BASKETBALL — Atlanta Hawks center Moses Malone criticized Coach Mike Fratello for his strategy and play-calling during the first round of the NBA playoffs in which the Hawks were eliminated in five games by the Milwaukee Bucks. Malone also defended teammate Dominique Wilkins, claiming suggestions to trade him are misguided. In an interview in Wednesday's editions of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Malone said he knew after 20 games with his new team that the Hawks were in trouble

. . . The University of Kentucky will approach New York Knicks Coach Rick Pitino about the school's head basketball coaching job once the Knicks finish their run in the NBA playoffs, UK Athletics Director C.M. Newton said. The Knicks staved off elimination Tuesday night by defeating the Chicago Bulls 121-114. New York, trailing in best-of-7 Eastern Conference semifinal series 3-2, faces elimination again Friday in Chicago. Newton also said South Florida Coach Lee Rose remains a "viable candidate."

FOOTBALL — Tony Mandarich has Lou Duva as his trainer, has knocked out a punching bag and is ready to take on Mike Tyson . . . for $10 million. But Tom Braatz, director of football operations for the Green Bay Packers, who took the 6-foot-6, 315-pound offensive tackle with the second pick in the NFL draft, says the talk is nothing new, particularly at negotiation time. Duva said his son, Dan, and promoter Shelly Finkel, who will serve as Mandarich's manager, would get in touch with Don King, Tyson's current adviser and matchmaker, to try to set up the bout . . . Gov. Bill Clements, who two years ago publicly apologized for his role in the pay-for-play scandal that cost Southern Methodist University its football program, signed a bill on Wednesday making it a crime to recruit student-athletes with money or gifts. The legislation Clements signed into law makes giving improper payments to a student-athlete a third-degree felony, punishable by two to 10 years in prison and a fine of up to $5,000. A student who solicits or accepts money or gifts in exchange for attending a college and playing intercollegiate sports for it would face misdemeanor charges.

BASEBALL — New York Mets coach Bud Harrelson said Wednesday that he has turned down a chance to interview for the Toronto Blue Jays' managing job. The Blue Jays, who fired Jimy Williams Monday, got permission from the Mets to approach Harrelson. But Harrelson said that he didn't want to pursue the post. "I told Toronto it's nothing against them," Harrelson said. "The timing was just wrong. What bothered me was leaving home and a good situation here." Harrelson, who was the Mets shortstop from 1967-1977, joined New York as a coach in 1985. Toronto general manager Pat Gillick has formed a committee to look for a new manager, and Cito Gaston is serving in an interim capacity. Former New York Yankees manager Lou Piniella is also considered a candidate for the job. Associated Press

Suns venture again into 'never-never land'

PHOENIX (AP) — It's back to never-never land for the Phoenix Suns, who have never beaten Los Angeles in a playoff series and have never won at The Forum in the last 14 visits.

ern Conference finals for the fourth time in the franchise's 21year history by beating the Golden State Warriors in the best-of-7 semifinals. The Suns ended it in Game 5 Tuesday night, 116-104, as Tom

Chambers, Kevin Johnson and rookie Dan Majerle scored 24 points apiece. Next for Phoenix are the Lakers, who are seeking their third straight NBA championship after sweeping Portland and Seattle in the playoffs. The conference championship series opens Saturday at Inglewood, Calif., where Phoenix is 13-67 overall and hasn't won there since May 23, 1984.

said. "Everybody knows the Lakers are supposed to beat us. Nobody expected us to get this Phoenix advanced to the Westfar. That may help us because now we might get a change to be a little more carefree."

"We're going at L.A. all out. We're going to play and work hard — whatever it takes," Chambers said. "The Lakers are world champions. We're not going to go in there thinking we're going for a sweep. We know it'll never happen. But we're not going in there to get run out. As good as they are, we're a good team, too. We just want to go in there and play as hard as we can. If we do, anything is possible."

"We feel we have a good shot at them. We're right where we want to be — with a chance to play the world champions and dethrone them," Kevin Johnson said. "If you get to the Western Conference finals, you want to play the champions. We know we're not "We just have to try and play going to walk in there and knock them over because they're a great team. But we feel confident and we feel we can play, too."

New trial being sought for convicted sports agents

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorneys for convicted sports agents Norby Walters and Lloyd Bloom are seeking a new trial for their clients, contending a federal judge made errors.

In motions filed with U.S. District judge George M. Marovich, the attorneys said he made erroneous rulings concerning evidence and testimony.

Tuesday that Marovich barred them from cross-examining a key prosecution witness about his involvement in several murders. Walters, 58, and Bloom, 29, were convicted last month on charges of racketeering, fraud and conspiracy. They were found guilty of defrauding universities by luring college athletes to sign post-dated professional representation contracts before their eligibility had expired.
