaking a 3-3 tie. Brantley, who had a two-run double in the fourth, homered in the seventh off Hudson, 9-4, and added an RBI single in the eighth.

Cubs 6, Reds 5 (10)

CINCINNATI — Ryne Sandberg's run-scoring single with two outs in the 10th inning scored Bob Dernier from second base as Chicago handed its season-high seventh-straight loss.

Dernier singled to right and stole second. After Manny Trillo walked, Sandberg singled to right off of John Franco, 7-5.

Lee Smith, 4-7, pitched the final two innings, allowing one run, one hit, three walks and striking out three. Smith had walked Bo Diaz with the bases loaded in the ninth to tie the score, 5-5.

Cardinals 4, Braves 3

■ ST. LOUIS — Tommy Herr hit a pinch single with two outs in the ninth inning to score Ozzie Smith from second base and lift St. Louis to its third straight victory.

Herr, scratched from the starting line-up because of an inflamed foot, hit a 1-2 pitch from Atlanta's Gene Garber, 8-10.

Phillies 8, Padres 1

SAN DIEGO - Mike Schmidt hit his 522nd home run and Don Carman pitched a nine-hitter, snapping Philadelphia's four-game losing streak.

Schmidt's two-run homer, his 27th, capped a fourrun fifth inning and moved him past Willie McCovey and Ted Williams into ninth place on the all-time home run list.

