To be in semis. Topseeded Ivan Lendl and Mikael Pernfors reached the semifinals of the Hamlet Challenge Cup by winning quarterfinals Friday on Long Island, N.Y. Lendl beat Jonas Svensson, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1, and Pernfors stopped Robert Seguso, 6-4. 6-4. In night quarterfinals, Aaron Krickstein met Jim Courier, and Andrei Chesnokov played Anders Jarryd. Svensson appeared to have more than an even chance to pull off an upset until he double-faulted twice in the third game of the last set, and lost his service in a 14-point fifth game.

Navratilova wins. Topseeded Martina Navratilova, who failed to hold serve in five straight games, pulled out a 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 quarterfinal victory Friday over unheralded Japanese teen-ager Nana Miyagi at the Player's Challenge championship in Toronto. French Open champion Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, the No. 4 seed, eliminated No. 10 seed Nathalie Tauziat of France, 6-3, 6-2, also advancing to today's semifinal. Navratilova takes on the winner of Friday night's match between No. 15 Sylvia Hanika and unseeded Anne Minter, who upset Chris Evert in the second round. Sanchez Vicario will meet the winner of the match between second-seeded Gabriela Sabatini and No. 5 Jana Novotna in the other semifinal.

Goalie returns. Grant. Fuhr has decided to come out of retirement and rejoin the Edmonton Oilers.

Fuhr, 28, considered one of hockey's top goaltenders, retired in early June, citing dressingroom incidents that left him feeling a "lack of respect."

Oilers' General Manager Glen Sather said he and Fuhr did not discuss those incidents, but did talk about Fuhr's desire to advertise Pepsi on his goalie pads. Sather said Fuhr had been confused about a new rule forcing companies to pay the league for such endorsements.

Spurned team may sue. Hockey star Mikael Lindholm could be banned from play in Sweden and sued if he decides to continue his career with the Los Angeles Kings, it was reported Friday.

Lindholm, 24, was under contract with a Swedish Elite League club. He signed a two-year deal with the Kings after the June 30 deadline for transfers between Sweden and the NHL.

Ben Crenshaw tries to urge his birdie putt into the hole on the 14th green Friday during the second round of the World Series of Golf. He missed the putt and struggled to a 2-over-par 72, but retained the lead

Crenshaw holds on. Ben Crenshaw had a shaky start to his second round Friday at the World Series of Golf, but was able to hold onto the lead in Akron, Ohio. Crenshaw, who made a double bogey-7 from behind a concession stand on the second hole, salvaged a 2-over-par 72 and a two-stroke advantage at 136. Tied for second place were Greg, Norman, Mark Calcavecchia and David Frost. U.S. Open champion Curtis Strange withdrew after nine holes Friday because of a sore neck.

Sheehan charges into lead. Patty Sheehan birdied three of the last four holes to complete a 6-under-par 66 and take the lead halfway through the LPGA World Championship of women's golf Friday at Buford, Ga. Sheehan, winner of 20 events in 10 professional seasons, had a 36-hole score of 136, one shot ahead of Betsy King. King shot 71 Friday.

Charles and Charles lead Charley. Two-time defending champion Bob Charles and Charles Coody each shot 6-under-par 66 Friday to share the first-round lead of the Charley Pride Senior tournament in Albuquerque, N.M. Thirty-five of the 72 players tied or broke par on the 6,686-yard course. Jim Dent and Bobby Nichols were tied at 67.

Eagle fuels Chattanooga leader. Ted Schulz rolled in a 40foot eagle putt on the eighth hole Friday en route to a 7-under-par 63 and a one-stroke lead after two rounds of the Chattanooga Classic in Tennessee. Schulz, who has a two-day total of 129, leads Don Shirey by one stroke. Morris Hatalsky and John Daly are tied at 131. Three of the four Iowans competing were tied at 135. Greg Ladehoff of Clinton shot 66 Friday for his 135, while Dave Rummells, formerly of West Branch, and Clark Burroughs, formerly of Waterloo, each shot 68 to go with a firstround 67. Mike Bender of Cedar Falls shot 67 Friday for a 137.

AROUND IOWA

Academic overseer. Acting on the recommendation of a committee investigating how the school reconciles academics and athletics, the University of Iowa has added an overseer for athletes' academic counseling. T. Anne Cleary, who has been at the school for 10 years, will be acting assistant vice president for academic affairs. Athletes will submit their academic schedules to Cleary for approval, as well as any changes made during semesters. Cleary also will monitor how well athletes are progressing toward graduation and review their four-semester academic plans. In the wake of publicity from the racketeering trial of sports agents Norby Walters and Lloyd Bloom, the panel had recommended that greater attention be given to details of each athlete's academic program. Testimony during the trial questioned the academic progress of football players Ronnie Harmon and Devon Mitchell, who remained eligible for varsity sports by taking courses such as bowling and billiards. The panel said athletes' academic advisers were sometimes lax in doing their jobs because of pressures of time and, occasionally, lack of interest.

Pedaling on. Des Moines bicyclist Robert Breedlove traveled through the mountains of West Virginia on Friday, continuing his attempt to break the record for a two-way transcontinental ride. Lon Haldeman set the record of 27 days in 1983. Breedlove, 37, started his odyssey from St. Louis on Aug. 5, and is expected to finish late today or early Sunday. That would knock as many as six days off the record. Breedlove recently finished third in the Race Across America, which started in Los Angeles and ended in New York. He began in St. Louis and continued west to Los Angeles for the start of the Race Across America. During that race. Breedlove subsisted on two to three hours sleep a night and on a strictly liquid diet. Maybe the pressure's off now: He's sleeping as many as six hours a night now, and supplementing his daily ultra-energy drink with solid foods.

Wrestling for country. Brad Penrith is set to compete with the U.S. wrestling team in the world freestyle championships at Martigny, Switzerland, next weekend. Penrith, 24, of Iowa City, a former NCAA champion for the University of Iowa, defeated Rob Calabrese of Media, Pa., 5-3 and 12-2, in the finals of the U.S. Olympic Festival to qualify for the spot at 1251/2 pounds. It's his first time on the team.

Mid-Am golf opens. One hundred nineteen golfers tee it up today at the University of Iowa's Finkbine golf course in Iowa City for the first round of the Mid-Amateur Championship. The tournament concludes with a second round on Sunday.