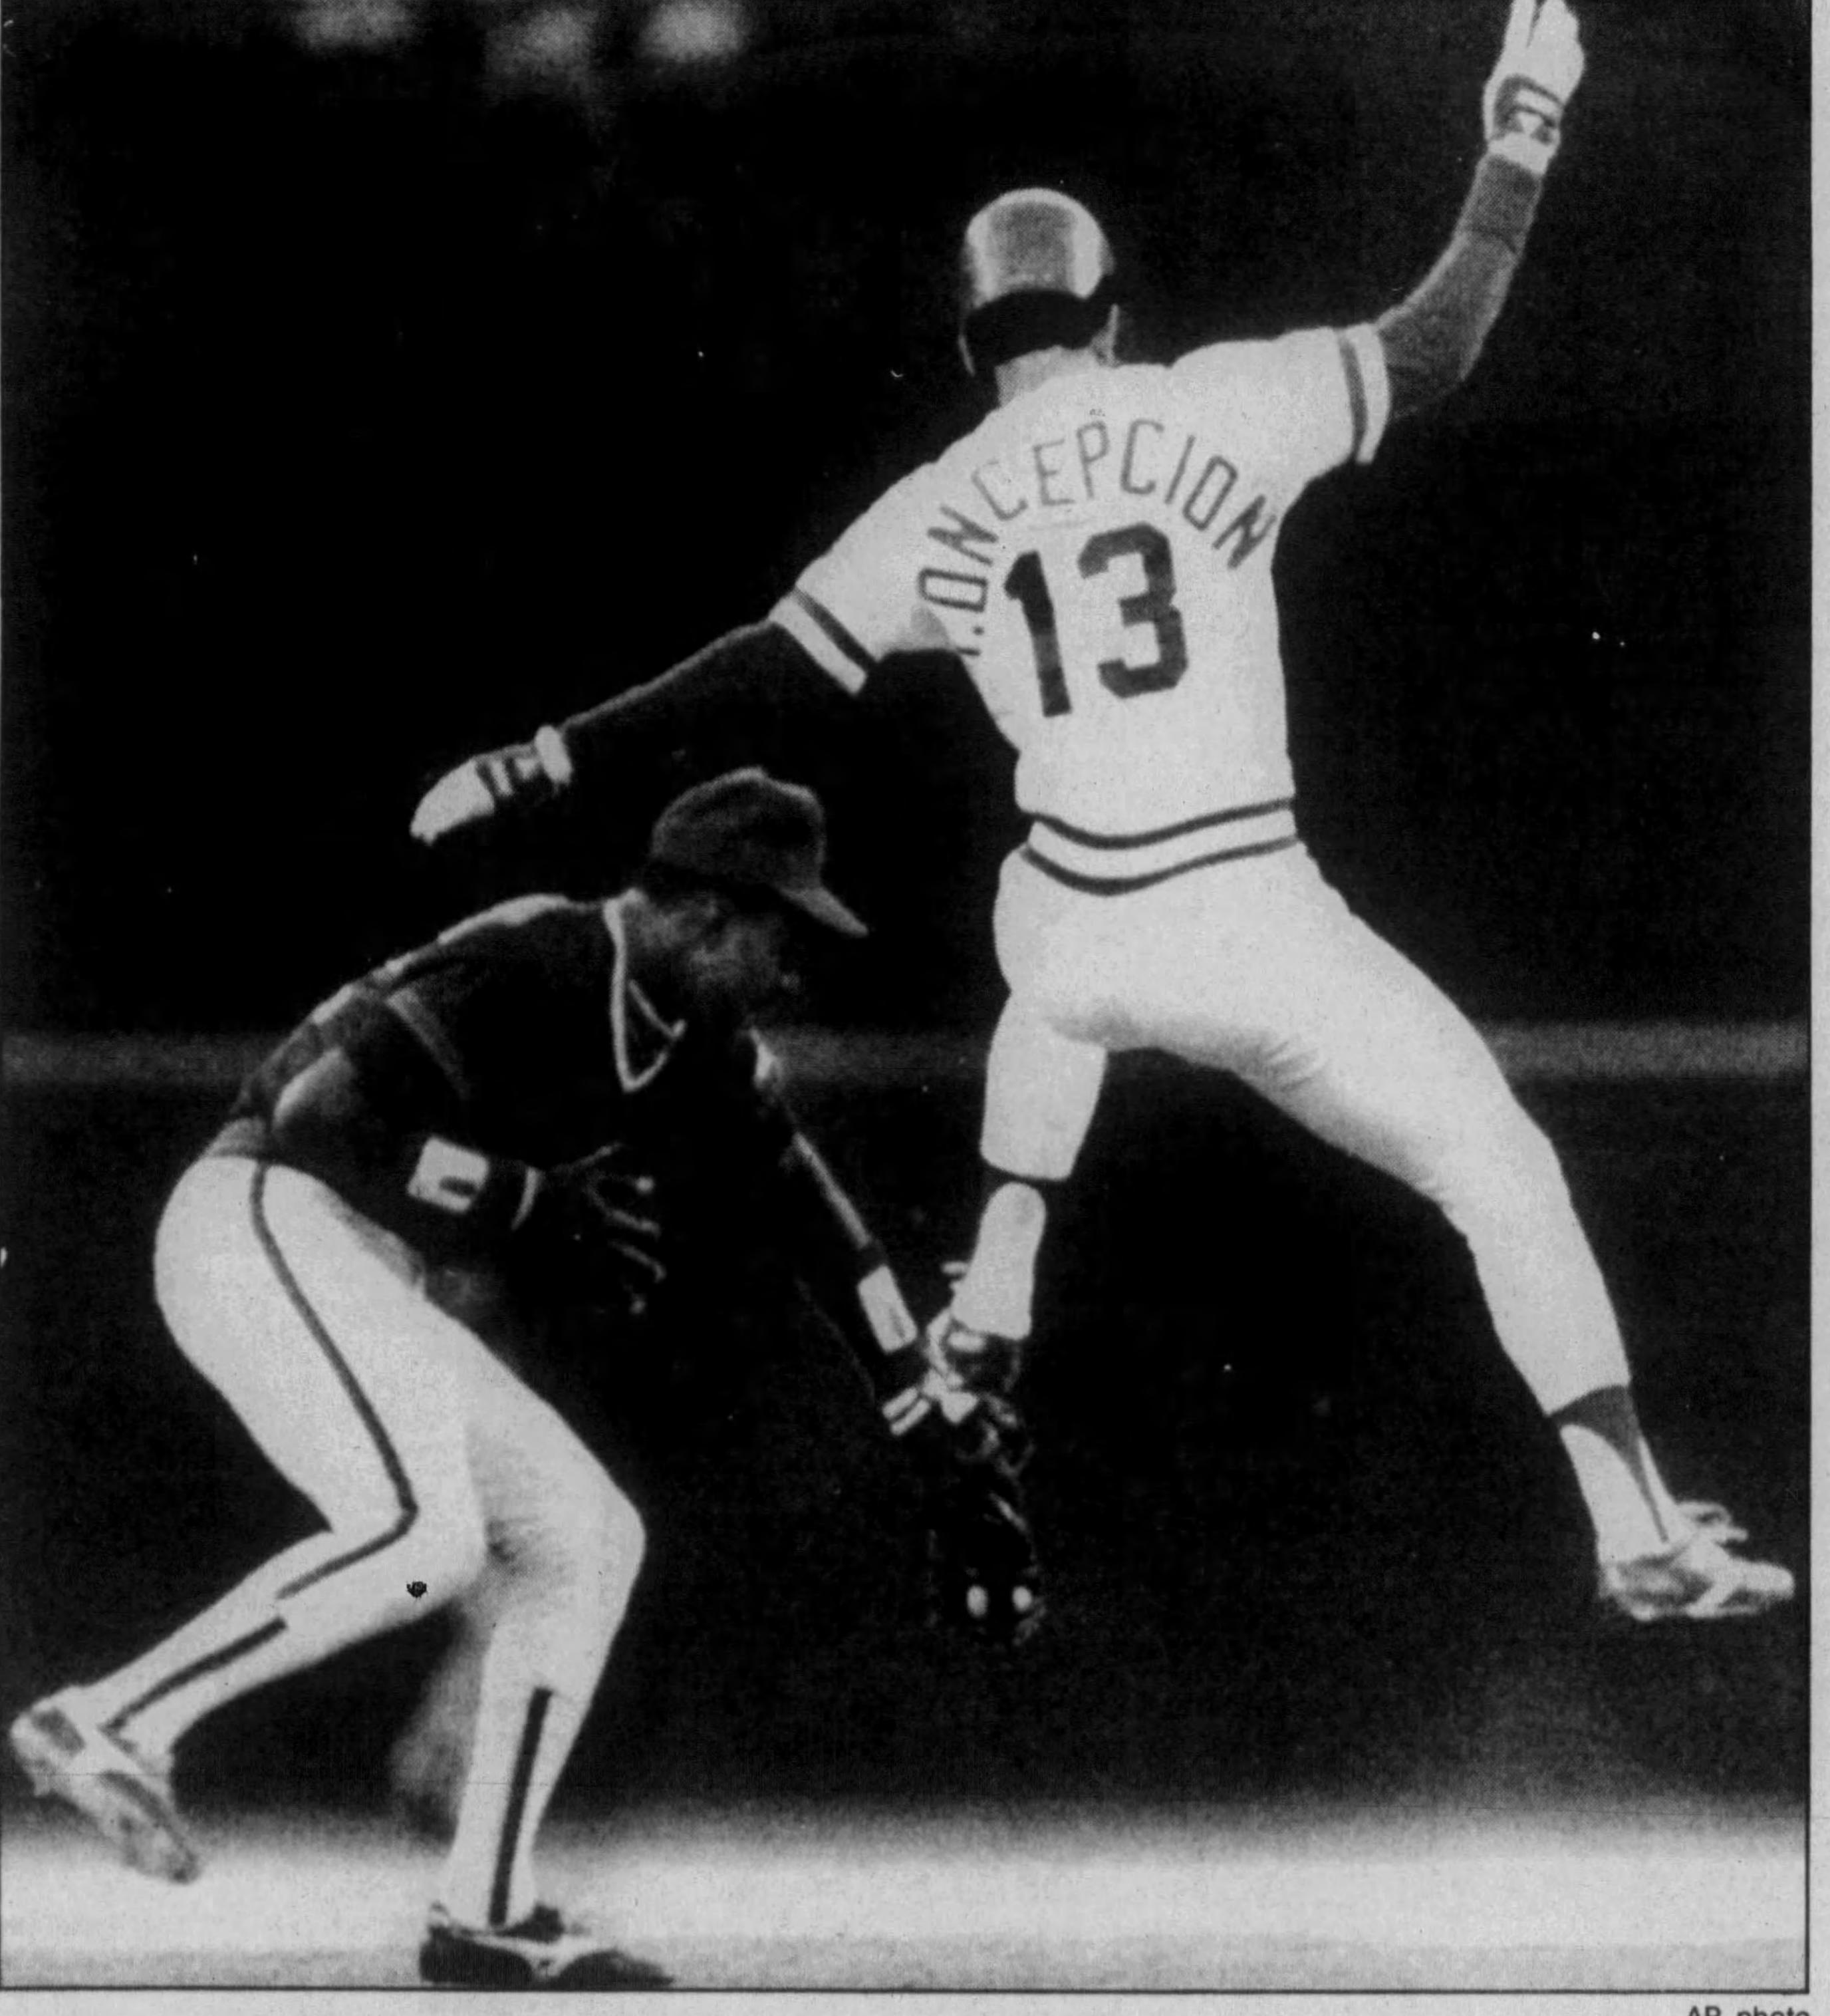

It also was Schmidt's 483rd homer as a third baseman, setting a National League record.

Pirates 4, Astros 2

■ PITTSBURGH — Bob Walk pitched a sevenhitter over 71/3 innings, then hit a seventh-inning RBI single to score the lead run for Pittsburgh.

Mets 4, Giants 0

■ SAN FRANCISCO — Dwight Gooden pitched a four-hitter for his 15th major-league shutout and Howard Johnson hit his 32nd home run, leading New York to a victory over San Francisco.

AP photo

Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion jumps in the air at second base to miss a throw from the outfield taken between his legs by Chicago shortstop Shawon Dunston during the first inning of Friday night's game in Cincinnati. Concepcion had gone to second on a hit by Eric Davis.

Royals keep Wathan perfect, 9-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Kansas City's John Wathan joked Friday that his early success as a major league manager was due to the luck of catching the Royals in a hot streak. "I'd rather be lucky than good," the Cedar Rapids native said after the Royals beat the Chicago White Sox, 9-3, their second straight victory since Wathan took over for the fired Billy Gardner.

Danny Tartabull led a 13-hit Kansas City attack with his league-leading 15th game-winning hit, a two-run homer, and a

"I can't explain why I hit good against we played bad in three weeks." Chicago other than they give me good pitches to hit," said Tartabull, who entered the game with a .350 career batting average against the White Sox.

Charlie Leibrandt, 13-9, gave up three runs and 10 hits in eight innings.

"I had good command of my pitches early then I lost my control late in the game," said Leibrandt, who retired 11 batters in a row during one stretch, but weakened in the late innings.

Reliever Dan Quisenberry retired the side in order in the ninth as Kansas City posted its third straight win.

CHICAGO MANAGER Jim Fregosi said: "This is probably the worst game we've played in a while. It's the first game

With two outs in the first, George Brett singled off Dave LaPoint, 2-2, and Tartabull hit his 23rd homer to put the Royals ahead 2-0.

Willie Wilson's RBI single made it 3-0 in the fourth and Lonnie Smith added another run-scoring single in the fifth.

The Royals turned the game into a rout with four runs in the seventh. Frank White doubled in a pair and Ross Jones and Larry Owen each had RBI singles.

In the bottom of the seventh, Gary Redus singled home Chicago's first run off Leibrandt. The White Sox added two more in the eighth with the help of doubles by Carlton Fisk and Fred Manrique.

The paid attendance of a 13,484 put the Neb., 5-4, in 11 innings in one of two White Sox over the million mark at home for the 10th consecutive year, not counting the 1981 strike-shortened sea-

Edwards blasts baseball's 'plantation system'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Harry Edwards, the baseball commissioner's special consultant to bring minorities into management, said Friday he asked former Los Angeles Dodgers executive Al Campanis to join him because it would be "cruel" and "stupid" to keep him out of baseball.

Edwards, a sports sociologist, delivered a fiery speech blasting the "plantation system" in sports, which he said is a reflection of an "occupational apartheid" in American society.

But he decried any efforts to ostracize people like Campanis, who touched off a controversy when he said on national television that blacks often lacked the "necessities" to be managers or executives in baseball. Campanis was fired for his remarks after 46 years with the Dodgers.

With Campanis in the audience, Edwards said his statement "represents the conscious or unconscious sentiments of literally millions of Americans. "We cannot demand open and honest dialogue about race and racism in this society and then bureaucratically lynch and socially ostracize those who say things openly and honestly about which we disagree," he said.

Edwards, addressing the Commonwealth Club of California in a speech broadcast live locally on public radio and scheduled for rebroadcast around the country, said it would be "a tremendous waste" to keep a man with Campanis' experience out of the game if he is willing to work toward resolving the problem.

"To slam the door in his face, that is not only cruel, it is stupid," Edwards said. "I look forward to the day when Mr. Campanis can go back on 'Nightline' and say with just as much honesty, 'Not only have I met many black people who have all of the necessities, but I have helped many of them to get jobs in major-league baseball.' That is the way that story should end."

CAMPANIS, WHO has so far met twice with Edwards and former Chicago White Sox General Manager Roland Hemond to plan an affirmative action program for baseball that may start in November, said he is excited about his new role and has no grudge against the Dodgers for firing him.

"I feel that I'll be doing more for human beings," Campanis said. "In time, you will see more of the minorities in executive and managerial positions."

Campanis, 70, said he is writing a book about his career and has just finished the "Nightline" chapter. He said he was nervous and unsure when he was speaking on the ABC-TV show, and his "phraseology was not good."

"I said 'necessities' instead of saying 'the necessary experience.' I mentioned that (minorities) lack bouyancy. I shouldn't have brought that up."

Hemond said he and Campanis are talking with many baseball people to form a list of minority candidates for nonplaying jobs.

Edwards, a professor at the University of California-Berkeley, said generations of both blacks and whites have accepted a kind of "occupational apartheid" in which certain jobs, especially positions of authority, were dominated by

He said "the first principle of sports sociology," a field he pioneered, is that problems in sports reflect the same problems in society.

Tele drops pair in own tournament

The inaugural Teleconnect Classic was anything but classic for the International Softball Congress World men's fast-pitch champions Friday night at Ellis Park.

Teleconnect, 59-14, lost to Collins of Cedar Rapids, 2-1, and Penn Corp of Sioux City, 4-2. Penn Corp blanked Agri-Pro of Ames, 5-0, in the night's only other game.

The losses snap Tele's 12-game winning streak, which included championships at the ISC World and Amateur Softball Association State meets.

In the first game, Collins got a 12strikeout, three-hitter from Al Rausch, who didn't allow a walk.

Collins grabbed a 2-0 lead after Dick Mahacek singled, moved to second on a passed ball, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a Jack Minder single. Ben Garcia, who had walked and moved to second on the wild pitch, came home on Denver Dixon's sacrifice fly.

Jody Hennigar, 25-5, allowed five hits and struck out six in a losing effort. Mike Tranel singled in Tele's only run in the fourth.

Penn Corp, 77-17-2, held a 1-0 lead over Tele before erupting for three runs in the top of the sixth. Brad Dodge tripled and scored on Marty Kernaghan's single. Kernaghan scored on an error and Mark Sorenson, who had doubled, came home on a Steve Zediker single.

Kevin Hartwig smacked a two-run homer in the top of the seventh for Tele's only runs.

Steve Schultz, 14-4, allowed six hits, fanned 14 and walked seven for the win. Jerry Schleim, 3-2, took the loss, allowing seven hits.

In Penn Corp's win over Ames, Pete Sandman, 25-4, hurled an 11strikeout, three-hitter and Dodge had two hits and two RBI.

Play resumes today at 10:15 a.m. with Agri-Pro taking on Collins. Penn Corp meets Collins at noon, and Teleconnect and Agri-Pro complete the round-robin schedule at 1:45 p.m. Playoffs begin at 3:30 p.m. and finals are slated for 7 p.m.

W. Dubuque romps in Legion tourney

FARGO, N.D. - Wayne Ruden homered, doubled twice and singled to drive in four runs as Western Dubuque County defeated Rapid City, S.D., 15-9, Friday in the losers' bracket semifinal of the American Legion regional baseball tournament at Jack Williams Stadium.

Quincy, Ill., eliminated Papillion, winners' bracket games Friday night. Fargo, N.D., beat Springfield, Mo., 7-3, in the other semi.

The lowa contingent, 21-6, faces Springfield this afternoon at 2:05. Ken Wedewer scored five runs as Western Dubuque bombarded Rapid City's five pitchers with 16 hits. Mark Kramer got the win in relief, striking out the side in the fifth inning. Tom Wegman tossed a two-hitter and the Iowa team scored three runs in the eighth inning and two in the ninth to beat St. Louis Park, Minn., 7-2, in a losers' bracket game Thursday.

Closed-circuit for ISU-Tulane contest

Iowa State's football game against Tulane Sept. 12 will be shown on closed-circuit TV in Lecture Room 234 at Kirkwood Community Col-The National Cyclone Club and

WOI-TV in Ames are broadcasting the game to Cyclone Clubs around the state, with kickoff from the Superdome in New Orleans at 7:30. The cost at Kirkwood for the large-screen viewing is $3 per person. Seating is limited, and will be first-come, first-served. There will be no advance ticket sales or reservations. The game will not be shown on commercial TV. Free parking is available.

Gladman welcome back — but he many not want to return money from the agents' New Yorkbecause he had signed with an PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charles Gladman, given a week by the NFL to seek reinstatement at the University of Pittsburgh, has given no indication he wants to return to school, Pitt Athletic Director Ed Bozik said Friday.

And even if the former 1,000-yard running back wants to rejoin the Panthers, he might not be academically eligible because he dropped out of summer school, Bozik said.

"We don't know if he wants to appeal (for reinstatement) or not. The ball's in his court . . . but I would say there are a lot of obstacles," Bozik said.

Gladman, who rushed for 1,085 yards in 1985, was stripped of his eligibility by Pitt in June after refusing to cooperate in an investigation of sports agent Norby Walters' association with Pitt players. Although Gladman has denied signing with Walters or his associate, Lloyd Bloom, or receiving man worked out for a Seattle Seahawks scout. GLADMAN PETITIONED the NFL to be included in the supplemental draft held Friday, but the based World Sports and Entertainment, Inc., Walters reportedly was in Akron on Thursday when Glad-league postponed the special draft for Gladman and Ohio State wide receiver Cris Carter for a week so they could seek NCAA reinstate-

But, unlike former Pitt teammate Teryl Austin, whose eligibility was restored conditionally by the NCAA although he admitted taking money from Walters, Gladman still hasn't cooperated with the NCAA or Pitt, Bozik said.

"There is a clear distinction between Charles Gladman and Cris Carter," Bozik said. "Charles Gladman was declared ineligible not agent, although we strongly expect that's true, but because he refused to cooperate with the university and the NCAA enforcement staff. "As a first condition of us appealing for Charles, he would have to be totally forthcoming and totally honest. At that point, we would then review the information and make a decision whether to appeal," he said. As of Friday afternoon, Bozik hadn't heard from Gladman. "There are other problems associated with Charles Gladman's eligibility," Bozik said. "He dropped out of school when we declared him ineligible. Although he has good grades, there are some academic difficulties which also would have to be addressed. So there's a whole range of questions that would have to be answered to our satisfaction and the NCAA's satisfaction."

PITT COACH Mike Gottfried isn't certain whether Gladman should try to rejoin the Panthers.

"It would be difficult to let Charles back on the team because he hasn't admitted breaking the rules," Gottfried said.

Walters told The Pittsburgh Press it might be better for Gladman to turn pro. The NFL plans another supplemental draft Sept. 4 if Carter and Gladman do not return to

"Given the opportunity to earn a living, who wouldn't choose that?" Walters told the paper.

Walters, whose business practices are being investigated by a Chicago-based federal grand jury, called the supplemental draft postponement "ludicrous . . . incredi-

The 5-foot-11, 205-pound Gladman carried 429 times for 2,019 yards and eight touchdowns in three séasons.

